MIAMI REFUSES AMERICA FIRST SITE FOR RALLY

Antiwar Committee Called Subversive.

Chicago Leader Protests

R. Douglas Stuart Jr., national director of the America First committee, with headquarters in Chicago, sent telegrams yesterday to City Manager L. L. Lee and County Commissioner N. P. Lowrey at Miami, Fla., protesting their action in refusing the committee's Miami chapter a meeting place for a rally.

"The Dade county and Miami officials apparently do not know that the constitution guarantees the right of free speech," Stuart said. "Also, if the America First committee is 'subversive' because it is opposed to entering the European war, then more than 80 per cent of all Americans are subversive.

"I suspect the Miami officials are playing the lowest kind of politics in order to curry favor with Washington. When they, in effect, seek to place a curb on free speech, they themselves become disciples of Adolf Hitler and become a subversive element."

Miami, Fla., May 2 [Special].—An America First rally scheduled to be held here tonight was blocked today by the refusal of city and county authorities to grant the antiwar group the use of public meeting places. Miami thus became the first city in the country to deny the patriotic organization the right to meet on public property.

The refusals were accompanied by the allegation that the committee is a subversive organization because the views of its members on American entry into the European war are contrary to those of the New Deal administration.

Bayfront Park Sought.

The principal meeting place sought by the America First committee was Bayfront park, Miami's largest and most popular public gathering site. It often has been the scene of such assorted events as bathing beauty contests, political rallies, public forums, and about six weeks ago a speech by Movie Actor Douglas Fairbanks Jr. in behalf of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies.

In denying the America First committee the same use of the park accorded the war interventionists, City Manager L. L. Lee contended that the park must be held for the use of politicians running for office in the forthcoming city election.

Pepper's Home State.

Florida is the home state of Senator Claude Pepper, outstanding advocate of American entry into the war on the side of Great Britain and a "purge" of every one who disagrees with the interventionists.

Efforts to find a meeting place for the American First rally were made by Capt. T. B. McCoun, a world war veteran who is chairman of the group's Miami chapter.

He first asked for the use of a room in the Dade county courthouse, in which civic groups previously have been permitted to hold public meetings. The county commission unanimously refused this request after County Commissioner N. P. Lowrey termed the America First committee "subversive."

Officials Tell Stand.

"Due to the criticism in the press and by the radio of the national organization," Lowrey said, "it was considered that they are, at the present time, considered as a subversive element."

"Regardless of whether we like the New Deal or not," added County Commissioner C. H. Crandon, "we should not encourage organizations that are fighting national policy."

The city commission nodded approval of the "subversive" charge and Mayor Alexander Orr Jr. and City Commissioner Fred Hosea applauded Lowrey.

ARAB ARTILLERY SHELLS TROOPS; OIL BIG STAKE

London Says Hitler Inspired Conflict.

LONDON, May 2 (AP).—The premier of Iraq tonight was reported to have sent an urgent appeal to Berlin for military help after a day long battle with the British garrison at Habbaniyah air base—a battle which raged into the night.

Rashid Ali Al Gailani. [AP Wirephoto.]

British pronouncements said the Iraq force, which had been massed about the air base, began to shell British cantonments at dawn on orders from Premier Rashid Ali Al Gailani, who seized power April 4 in a coup d'état. This coup was clearly axis inspired, the British said.

The attack began after the British had ignored an ultimatum demanding they cease troop movements and plane flights. Immediately the British took "the necessary counteraction."

New Plea for Aid.

Shortly before midnight a reliable British source said the Iraq premier had sent out a new and more urgent call to Berlin for assistance, following up an earlier appeal.

By what route and to what extent Germany would be able to help the Iraq premier was not clear. Iraq has an army of only 28,000 men.

From meager reports available here it appeared that British women and children, removed from Bagdad under Iraq promises of safe conduct, were in the Habbaniyah air base and therefore under fire.

Patently this situation was extremely grave in itself. It created an unexpected threat to the vast oil fields of Iraq which feed the British fleet and middle eastern armies. It also gave Germany the prospect of a new grip for the great military pincers she is trying to close on Suez from both east and west.

Charges Nazis Inspired Attack.

London called the Iraq attack German inspired.

To match this, the German short wave radio was dinning out reports that the Iraqis had risen in arms against the British in what, it was implied, was the start of a Moslem holy war.

All this came swiftly to a head yesterday when it became known that the Iraq government, which seemed to have acquiesced in the landing of British troops in Iraq in the middle of last month, had balked at additional landings and had massed troops in considerable strength about the Habbaniyah air base.

The size and disposition of the British forces landed at Basra were not disclosed, but presumably some of

TWO BRITISH ENVOYS ROOSEVELT'S GUESTS AT TROUT LUNCHEON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 2.—Before leaving the White House early this afternoon for a week-end visit to Virginia, President Roosevelt entertained Lord Halifax, the British ambassador, and Malcolm MacDonald, Canadian high commissioner, at lunch.

The two officials were brought into the President's office thru the White House proper instead of the entrance to the executive offices where newspaper men stand on guard. They were not scheduled as luncheon guests.

It was not until the two officials had been seen to enter the White House that the staff acknowledged the luncheon engagement. It was said that the failure to put the British ambassador and Canadian high commissioner on the official calling list was due to an oversight.

The luncheon was described as informal, with trout as the main course. It followed an unscheduled visit of the British ambassador to Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles for a discussion of the situation in Iraq.

W-G-N TO BROADCAST EVENT.

Jack Brickhouse will describe today's Tribune kite contest over W-G-N from 11 to 11:15 a. m. The W-G-N mobile unit will be there.

Five thousand air-minded Chicagoans will gather in Grant park at 10 a. m. today to witness the championship round of the biggest tournament ever held in a sport that was popular when Icarus and Daedalus, the first aeronauts, were written into mythology. The crowd will see the finals of the third annual Chicago Tribune Kite contest, which will determine Chicagoland's seven kite flying champions for 1941.

The scene of the competition will be the 26 acre parking area south of Soldiers' field, bounded by 16th street, Columbus drive, and Leif Eriksen drive. Five hundred contestants of both sexes and all ages will compete for seven silver trophies. They were chosen from 9,000 competitors in 88 neighborhood park contests last month.

Winners will receive prizes in the following events: Artistic kites, novelty kites, handwinding contest, mechanical winding contest, solo box kites, messenger sending contest, and pulling power contest. The Chicago Park district, which conducts the contest, will award ribbons to 33 runners-up. Fabian E. Kardes is directing the event.

LEGION DEMANDS RESIGNATION OF MADAM PERKINS

Indianapolis, Ind., May 2 (AP).—The American Legion's national executive committee adopted a resolution today calling for the resignation of Frances Perkins as secretary of labor.

"It is becoming increasingly obvious that there is a growing lack of confidence on the part of the American people in the ability of the present secretary of labor fully to exercise the high responsibilities of that office," the resolution said.

"It appears that as long as the present secretary is in office there will continue to be trouble in defense industries. The cause of national unity in national defense will be best served by the tendering and acceptance of the resignation of the present secretary of labor."

Rush Medical School Plans to Join U. of I.

The board of trustees of Rush Medical college has asked Attorney General George F. Barrett to prepare a court petition for dissolution of the school's ties with the University of Chicago in preparation for a merger of its educational elements with the University of Illinois college of medicine, it was learned yesterday.

Proposals submitted to the attorney general by the board are the result of several years of negotiations between the trustees, the board of the Presbyterian hospital and representatives of the medical and fiscal divisions of the two universities. Presbyterian hospital is involved because it now is the teaching hospital for Rush Medical college and members of its staff are all instructors at the college.

Board's Plan of Action.

The Rush board's plan of action has the approval of all these groups, and represents a friendly settlement of the school's problems. Legal experts of the attorney general's office are studying the proposals and it is expected that a petition asking the approval of the Superior court will be filed soon.

The plan is as follows: [1] Severing of affiliation with the University of Chicago which has been continuous since 1924; [2] abolition of Rush Medical college as an educational institution but retention of the Rush board to administer the physical properties of the college at 1758 Harrison street.

Subdivisions of this main plan call for the absorption of all Rush medical instructors into the University of Illinois college of medicine and affiliation of the Presbyterian hospital with the state university's medical department. At this time the state university has no "teaching hospital" for clinical training of its students and it is anxious to acquire one.

Save Name of Rush.

The ancient and honorable name of Rush is not to be lost, according to the present plan. The Rush instructors will be known as Rush professors of the University of Illinois college of medicine. The Rush Medical college buildings will be leased to the hospital for expansion purposes and possibly as instruction rooms for University of Illinois medical students.

At this time there are approximately 200 undergraduates in Rush college, 100 in the junior, and 100 in the senior class. The school offers courses for the last two years only. The University of Chicago has agreed, according to the program, to graduate the junior class but no more students will be accepted by Rush and the 1942 class will be its last. There will be no graduate school at Rush as once was planned.

The Central Free dispensary which is operated in coöperation with Rush Medical college will be taken over as an outpatient hospital consolidated with a Presbyterian hospital. It is hoped that the dispensary and the hospital can have identical boards of trustees.

2 OFFICERS OF DRAFT BOARD SEIZED FOR BRIBERY CONSPIRACY

The head of draft board 110 and its examining physician were in the county jail last night under bond of $5,000 each for allegedly offering to defer a draftee upon payment of a bribe. Those held are Attorney Joseph W. Nosek, 2119 South Ashland avenue, and Dr. J. P. Gardzielewski, 1800 South Ashland avenue. The two were immediately suspended by Col. Louis A. Boening, in charge of Cook county selective service. The board's records were ordered seized.

The arrests followed payment of $35 to Nosek yesterday by Walter Leopold Kukovec, 26 years old, 428 South Halsted street, a laborer, who was coöperating with Edward J. Ryan, assistant United States attorney, and William A. Devereaux, in charge of the local office of the federal bureau of investigation. Kukovec told them that when he asked Dr. Gardzielewski Thursday after his physical examination if he might be deferred the physician said it might be arranged, and sent him to Nosek, who offered to defer him for $35.

Kukovec gave Nosek $35 in marked money, found on the latter when he was seized by federal agents. Nosek admitted taking the money but said it was for legal services. He is charged with accepting a bribe and Dr. Gardzielewski with conspiracy to accept a bribe. Both pleaded not guilty when arraigned before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker. Their case will be heard Friday.

Carol, Magda Sail for Cuba on U. S. Liner

LISBON, Portugal, May 3, Saturday (AP).—Bound for sanctuary in Cuba, former King Carol of Rumania, Mme. Magda Lupescu and their faithful former palace chamberlain, Ernest Urdareanu, sailed early today on the American Export liner Excambion.

They planned to debark at Bermuda and obtain passage thence to Havana, ending the long line of flight which began on Sept. 6 when the Iron Guard revolution in Rumania sent them hastening first to Switzerland, then to Spain, and finally to Portugal.

Carol and the red haired woman for whose love he once renounced his rights to the throne as a youth, slipped aboard the liner at 1:30 p. m., Friday, wearing dark sun glasses. Mme. Lupescu brought along her four pet dogs.

Carol Is Grateful.

They remained in A-35—the nearest thing to a luxury suite which the Excambion boasts—holding a sort of impromptu court, up to sailing time.

During their long wait, only close friends, including the Cuban chargé d'affaires, Francisco de Arce y Pilon, and his wife, were permitted inside.

Carol sent out by Urdareanu, however, an expression of gratitude to Portugal, the United States, and Cuba.

"I cannot help but feel sad on leaving Europe," Urdareanu quoted his master, "altho I do not feel downhearted. I have been exceedingly well treated while here, and I am sure I shall enjoy my stay in Cuba.

Likes Cuba's Climate.

"The reason I decided on Cuba among several Latin American countries which kindly granted us visas is not only that it is neutral, but it has a first class climate. I still need a rest, and it goes without saying that there will be no political activity on my part while away from my own country."

The Cuban envoy said he understood the British government would supply either a warship or a plane to take Carol from Bermuda to Cuba.

The bulk of the party's luggage—about two railway freight carloads plus a mountain of hand baggage and trunks—was boldly labeled: "His Majesty King Carol. Cuba via New York." Carol himself does not plan to go to New York.

Sails as Count.

It was not as "his majesty" that Carol appeared on the passenger list, however. There he was "Count Vrancea," and Mme. Lupescu was listed as "Madame Helene Lorenz."

In booking his passage for the new world, Carol exercised much the same combination of secrecy and sudden action which he employed in escaping "house arrest" in Seville, Spain, to flee to Portugal by automobile on March 5.

He and Mme. Lupescu had tickets for Friday night to the Berlin Philharmonic orchestra concert here, and only asked for steamer reservations at 10 p. m. Thursday.

It took some shuffling to make room, but the secret was kept until they boarded the Excambion.

PILOTS INDORSE LINDBERGH DRIVE TO AVERT WAR

New York, May 2 [Special].—A poll of more than 100 pilots, co-pilots, and ground employés at the New York Municipal airport today showed that more than 60 per cent of them support Charles A. Lindbergh in his antiwar stand and in resigning from the army air reserve after personal criticism by President Roosevelt.

Only 20 per cent of those queried disapproved Col. Lindbergh's actions, the other 20 per cent refusing to express an opinion.

ANOTHER FACES QUIZ IN 'FIX' FOR ABORTION RING

Policeman Removed from Staff.

BY GEORGE WRIGHT.

Investigation of the "million dollar abortion ring," which in the last 15 days has caused a doctor and his wife to commit suicide and a state's attorney's policeman to kill the alleged ringleader's daughter, produced these startling developments yesterday:

1. State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, dissatisfied with their answers to charges made by Policeman Daniel Moriarity, confessed fixer for the abortion ring, discharged Assistant State's Attorney Emmett Moynihan and caused the suspension of Policeman Daniel J. Kenney, Moriarity's partner. Another member of the staff is under investigation.

2. Moriarity was booked for appearance in Felony court this morning on a charge of murder in the fatal shooting Tuesday of Jennie Martin, 24 years old, daughter of Mrs. Ada Martin, under indictment on a charge of conspiracy to commit abortion. Moriarity, who has made two attempts to end his life, went on a hunger strike in the Bridewell hospital, but ended it shortly before midnight.

3. Courtney disclosed that Moriarity has confessed knowledge of graft paid to quash several abortion cases, and that among the payments was one of $5,000.

4. Capt. Thomas Duffy of Central station, placing the records of arrests in abortion cases before the prosecutor, pointed out one case in which the circumstances indicated a "fix" by an assistant state's attorney. Duffy also asked an investigation of the procedure by which another assistant state's attorney obtained possession of valuable jewelry seized in a raid on Mrs. Martin's office at 190 North State street.

Huge Income of Ring.

Spotlighted by these developments was a sordid traffic in which illegal surgery was dispensed for fees aggregating a huge annual income for members of the abortion ring. The financial scope of this business has been indicated by an income tax report that a woman doctor formerly associated with Mrs. Martin's office paid federal taxes on an income of $88,000 in 1938 and even more in 1939.

Moriarity has admitted that for three years he was on Mrs. Martin's pay roll as fixer at $100 a month, and that a month ago she gave him $3,000 to use in attempting to quash the indictment pending against her.

Moriarity in his confession, says he was distracted by Mrs. Martin's threats to take him to prison with her because he had failed to fix her case, and that he went to her home at 4367 Lake Park avenue with the intention of killing her and ending his own life. He mistook the daughter for Mrs. Martin, and killed her. Moriarity thereupon beat himself on the head with his empty gun, inflicting injuries which caused his removal to Bridewell hospital. His hands are chained to the bed frame.

THE PROSECUTOR ACTS

The dismissal of Moynihan and the suspension of Kenney came after both had been questioned for hours by Courtney, Wilbert F. Crowley, his first assistant, and Capt. Daniel Gilbert, state's attorney's investigator. Moriarity's confession was read to them and they were asked to answer accusations against them. Afterward the prosecutor said:

"In the course of my investigation I found it necessary to discharge Mr. Moynihan. I confronted him with charges made against him and he could not satisfactorily explain them."

Moynihan had been an assistant state's attorney since Jan. 17, 1933, almost from the beginning of Courtney's tenure. He has enjoyed the confidence of the prosecutor to such a degree that when Crowley has been absent from his duties Moynihan has served as acting first assistant state's attorney. There was also a close personal friendship between the prosecutor and his assistant.

Moynihan Denies Charges.

Moynihan was shown Mr. Courtney's statement.

"This comes as a total surprise and shock to me," Moynihan said. "Any charges of wrongdoing or misconduct in office against me are absolutely unfounded and untrue. I denied to Mr. Courtney the truth of any charges made against me, and I vehemently repeat that denial.

"I sincerely regret the termination of such a pleasant relationship as I have enjoyed for the last eight years as a member of Mr. Courtney's staff. I am absolutely innocent of any wrongdoing, and I do not believe that the word of a murderer should be taken against mine."

When the state's attorney had finished questioning Policeman Kenney, 46 years old, of 8247 South Loomis street, the prosecutor called Police Commissioner Allman. Soon afterward Kenney was relieved of his duties by Capt. Gilbert. Kenney had been an officer since 1926, winning two creditable mentions. He teamed with Moriarity when both were assigned to Central station shortly after he came on the department. Capt. Gilbert then was in charge of the station. When Gilbert was called to the position of chief investigator for Courtney late in 1932, he took Moriarity and Kenney to the state's attorney's office with him.

Kenney said of Moriarity's charges, "I never had anything to do with any abortion case. The charges must be the ravings of an insane man."

CAPT. DUFFY'S ACTION

The records submitted to State's Attorney Courtney yesterday by Capt. Duffy dealt with all arrests made during the last three years in connection with alleged abortions in the central police district, in which the loop headquarters of the ring are situated.

The case which Capt. Duffy singled out as indicating a curious laxity by the assistant state's attorney assigned to it referred to a raid Jan. 29, 1940, in which a doctor, a nurse, and four prospective patients were arrested in the office of a woman doctor at 190 North State street.

The police record showed that during that afternoon another physician had telephoned that a woman was seriously ill in a west side hospital as a result of an abortion performed in the North State street office.

All Released That Night.

The six prisoners were turned over to the assistant state's attorney by central police. All except the doctor and nurse were released that night without a written statement having been taken from them. Capt. Duffy pointed out that the assistant state's attorney did not interview the woman in the west side hospital, but contented himself with a telephone call to a doctor at the hospital. [It is said that the police learned independently that the woman's hospital bills were paid by the nurse under arrest and by Mrs. Martin.]

According to the police records, on the following night the assistant state's attorney in charge of the case freed the doctor and nurse without taking written statements from them or placing any charge aginst them. The doctor is reported to have since joined the army medical corps and is on duty away from Chicago.

The arresting policemen in the case were Francis O'Malley, William J. Kearney, Edward Hickey, and Elmer Johnson, all members of the morals squad, who were discharged from the police force by the civil service commission March 26, 1940. They had been accused of participating in a shakedown racket in making arrests for sex offenses.

Cits Another Case.

Capt. Duffy also referred Courtney to records relating to one of the numerous raids on Mrs. Martin's State street office last Aug. 17. The arresting policemen, who took Mrs. Martin and her office receptionist, Mrs. Josephine Kuder, into custody, found envelopes in desk drawers containing 16 rings, 12 watches, and one medal. The jewelry had apparently been left as security by clients who could not pay fees at once.

Capt. Duffy's record shows that Assistant State's Attorney Morris Meyers called Central station the day following the raid and directed that the jewelry be turned over to him.

"The jewelry was sent to Meyers and we have his signed receipt for the articles he received," Capt. Duffy said. "The jewelry was never sent back. The case against Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Kuder was dismissed for want of prosecution after the court upheld a defense plea that there had been police entrapment.

"The point, however, is that Myers had no right to take possession of the jewelry. The proper procedure, set down in regulations, is for the jewelry to be placed with the police custodian for return to the defendants after their release."

Myers for several weeks has been on leave from the state's attorney's office. It is reported that he is ill.

PLANS PROSECUTION

Prosecutor Courtney was studying these and other records with Assistant State's Attorney Samuel Papanek, who is in immediate charge of the investigation of the abortion ring. It was learned that an attempt had been made to reach Papanek in behalf of Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Kuder, who is indicted with her in the present conspiracy case, but that he had rebuffed it at the first hint.

It is reported that with one exception State's Attorney Courtney has interviewed all of the men named by Moriarity in his confession. When the prosecutor has completed an inquiry into the records turned over by Capt. Duffy it is understood that the investigating phase of the probe will be finished.

Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Kuder are scheduled to appear for a hearing this morning before Judge John F. Bolton in the Criminal court, but by arrangement of their attorneys, W. W. Smith and Everett Jennings, the hearing will be continued because of the funeral of Mrs. Martin's daughter. Services will be held at 10 a. m. in St. Ambrose's church, 47th street and Ellis avenue.

As soon as the funeral is over, Courtney indicated, Mrs. Martin will be questioned anew. Her only comment so far on Moriarty's charges was, "He must be out of his mind."

Charges Dismissed by Green.

The hearing before Judge Bolton was to be on a plea for abatement on the ground that Judge Thomas A. Green had dismissed charges against Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Kuder prior to their indictment, suppressing the evidence because the raid on Mrs. Martin's office was not made with a search warrant.

Judge Green at that time also ordered voluminous records seized in Mrs. Martin's hideaway office at 127 North Dearborn street returned to her. The government, however, has seized these records to check income tax returns made by Mrs. Martin and her associates. The records list many prominent physicians, as well as nurses and druggists, who received commissions for sending women seeking illegal surgical attention to the ring.

Judge Green retained all the abortion cases under his jurisdiction with the exception of that involving Dr. Henry J. Millstone and his wife, Emily Ranus Millstone, 30, both of whom faced charges in Felony court of conspiracy to commit abortion. Dr. Millstone ended his life April 17 by swallowing an overdose of sleeping potion and his wife committed suicide with poison last Wednesday.

Appeared in Another Case.

The judge said that the Millstones, prior to their marriage, had appeared before him in another case, and that he did not think it proper for him to hear the conspiracy charge.

The murder complaint against Moriarity was signed by Sergt. William Ryan of Hyde Park station after James J. Burke, attorney for Moriarity, had sought his release on a writ of habeas corpus before Acting Chief Justice Julius Miner of the Criminal court. Attorney William Scott Stewart, also retained to represent Moriarity, attempted to interview Moriarity in the Bridewell hospital, but could not do so because the slayer had gone on a hunger strike and was too weak to talk.

Judge Justin McCarthy in Felony court set Moriarity's arraignment for this morning, but in view of the prisoner's condition, it is doubtful if he will appear. Dr. Andrew Toman, superintendent of the Bridewell hospital ordered intravenous glucose and saline injections after Moriarty refused to eat.

CLEARS LAWYER OF MISCONDUCT IN JOSLYN CASE

Master Reduces Fees for Thomas Hart Fisher.

Master in Chancery John J. Kelly, after four months in hearing and another in scrutinizing more than 2,000,000 words of testimony, yesterday found Attorney Thomas Hart Fisher guiltless of immoral conduct with Mrs. Charlotte C. Joslyn.

He held, however, that $7,504 instead of Fisher's requested $24,191 is a "fair and resonable" fee for representing Mrs. Joslyn in her tumultuous divorce action last summer against George R. Joslyn, son of a wealthy manufacturer of electrical appliances.

Fisher filed his petition for fees—based on $19,770 for 1,318 hours of work at $15 an hour, $3,691 for expenses, and $730 for cash disbursements—in November. Joslyn's attorney, Alvin C. Hubbard, countered with a bristling answer which contended Fisher was not entitled to any fees because he and Mrs. Joslyn had exceeded the bounds of a routine lawyer-client relationship.

23 Hearings Conducted.

Then the hectic hearings before Master Kelly were begun and continued thru 23 separate sessions, each averaging five hours. At the first one Master Kelly advised Hubbard of the seriousness of the charge against Fisher and warned of possible penalties if the accusation was not proved by adequate evidence. Yesterday Kelly said that he would not recommend any punishment for Hubbard.

In Master Kelly's offices at 135 South La Salle street yesterday, only Hubbard and Attorney Norman Crawford, cocounsel with Harold M. Keele in Fisher's behalf, appeared to hear the ruling. They chatted affably until Master Kelly cleared his throat and adjusted his spectacles.

After reviewing a few of the duller facts in the litigation, Master Kelly emphasized that Hubbard's charge of immorality was based chiefly on the testimony of Edward and Catharine Richards, butler and maid in the Joslyn home in Lake Bluff. Both testified, he read, that they had seen Fisher in the home several times in the early part of 1938.

Refuted by Several Witnesses.

The master then noted that such testimony had been refuted by Dolcie Meier, former nursemaid for the Joslyns; Miss Marie Endrezzi, secretary to Fisher, who had produced records showing that Fisher was either in court or in the Field building library on the occasions cited by the Richardses; and Mrs. Joslyn, who had pounded on the glass topped walnut table, and Fisher, who had glared, in denying any misconduct.

Master Kelly then swung into his findings, asserting that he "does not think this evidence is sufficient to find Fisher guilty of so grave a charge on such little evidence."

A copy of the findings was sent to Judge John Lewe, who presided at the divorce action and had referred the matter of fees to Master Kelly.

UPHOLDS CHARGE STRIKE LEADER'S WIFE IS A RED

Madison, Wis., May 2 [Special].—Wisconsin's "little Dies committee," a recent legislative creation, announced today it had substantiated testimony that Mrs. Harold Christoffel, wife of the CIO leader in the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company strike, was an active communist worker under the name of Ann Stewart.

Mrs. Harold Christoffel.

Arnie Betts, former secretary to Lieut. Gov. Walter S. Goodland and now a newspaper man at Columbus, Wis., told the committee Mrs. Christoffel distributed communist literature and associated with a leftist group at a Methodist young people's conference at Boulder, Colo., last summer. Betts was said to have fully supported testimony recently given the committee by Kenneth Goff of Delavan, a former communist.

A copy of Betts' testimony was mailed to Representative Robert F. Jones [R., O.], who asked the Wisconsin committee for a report on the woman. Jones is sponsoring a bill to appropriate $100,000 to rid federal pay rolls of communists. Mrs. Christoffel is an employé of the United States forestry service at Milwaukee.

JUDGE CONVICTS 3 IN PHILADELPHIA LABOR SHOOTING

Philadelphia, Pa., May 2 (AP).—Three men who waived a jury trial were convicted by Judge Harry S. McDevitt today in the wounding of Julian Scholly, 33 years old, key figure in an internal labor union dispute.

Judge McDevitt returned guilty verdicts against Edward [Blackie] Day, an ex-convict, formerly of Chicago, and William Di Salvatore, 26, on charges of assault and battery, aggravated assault and battery, assault and battery with intent to kill and conspiracy. Flori Leoni, 47, was convicted of conspiracy. The trio's first trial ended in a jury disagreement.

Francis Murphy, who pleaded guilty to the shooting, testified that Day had given him the gun and promised him $500 if he "did a good job." Day denied this. Scholly testified from a hospital stretcher that he was shot when he was called from his home by men in a car to discuss affairs of local 13, Boilermakers' International union [AFL].

Judge McDevitt deferred sentence until May 9.

INDICT 2 FLYERS IN BEHEADING OF WOMAN BY PLANE

Bay Minette, Ala., May 2 [Special].—The Baldwin county grand jury today indicted two naval flyers for manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Robert Phillips, 35 years old, mother of four children, who was beheaded by their plane as it swooped low over a turnip field near Robertsdale, Ala., on March 25.

The aviators are Ensigns Paul C. Brown, 22, of Chicago, and Joseph C. Thompson, 23 of Healdsburg, Cal., who recently won commissions at the naval air training station at Pensacola, Fla. They are in custody of naval authorities at the training station.

Witnesses to the tragedy said the plane dived low over the turnip field in an apparent effort to frighten Mrs. Phillips and other workers. Altho the navy department is reported to have ordered the flyers court martialed, they may be turned over to Alabama authorities on the civil indictment, a customary procedure in cases involving persons outside the military service.

Voter Swears He's Citizen; Held on Perjury Charge

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday held Cecil B. Dunn, 36 years old, 4146 Wellington avenue, to the grand jury in $1,000 bond on a charge of perjury. Dunn is accused of swearing he was a citizen when he registered to vote a year ago, whereas it is charged that he came here from his birthplace in Nova Scotia 20 years ago and was never naturalized.

URGE ROOSEVELT TELL PEOPLE OF PERIL TO NATION

Legion Chiefs Want Clear Picture of Emergency.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 2 [Special].—A demand that President Roosevelt give a full report showing the complete picture of the national emergency facing the United States was made today by the national executive committee of the American Legion at its headquarters here.

The call for such a report was the most explicit of a series of resolutions passed by the committee. The resolution pointed out that high government officials repeatedly have termed totalitarian aggression an immediate and grave threat to the safety of the United States.

Do Not Understand Situation.

"The people of the United States," it said, "not being fully informed of the true facts, do not understand or appreciate the dangers of which the President and his officers speak, nor do they fully comprehend the full extent of this emergency which threatens the safety of the United States and its people."

The Legion's national Americanism commission reported to the committee that it would press an analysis of school textbooks to eliminate un-American teachings.

"An appraisal of many textbooks already has been issued at the request of the public," the commission reported. "Numerous textbook abstracts have been requested and are being made. Analysis will be continued indefinitely to the end that all un-American teachings are elmiinated from the schools of the country."

Hits Subversive Elements.

Legislation prohibiting strikes and lockouts was demanded in another resolution by the executive committee. It urged the coöperation of organized labor, citizens and governmental authorities in avoiding strikes that would impede the national rearmament program and warned that vigilance should be exercised in forbidding subversive elements access to industries engaged in military work.

Virtual approval of United States convoys was given in a resolution which termed the delivery of war material, food and medical supplies practical and necessary inasmuch as the lease-lend bill authorized the President to give almost unlimited aid to Great Britain.

Rancher Is Found Guilty of Draft Center Murder

Ord, Neb., May 2 (AP).—A jury today found John Birkes, Nebraska sand hills rancher, guilty of first degree murder in the slaying of Sheriff George Brock at a Valleyview draft registration center last Oct. 16, and recommended life imprisonment.

NAMING HOPKINS TO LEASE-LEND JOB HIT BY TAFT

Choice of Henderson Also Denounced.

Springfield, O., May 2 (AP).—Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.] criticized tonight appointment of Harry Hopkins and Leon Henderson to key posts in the armament program and charged that President Roosevelt's recent moves were a "substantial step toward that government by executive order which now exists in Germany and Italy."

In an address before the Ohio Federation of Republican Women, Taft also said confusion existed among various defense bureaus and contended that the administration was attempting to use the war crisis "as a basis for usurping powers congress has never been willing to give by law, to regulate everything and everybody."

Incompetence Charged.

Discussing appointment of Hopkins, former relief administrator, to direct the lease-lend program, Taft said:

"Any administration which takes away the administration of the 7 billion dollar lease-lend program from William S. Knudsen and gives it to Harry Hopkins brands itself as completely incompetent and inefficient."

Taft questioned the legal authority for appointment of Henderson, administration economist, as head of the Office of Price Administration.

No Limit to Power.

"If the President can create an office, appoint one of his henchmen without confirmation by the senate, and authorize him to fix prices without any statutory authority, there is absolutely no limit to executive power in the United States," he said.

He urged creation of a "war resources administration with a single head, as recommended for years in the official mobilization plan."

TELEVISION SALE OF ITS PROGRAMS APPROVED BY FCC

Commercial Broadcasting to Start July 1.

Washington, D. C., May 2 (AP).—The Federal Communications commission told the television industry today that after July 1 it could follow the precedent of radio and sell its broadcasts to sponsors.

In granting the authorization for commercial broadcasts the commission said the industry is "entirely in agreement that television is ready for standardization." That, it was explained, means that a set built to the standards would receive any of the pictures broadcast by transmitters also built to national standards—instead of being "keyed" to only one station or group of stations.

Earlier Approval Canceled.

The commission originally authorized limited commercial operation of television stations to begin Sept. 1, 1940. It set that date aside, however, and ordered new hearings.

To have approved commercialization then, the commission said today, would have been at a time when the "industry was sharply divided" on the question of standards. "Any attempt to have done so would have frozen the state of the art to the then unsatisfactory level of performance," the commission commented.

The National Association of Broadcasters estimated that 7,000 television receivers are in the hands of the American public, with the New York City metropolitan area having almost 5,000 of the total.

Stations Operate Experimentally.

Pending a fixing of a commercialization date the stations already on the air have been operating on an experimental basis. Regular scheduled broadcasts have been conducted in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, and Los Angeles, with various other stations operating at irregular hours.

Under the FCC's new authorization stations will be required to offer a minimum of 15 hours of program service weekly.

FEW SETS IN CHICAGO.

Radio experts last night estimated that there are only about 50 television receivers in Illinois at present—most of them in Chicago, where experimental broadcasts have been conducted for some time. Experimental stations have been operated by Zenith Radio corporation and by Balaban and Katz corporation.

Virtually all television stations now in operation are in metropolitan areas, since the range of "good" transmission is roughly 40 miles—on a "line of sight" from the top of the transmitter to a point slightly beyond the horizon. In this respect television differs from long wave radio broadcasting.

Transmitted Costs $100,000.

Television chain programs may not become a reality for five years, experts said. The short range of effective transmission would require the construction of relay transmitters at intermediate points between the broadcasting stations of a chain. A television transmitter of medium power would cost about $100,000, against $40,000 for a comparable radio transmitter, the experts estimated. They placed the price of a "fair" television receiver for the home at $300 to $400.

Persons wishing to buy television receivers, however, may be able to obtain color sets, which are reported highly developed and more pleasing than those which display only black and white pictures.

Television was originally scheduled for commercial broadcasting last Sept. 1, but a year ago the FCC reversed its ruling, stating that it did not approve of merchandising methods adopted by Radio Corporation of America in New York City. The television frequencies were assigned to frequency modulation radio. The principal bar to commercial programs at that time was lack of standardization of equipment. Sets built to receive one type of television program would not receive broadcasts made under any of several different systems which were in experimental use.

The industry then got together and agreed on standardization, and this agreement, made known to the FCC at a hearing early this year, resulted in yesterday's ruling.

Among the principal concerns interested in television are Zenith Radio, RCA, the Don Lee Broadcasting system [an affiliate of the Mutual Broadcasting system], CBS, NBC, the Farnsworth Television and Radio corporation, du Pont laboratories, and Philco Radio and Television corporation.

Arrives in Reno

TALLULAH BANKHEAD.

Reno, Nev., May 2 [Special].—Tallulah Bankhead, well known actress, came to Reno by air today. As she stepped from the plane she said she was here for rest, and then yelled loudly: "Which is my lawyer?"

Miss Bankhead said she would stay at a hotel a day or so and then go to a dude ranch. She would not make a definite statement that divorce from her actor husband, John Emery, was the purpose of a contemplated "long rest," but her welcome by Attorney John R. Belford was taken as an indication that she planned such action.

ROOSEVELT GIVES CONGRESS VIEWS ON RAISING TAXES

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Charlottesville, Va., May 2.—President Roosevelt tonight called upon congress to formulate a tax bill which will convince the country that the nation's preparedness program is designed to assure the security of the country and not "to make the rich richer and the poor poorer."

The plea was made in a letter to Representative Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], chairman of the house ways and means committee, which is engaged in formulating a tax bill designed to raise 3½ billion dollars of additional revenue.

Mr. Roosevelt released his letter to Doughton as he sat sipping a mint julep on a small porch overlooking the broad acres of his host for a Virginia week-end—Maj. Gen. Edwin M. Watson, White House secretary and military aide. The President arrived at Kenwood, Watson's estate, which is near Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, and Ashawn, the home of James Monroe, at the end of a four hour drive from the White House.

His Promised Statement.

His letter on the taxation problem was described by White House Secretary Stephen T. Early, also a member of the party, as the statement on taxation Mr. Roosevelt promised he would make to congress at a recent press conference. Early refused to attempt to interpret the President's ambiguous statement.

The text of the President's letter follows:

"Secretary Morgenthau has recommended that 3½ billions of additional taxes should be levied during the coming year to defray in part the extraordinary defense expenditures.

"This total represents the minimum of our revenue requirements I hope that you and the other members of your committee will act favorably on this goal.

"You will recall that in my budget message this year, I suggested a financial policy aimed at collecting progressive taxes out of a higher level of national income. I urged that additional tax measures should be based on the principle of ability to pay. This still is my view.

Urges Evasion Proof Bill.

"I am confident that your committee will recommend legislation specifically aimed at making the federal revenue system evasion-proof and so devised that every individual and every corporation will bear its fair share of the tax burden.

"The income tax cannot fix the tax liability of individuals and corporations with equity as long as the tax basis is defined to exclude substantial and significant elements of income.

"I hope your committee, with the help of the treasury, will formulate a tax bill which will convince the country that a national defense program intended to protect our democracy is not going to make the rich richer and the poor poorer.

"I am sure that you and I are agreed that defense is a national task to which every American must contribute in accordance with his talents and treasure and that the people of the United States are gladly willing to make whatever sacrifices may be necessary to strengthen the common defense."

Opposing Ideas Presented.

Washington, D. C., May 2 (AP).—Opposing proposals of the treasury and congressional tax experts for stiffer taxes on small incomes, the CIO demanded today that congress spare "working people" from wage cuts "in the guise of taxation."

The views of the CIO were made known in a statement by Philip Murray, its president, at house ways and means committee hearings on raising 3½ billion dollars in new revenue.

The CIO proposed a return to the 1939 income tax exemptions of $1,000 for single persons and $2,500 for married couples. The exemptions are now $800 and $2,000 respectively.

Favors Lower Exemptions.

On the other hand, the American Farm Bureau federation went on record for cutting present income tax exemptions to $500 for single persons and $1,000 for married couples and recommended that the credit for dependents be cut from $400 to $200. The federation's views were presented by Edward A. O'Neal, its president.

Meanwhile, Speaker Sam Rayburn [D., Tex.] disclosed that he is planning to tell President Roosevelt "at the first opportunity" that congressional tax leaders desire immediate action on Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau's suggestion that nonmilitary spending for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 be cut a billion dollars.

ACTION DEFERRED ON EXTRADITION OF 3 TO DETROIT

Extradition proceedings against three Chicago contractors, William S. Lipman, Abe Smith, and Seymour Smith, were deferred yesterday by Gov. Green's three man extradition board until May 15. The three contractors are wanted in Detroit, Mich., to face charges of conspiracy to bribe public officials in connection with an $8,000,000 housing project contract. A previous extradition order for Lipman, signed by Gov. Green, has been held up by habeas corpus action now pending in the Criminal court. Extradition is being opposed on the ground that Michigan's one man grand jury system is unconstitutional.

LIQUOR THIEVES GET $4,085 LOOT.

Joseph Magnus' liquor store at 930 Belmont avenue was robbed Thursday, and it took Magnus all day yesterday to take inventory. He finally decided the thieves took 203 unopened cases and 56 one-gallon jugs of liquor, valued at $4,085, just $85 more than his stock was insured for. They also got $15 in cash.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 2 [Special].—After a year of marriage to Jean Rogers, 25 years old, screen actress, her husband, Daniel M. Knight today when she was granted a divorce on the grounds of mental cruelty.

CLEAR 2 DOCTORS AND HOSPITAL IN LOVE PICKET SUIT

The Oak Park hospital and Drs. Louis P. River and John J. Nolan were dismissed yesterday by Judge John F. Haas as defendants in the $150,000 damage suit of Fred Bowker, 22 years old, 746 South Elmwood avenue, Oak Park. Bowker charges that while he was prevented from seeing his bride, Lorraine, 17, for four months in 1939 her family slandered him and forced her to submit to an illegal operation.

During the separation in 1939, Bowker became known as Oak Park's picket for love by marching a picket line outside the Landon home, where his bride, whom he had married after an elopement to Kentucky, was held by her family. They were later reunited and are now living together.

ANTI-WAR PAPER GAINS HAILED AS VOICE OF PEOPLE

Cited as Proof of Wish to Avoid Conflict.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 2.—With all the war propaganda barrage laid down in New York City these days, the Sweeneys, the Smiths, and the Joneses aren't letting out any great whoop and holler for sending American troops over to the European battlefields. War fever is localized among the Stuyvesants along Park avenue.

New York City's sprightly tabloid, the Daily News, registered enormous increases in circulation during recent months, altho the paper's policy is strongly opposed to American participation in the European conflict. The News has printed numerous cartoons and trenchant editorials warning of the consequences. It has wholeheartedly supported the America First committee while other organs have attempted to belittle it.

Scores Gain of 80,708.

In the six months ending March 31, 1941, the Daily News chalked up a gain of 80,708 on week days and 72,229 on Sunday, over the corresponding period of last year, a phenomenal record in any league. The News is a morning paper.

Meanwhile, one of the standard-sized morning papers, regarded as the leading pro-British organ in the country, actually dropped 11,078 in daily circulation and gained only 792 on Sunday. The other standard-sized morning paper, also "all out" for Britain, added only 789 to its daily count and picked up 10,169 for Sunday. Evening paper circulations remained fairly static.

This picture of circulation trends is affording the red hot interventionists no comfort.

Poor People Contribute.

Edwin S. Webster Jr., secretary of the New York chapter of the America First committee, said it was "pathetic" to see poor people, convinced war would be disastrous for America and disillusioned by the broken campaign pledges of its leaders, come into the committee headquarters and insist on giving contributions of a dime or a quarter.

That it is the common people who are against going into the war was the belief expressed recently by one of the nation's most noted preachers, the Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick of Riverside church.

In a recent sermon Dr. Fosdick declared:

"For myself I am convinced that the millions of plain Americans who still are saying, 'Stay out of belligerent participation in this war,' are right.

Law Catches Terry Druggan Napping, but Forgives Him

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday freed Terry Druggan, prohibition beer peddler, of a contempt of court citation issued when Druggan slept thru an appointment last week when he was to have appeared at a hearing to discover assets in connection with the government's effort to collect an income tax judgment of $600,000. Judge Barnes was informed that Druggan accidentally took an overdose of sleeping powders.

CAPT. JIMMY'S JAUNT TO CHINA IS PUZZLE EVEN TO PRESIDENT

Washington, D. C., May 2.—The mystery of the travels of Capt. James Roosevelt of the United States marines in the orient at the expense of the taxpayers was deepened today when his commander in chief [incidentally his father, President Roosevelt] professed ignorance. Asked at his press conference the purpose of Jimmy's travels, accompanied by an aide, the President said he has not the faintest idea; that his questioner would have to ask the marine corps. When asked the marine corps replied: "No comment."

Jimmy Misses a Party.

CHUNGKING, China, May 2 (AP).—Capt. James Roosevelt made a flying tour of Chinese military posts today and hurried back to this city to attend a farewell party for United States Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson, only to find that the festivities had concluded. Johnson is leaving to assume his new post as minister to Australia.

'EVERYTHING'S FINE' ATTITUDE IN BRITAIN HIT

LONDON, May 3, Saturday (AP).—Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express today assailed the "everything's fine" tone which it said prevailed in some British newspapers.

One day after Beaverbrook's appointment as minister of state the Express said:

"Bunk merchants are at it again. . . . Among other fairy tales we read yesterday were: [1] The German army is rotting in Holland; [2] there is mutiny among U-boat crews; [3] Russia is going to fight Germany. On the contrary, we have been licked in Norway, licked in France, Belgium, and Holland; licked in Libya, and licked in Greece. Believe nothing good in this war until you see it and until you earn it."

BRITISH BATTLE IRAQ'S ARMY; OIL SUPPLY AT STAKE

London Charges Germans Inspired Conflict.

A British source expressed confidence that Turkey would be inclined to view the Iraq situation as German inspired and, therefore, a menace to Turkey's own security.

Syria, where French authorities recently have had trouble with nationalists, remained a question mark. The position of the Haifa, Palestine, branch of the British oil pipe line, dangerously near the Syrian border, led to the belief that the British would waste no time in insuring its protection if there were any evidence of German penetration.

Stationed at Air Base.

Before the war the British had in Iraq two bomber squadrons, one bomber transport squadron, several armored car companies, and a supply depot and hospital. Originally most of these forces were at the Habbaniyah air base.

This base was established by treaty and contains RAF armored cars as well as planes and a garrison. Similar arrangements, effected a year ago under the British-Iraq treaty of alliance, permit the British to open lines of communication thru Iraq for military forces.

An official British statement recalled that when Rashid Ali, supported by high army leaders, seized power in Iraq, "he publicly declared his intention to honor the Anglo-Iraq treaty of alliance" and that he also agreed to the first troop landings.

The statement detailed his subsequent about-face. A British broadcast said he was "relying on his hectic call for help to Berlin, and threatened that he would oppose by force the landing of further troops."

Ignores British Demand.

Britain insisted on her treaty rights. She said the landing of fresh troops was followed by "a menacing concentration of Iraq troops around Habbaniyah."

Sir Kinahan Cornwallis, the British ambassador, demanded that Rashid Ali withdraw the troops. He ignored the demand.

The British said they felt that much of the Iraq population wanted a restoration of good British-Iraq conditions.

British Urged Revolt.

By air wave the British urged the Iraqis to overthrow their new leader, "who, for the sake of his own gain, has sought a quarrel with Great Britain and betrayed the interests of his country."

It said neither Egypt nor Turkey had recognized the coup regime and that the king of Saudi Arabia had advised Rashid Ali to honor his pledges to Britain.

Yet, the broadcast concluded, "Rashid Ali has overthrown the Iraq constitution, driven the lawful regent from the country and is ready to extend the war to Iraq at the bidding of the axis . . .

"Overthrow these mercenary intriguers and let law and order reign once more!"

Called "Sacred Struggle."

New York, May 2 (AP).—The German short wave radio today broadcast that the Iraq premier, Rashid Ali Al Gallani, had issued a call to the Iraq people to take up arms in a "sacred struggle" against Britain. It said armed Iraq forces were moving on treaty bases, and that British forces recently landed were "encircled" at Basra.

[German authorities in Berlin made no immediate comment on a British announcement of fighting between British and Iraq forces and disclaimed knowledge of German radio broadcasts saying Iraq's pro-German premier, Rashid Ali Al Gailani, had called on his people to take up arms against Britain in a "sacred" struggle.]

The German radio reported the mobilization of all classes of Iraq reservists as well as the 1916 class of the regular army. It said many British Indian troops had deserted to the Iraqis, and that the British exploited Mosul oil fields were under the control of Iraq troops, with other strategic points guarded.

A Plea to Moslems.

The German radio quoted the Iraq premier as declaring: "We are waging a sacred struggle."

The imputation was that the premier was attempting to proclaim to all Moslems a jihad, or holy war, against the British. Since early morning, it was stated, the Iraq radio station has been broadcasting martial phrases from the Koran.

Further, the German radio cited reports from Syria, Lebanon, and Ankara, Turkey, as evidence that the events in Iraq had attracted widespread attention thruout the Moslem world.

Even in Palestine, it added, "numerous Arab fighters for freedom are prepared to go immediately to Iraq should the further course of events render it necessary. . . . "

Hint Moslem Holy War Against Britain

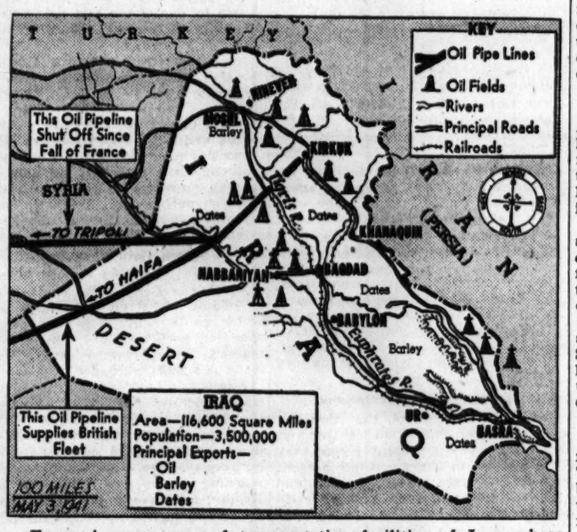
The call of Iraq's pro-German premier to his people yesterday to wage a "sacred struggle" against Britain suggested an attempt to proclaim a holy war to all Moslems. Predominantly Moslem lands are shown in black on this map, and the Mohammedan countries figuring in the war news are identified.



Economic resources and transportation facilities of Iraq, whose troops yesterday battled British garrison at air base, are told on this map.

LAND OF ARABIAN NIGHTS, INVADED BY EUROPE'S WAR

Iraq Kingdom Created by the British.

Europe's conflict has reached the land of the Arabian nights.

Iraq, the modern kingdom for whose oil wealth Britain and Germany are pressing a significant struggle, is a British creation, but the land itself has seen the tides of empires rise and ebb for more than 6,000 years.

Babylonian, Assyrian, Chaldean, Persian, Greek, Roman, Saracen, and Turk have held sway over its arid wastes and fertile valleys.

During the world war, the British wrested the territory from the old Turkish empire, and under the aegis of the then colonial secretary, Winston Churchill, saw it set up as the mandated kingdom of Iraq, ruled by the elected King Feisal I.

Full Sovereignty Recognized.

In 1927 a treaty with Britain provided for relinquishment of the mandate, and in 1930 full Iraq sovereignty was recognized.

The British, however, retained the privilege of using all Iraq facilities in the event of war or a threat of war, and kept as a base for their modern magic carpets an airdrome about 60 miles west of Bagdad.

Steadily the British have spent money there—the total being estimated at a billion dollars—largely to develop the great oil deposits around Mosul and Kirkuk and elsewhere.

Production in recent years has grown steadily, reaching more than 4,272,000 tons in 1938, the last year for which full figures are obtainable.

Britain also has taken about $8,500,000 worth of barley a year. The United States has spent up to $1,500,000 a year for Iraq dates, the only other important export.

Oil Biggest Prize of All.

The oil, greatest prize of all, has fed the British Mediterranean fleet via 1,200 miles of pipelines on which Oklahoma and Texas construction experts labored long in the desert sun.

The line, starting at Kirkuk, runs west and south, one branch reaching the Mediterranean at Haifa, Palestine, and the other at Tripoli, in French mandated Lebanon. [This is not to be confused with the Libyan Tripoli in Africa.]

Since the fall of France, the Tripoli line has been reported shut off, the British drawing their supply entirely thru the Haifa branch.

Should this line fall into unfriendly hands at any point, the British fleet could be made to suffer severely.

This map of Iraq superimposed on that of the central western states indicates the size of the newest country involved in the war.

Thus the importance of Iraq looms large, even tho it has only about 3,500,000 people and much of its 116,600 square miles of territory is dry wasteland.

Pipelines Run to Sea.

The Iraq Petroleum company, an international group, operates at Kirkuk and constructed the pipelines to the sea. The Anglo-Iranian Oil company operates a field and refinery near Khanaquin, close to the Persian border.

The British Oil Development company [Mosul Oil Fields, Ltd.] has a concession for oil west of the Tigris river and north of Bagdad in a region embracing the traditional site of the Garden of Eden and the district where pitch was dug to build the walls of Babylon. The Basra Petroleum company holds a concession for southern Iraq.

The country is ruled by Emir Abdul Ilah as regent for his nephew, King Feisal II. Feisal, who was six years old yesterday, became king on the death of his father, King Ghazi I., in an automobile accident April 4, 1939.

U. S. Removes Denver Man from Ship About to Sail

San Francisco, Cal., May 2 (AP).—Sailing of the Japanese liner Yawata Maru was delayed 20 minutes today while federal agents swarmed over the boat and took off one man. BELGRADE'S BIG BUILDINGS STAND UP UNDER BOMBS

Tribune Writer Tells of Damage to City.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BELGRADE, May 2.—This city until less than a month ago was the capital of Jugo-Slavia. Now it is pretty much a wreck.

A German newspaper published in what is now Hungarian territory to the north of Belgrade reports that 16,000 bodies have been dug out of the city's ruins and that the task still is far from finished.

I arrived in the city in the afternoon and saw Serbian prisoners still digging out the rubbish. Bomb craters, some of them 15 feet in diameter, showed how the damage was done.

Skyscrapers Remain Intact.

I noticed that high buildings of the American skyscraper type seemed to have suffered very little. Possibly they received no direct hits. In any case, they did not fall down when bombs hit near them as did older buildings of stone and brick construction.

I noticed one place where a house apparently three stories high was completely destroyed. But the ground floor was of concrete about 6 inches thick. This had held firm in spite of the great weight suddenly put on it.

Perhaps the most completely destroyed building in the city is the Serbian King hotel, which is well known to tourists. It is inconceivable that any one in the hotel escaped death when it was hit.

Returning to Normal.

Slowly, the people are making a feeble effort to return to normal. The first repairs evidently should be to the big suspension bridge over the Sava river, which carried all traffic from the north into Belgrade. Its great iron spans now lie tilted up on end in the river beside the wreckage of the piers.

An even more immediate task will be putting the water and sewage systems in working order, bombs having burst the mains. Improvised hydrants have been set going on street corners and housewives wait their turn to draw the buckets of water necessary for household needs.

A military order posted on street corners forbids the people from using the toilets in their houses unless the house has its own sewage and prescribes the usage of public toilets only. The order adds that all water should be boiled at least 10 minutes before drinking and that by May 5 all inhabitants of the city must be inoculated against typhoid and paratyphoid.

Warn Against Shootings.

The orders of the German military authorities are many and cover varying subjects. The first general one tells the population that they will get into no trouble if they mind their own business, but that offenders against public security or German occupation forces will be punished by courts martial. This order sets 7 p. m. as curfew hour.

Another notice informs the public that German patrols were shot at on the night of April 21-22 and that as a consequence the patrols have orders to use "their heaviest weapons against such cowardly attacks." It says that additional hostages are to be chosen from the civil population and these persons will be shot if the attacks are repeated.

Still another, addressed to Jews, orders them to register with the police and warns that any Jew failing to do so will be shot.

Sees German Army.

All day yesterday I was traveling thru Hungary and saw Germany's victorious motorized legions burning up the roads in the direction of their homeland, their work in the Balkans completed. It was an impressive array of military might—long columns of armored cars, scouting tanks and of motorcycles carrying two or three men each.

After crossing the former borderline south of the Hungarian city of Szeged, I came on the Hungarian army, most of it also returning soon after a bloodless campaign which had taken it to the gates of Belgrade. Here, in contrast to the Germans, was the old style army with few motor vehicles and interminable lines of horsedrawn carts crawling along at slow pace.

The Hungarians are leaving the population, no doubt, to the destiny of the land between their former border and the Danube river, at least as far as the city of Novisad, the name of which they already have changed to Ujvidek. This region, known as the Banat, is to be Magyarized. Hungarians say the area is only being restored to its original and real aspect.

The Ankara radio said that if Germany advanced to western Africa "America may occupy Dakar, which is vital to her safety."

BRITAIN INSPECTS SEA CARGOES TO IRAN AND IRAQ

LONDON, May 2 (AP).—Indications of growing British concern over the near east situation were seen today in the announcement that effective May 15 navicerts would be required of all sea borne cargoes destined for Iran [Persia] and Iraq.

The ministry of economic warfare announcement said that goods consigned to other Persian gulf destinations would not be required to have navicerts, but that ship navicerts would be required of all carrying vessels.

Nazi U-Boat Ace Missing; Sunk British Battleship

The source of the report was a Reuters [British news agency] message "confirmed by a neutral source in Berlin," it was said.

BRITISH TROOPS SHOVE GERMANS BACK AT TOBRUK

Rescued Soldiers from Greece Rush to Battle.

CAIRO, Egypt, May 2 (AP).—The British garrison at Tobruk counter-attacked the Germans and Italians today, throwing them partly out of the fort's outer defenses, British military sources asserted.

The battle still is raging after two days, but those axis forces remaining inside the outer perimeter of the Libyan fortress have been stopped there.

Strong contingents of the British expeditionary force rescued from Greece were hastening westward to counter the German threat to Egypt and to aid the Tobruk garrison, which is 80 miles inside Italian Libya.

This is the second time the axis troops have penetrated Tobruk's outermost lines, but the present attack is more sustained than the other, which failed.

Supported by Dive Bombers.

This second drive was launched against the southwest perimeter with a strong German tank thrust supported by dive bombers and followed by infantry.

The Germans apparently were determined if possible to remove this constant menace to their communication lines into Egypt, but the British classed the attack as a failure since it failed to reach the inner defenses. The inner ring of fortifications, several miles long, covers the town and harbor and is much stronger than the broken outer ring.

Three dive bombers were shot down by the defending RAF, and the British-Australian-Indian garrison troops reported they smashed 11 of the German tanks.

[The German high command said axis "combat units repeatedly and effectively bombed enemy fortifications near Tobruk" and scored direct hits to silence batteries. Heavy explosions also were observed in the British-held fort of Pilastrino and in munition dumps, and five Hurricane planes were destroyed.]

Warships Are Mobile Artillery.

British warships ranged up and down the coast to act as major mobile artillery for the Tobruk defenders. They poured shells into axis concentrations along the coastal road.

British airmen attacked points west of Tobruk, bombing and machine gunning axis troops and trucks at Acroma, in the Tobruk area, and also at Derna, Bengazi, and Benina. The latter is an airdrome near Bengazi which has been serving as a relay point for air transported German troops.

Around Sollum, the Egyptian border town to which the axis drive has reached, a small axis force held the port area under continued harassment by British mechanized patrols. The reënforcements from Greece also were expected to strengthen this action shortly.

Some of these reënforcements were armed with American made weapons now arriving in Egypt [perhaps via the Red sea since President Roosevelt has declared that area open to American ships].

Italian resistance in isolated pockets in Ethiopia is now so feeble that British troops are being pulled out of East Africa for action in the Mediterranean area.

Axis Planes Over Alexandria.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt May 2 (AP).—Axis airplanes flew over Alexandria tonight, causing a 90 minute alert, but dropped no bombs.

Clinton, Ind., May 2 (AP).—Fire destroyed the grading tipple at the Ayreshire-Patoka strip coal mine, four miles west of here, late today with an estimated loss of $150,000. The blaze, origin of which had not been determined, was discovered after the afternoon shift of men left the mine.

A private agreement was reached as to Mrs. Baker's support, and custody of the couple's four children was divided.

BENSON FORD, 21, SON OF EDSEL, IS PUT IN 1-A DRAFT

Mount Clemens, Mich., May 2 (AP).—Benson Ford, 21 years old, son of Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor company, and grandson of Henry Ford, was placed in draft class 1-A by a divided verdict of his draft board tonight. Macomb county draft board No. 2 voted 2 to 1 for class 1-A, which makes Ford eligible for induction into the army May 23.

Early last month the draft board medical examiner reported Ford had failed to pass the physical examination. Charles Retzlaff and William Strich, the two board members who voted for class 1-A, said the army medical officers still could reject Ford.

Charles N. McNaughton, third member of the board, uncle of Miss Edith McNaughton, Ford's fiancée, said he felt justified in approving class 1-B [deferment] in view of the medical examiner's report.

The draft board said Ford had not sought deferment. Benson's brother, Henry Ford II., is a commissioned ensign in the naval reserve at Great Lakes, Ill.

NAZI BOMBERS POUND LIVERPOOL IN MAJOR ATTACK

LONDON, May 3, Saturday (AP).—German raiders pounded Liverpool and the surrounding Merseyside area last night and early today in a major raid. Hundreds of bombs were dropped on the city, the principal west British port and a key manufacturing city. Early reports indicated heavy casualties. Four German planes were destroyed.

A smashing daylight attack on the German submarine base at Den Helder. The Netherlands, and the 13th raid on Brest since the Nazi battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst were discovered there were announced yesterday as the high spots of British aerial activities on Thursday.

Northern Germany Bombed.

BERLIN, May 3 (AP).—Relatively large forces of British raiders dropped explosive and incendiary bombs last night in northern Germany, informed Germans said today. These sources said three RAF planes were shot down.

AUSTRALIA CUTS MEDICAL COURSES TO HELP ENGLAND

MELBOURNE, Australia, May 2.—Australian universities are shortening their medical courses in response to an urgent request for more doctors for the United Kingdom and India.

There are 6,500 physicians on Australian medical registers, but subtracting those overage, unfit, engaged in essential services, or already serving, there is only a sufficient supply for the civil community on the basis of one to each 3,500 population.

Shortening the last year of medical courses means 250 will graduate in August or September instead of at the end of this year. Most of them will be available for overseas work.

More U. S. Aid for Spain; Help Valued at $1,250,000

MADRID, May 2 (AP).—The American Red Cross mission supervising distribution of relief in Spain said today that the arrival of the Spanish freighter Navemar at Huelva, April 29, with 3,982 tons of flour, 1,232 tons of evaporated milk, and 171 tons of medical supplies brought the total value of American aid to Spain to $1,250,000. Approximately 300,000 Spaniards have been aided thru American shipments.

NAZIS WARN U. S. ON MOVING SHIPS TO ZONES OF WAR

Call Policy of Aid on Seas for British Perilous.

BERLIN, May 2 (AP).—Semiofficial German sources tonight asserted that President Roosevelt's policy of aid on the seas for the British is "primarily a military problem for Germany."

Asserting that the appearance of the American flag in German-declared war zones would "directly disturb the interests of greater Germany," Dienst aus Deutschland, a commentary service close to the foreign office, said that it made no difference whether the flag was flown by warships or merchantmen.

Summarizes German Position.

The service summarized the German position thus:

"Never has the reich pursued any other policy in the western hemisphere than that of legitimate commercial objectives. There are no grounds for trouble between the two [American and German] peoples unless one intentionally seeks them."

But, it went on:

"Germany has described the areas which it considers as zones of war operations. The world has been advised of these. So it makes no difference whether President Roosevelt recognizes the zones or not. In any event, under the valid usages of war, it makes no difference to Germany whether merchantmen or warships enter these zones."

Cites Japan's Attitude.

Dienst went on to say that Japan had recognized the "aggressive character of the Roosevelt policy" and was determined "to meet it with appropriate defense measures."

Finally, the service underlined the declaration of Adolf Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter to the effect that the responsibility for incidents at sea involving American warships or merchantmen "would fall on the North American statesmen who, in full knowledge of the consequences, started a dangerous game and pushed it still further, regardless of what might ensue."

AFL WINS OVER CIO IN VOTE AT STEEL FOUNDRY

The Steel Workers' Organizing commitee [CIO] lost a plant election yesterday to a federal union of the AFL in the Hubbard Steel Foundry company, 4407 Railroad avenue, East Chicago.

The vote was 558 to 526 in favor of the AFL unit for bargaining agent. The CIO group had petitioned in March to the National Labor Relations board for the election, and no organized opposition appeared until about three weeks ago, when AFL leaders opened their campaign.

Nearly all eligible workers voted. The only labor contract the company had had previously was one with the AFL patternmakers' union, members of which were excluded from yesterday's election. The election, held in the plant, was quiet.

A purse snatcher, who told police he was a paroled convict, was seized last night by Lawndale police after he snatched a purse containing $5 from Mrs. Josephine Kral, 2817 South Springfield avenue, near Springfield avenue and 26th street. The man, who denied the crime altho a $5 bill and papers belonging to Mrs. Kral were found on him, said he was Joseph Burger, 22 years old, of 3909 West 26th street. He said he was paroled from Pontiac reformatory 16 months ago after serving 32 months for burglary.

BRITISH SOLDIER WRECKS TRAIN IN WAR—ON PURPOSE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, May 2.—Dramatic accounts of the British rear guard action in Greece and the evacuation from that country were sent out tonight over the British radio in the middle east and then rebroadcast from stations in England. Of the several members of the British expeditionary force who came on the air, the account of one soldier described by a London announcer as "a major of a Pioneer detachment," was the most remarkable.

This soldier, assigned to destroy railroad equipment so that the Germans might not use it, solved the intricacies of operating a Greek locomotive. He pulled a number of freight cars about a mile outside the station and before jumping, pulled the throttle of the engine wide open and sent the improvised train crashing into a line of freight and passenger cars, telescoping many of them.

The engine remained on the track and he repeated his exploit until the locomotive was wrecked. After destroying as much Greek railroad and other property as the limited time would allow, the soldier and his companions in arms left for Athens, where the radio said they were given a great sendoff by the Greeks, who showered them with presents.

MENZIES CALLS FOR U. S. AID ON A 'GRAND SCALE'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 2.—Robert G. Menzies, prime minister of Australia, today declared that "American help, if it is to shorten this war effectively, must be on a grand scale."

The help, he said, "must proceed from a highly organized community that realizes that the one thing that matters is to beat the enemy and free the world."

This means, he added, "that both here and in the British dominions and the United States we must give up any idea that we can approach this war in an amateur fashion."

Menzies gave these views as he announced that he is going to visit the United States.

3 Publications Banned by Canada Under Defense Act

OTTAWA, Ont., May 2 (AP).—Three publication, one in the English language, have been banned, under defence of Canada regulations from entry to the dominion, it was announced tonight. The English language publication is "French Relief News." The other forbidden publications were printed in Spanish and Japanese.

PUT BRITISH SHIP LOSS IN BALKANS AT 900,000 TONS

Nazis Hint Next Drive Will Be at Crete.

BERLIN, May 2 (AP).—Britain lost 900,000 tons of shipping in the Balkan campaign, a German military spokesman said today.

Tonnage claimed to have been put out of action included 360,000 tons sunk and 98 vessels "heavily damaged." The latter included several 10,000 ton ships.

The spokesman said all the strategic Greek islands with the exception of Crete now have been occupied by German troops.

"Crete, too," presumably will be only a provisional halting place in the grand scale retreat which England enters wherever it faces the German army," Baron von Tiesenhausen, German authority on the near east, wrote in the newspaper NSZ Westmark.

Within Range of Bombers.

It thus was implied that Crete, key to the eastern Mediterranean, might be an early object of the German campaign against British power in the near east.

With Greece in German hands, Baron von Tiesenhausen reasoned, Crete now has fallen within easy range of German and Italian bombers. The flying time to Crete from Athens is 40 or 50 minutes and from Rhodes 30 or 40. Derna, Libya, is only an hour by air from Crete.

"Under these circumstances," he wrote, "Crete has lost its value, not only as an offensive position but also as a refuge for the British fleet and as a defensive position."

Brunt of Battle.

German sources claimed that Australian and New Zealand troops bore the brunt of the Greek battle, asserting that 8,200 prisoners had been taken in the southern Peloponnesus and "only a few hundred soldiers" from England were among them.

Seven thousand of these captives capitulated without further resistance at Kalamai, port in the southern Peloponnesus.

DEFINE ATTITUDE ON 'NEW ORDER!' NAZIS TO SWEDES

We Want to Be Free, Says Stockholm Premier.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, May 2.—A request by Germany to define Sweden's position toward the "new order" in Europe has created much excitement in Swedish government circles.

The Swedish press has not been permitted to pass on this news to the people, but the May day speech of Pere Albin Hansson, the Swedish premier, is regarded as embodying the government's answer to Berlin.

National Unity Revealed.

Hansson said that massmeetings and demopstrations have been held thruout the country at which the government was called upon to strengthen Sweden's inner and outward freedom and to defend the nation's national self government.

The meetings, he said, revealed a national unity which has strengthened the government. The premier asserted that the foreign policy will continue along the same lines as in the past—to strengthen Sweden's freedom and to avoid being involved in the war between the great powers.

Sweden, he continued, has made no secret agreements with any country, nor has it aggressive intentions against any government.

"It wishes to maintain friendly relations with other countries," he exclaimed.

Hansson's declaration comes at a moment when most Swedish people are depressed by England's defeats, and when public morale is shaken by the fear that Sweden will be compelled to choose sides in Europe's war.

The growing belief in Sweden that a conflict between Germany and Russia is impending has contributed to the general nervousness. Until now Sweden has felt safe in declaring that Russia is considered that nation's most dangerous potential enemy.

The soviet government recently investigated the prospects of forming a neutrality bloc with Finland and Sweden. This idea found no echo in Finland and proved another shock to Sweden.

300 MOROS RAID PHILIPPINE POST OF 42; 20 KILLED

MANILA, P. I., May 2 (AP).—A sharp clash between Moro fanatics and the constabulary garrison at Taglibi, Sulu province, in which more than 20 Moros were killed, was reported here tonight.

About 300 natives attacked the garrison, consisting of two officers and 40 men. Within two hours, 20 Moro warriors and one Moro woman were reported killed but the fighting continued.

The attacking band was formed several weeks ago by two brothers. They recruited relatives and friends but after a taste of warfare surrendered. The others, however, continued their rampage.

BEAVERBROOK JOB OFFERS BRITISH A BIT OF A PUZZLE

Will He Produce Tanks or Tactics? They Ask.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 3, Saturday.—Today's Daily Herald echoes questions which have been asked frequently during the last 24 hours regarding Lord Beaverbrook's new job. These questions are: "What is a minister of state?" "What is the new minister going to do?"

When Beaverbrook was appointed minister of aircraft production, the Herald pointed out, his function was obvious to everybody, "but what does the ministry of state produce? Arms or ideas? Tanks or tactics? Guns or butter?"

The paper then refers to the current theories that Beaverbrook will be used to speed up production wherever lags show up or that he will devote his time to consideration of general war policy.

Warns of Long War.

"If Beaverbrook performs either of these tasks," it adds, "the result may be highly gratifying. Whatever the truth may be, there is no discoverable reason for the offhandedness with which this important cabinet change was announced to the public."

Frederick James Leathers, the new minister of wartime communications, told newspapermen that his task will be "to unify the entire transport system in this country."

Even he, however, admitted that his appointment came as a surprise.

"The news to myself is only about 48 hours old," he stated.

Leathers' conception is that transport organization "begins at ports abroad and extends to the factories of this country and the doorsteps of consumers. In the other direction it starts from the factories over here and carries our products to the forces overseas and the customers abroad."

Nationalization of Railroads.

He did not disclose whether the process of welding transport and shipping under a single ministry would result in outright nationalization of the railroads, such as has been demanded in the house of commons, but the cabinet already is reported considering the problem.

To work out the details of the merger of ministries, a small cabinet committee consisting of Sir John Anderson, lord president of the council; Clement Attlee, lord privy seal, and Leathers himself, has been set up.

HUMPHREYS SUIT TO OPEN CLEANER PLANT DELAYED

Judge John C. Lewe yesterday continued until Monday a suit for injunction against the city to reopen Murray Humphreys' Klever-Shampay Cleaners at 4631 Cottage Grove avenue. The plant was closed after goons last week beat to death Anton Gorczak, driver for a Cicero cleaning firm, who had taken business away from the Klever-Shampay firm. Humphreys is a Capone gangster.

Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel, argued that Klever-Shampay should not have resorted to injunction proceedings, but should have brought mandamus action to compel the city to issue it a license. Because of a test of the validity of licensing cleaning and dyeing plants, no such establishment at present holds a license, altho the city has accepted fees from them.

Harry A. Blossat, attorney for the firm, said the city, in closing the plant for a long list of alleged violations of health, safety, and fire regulations, was unfairly discriminating, because other plants are not subject to similar action altho they may also be guilty of similar violations. He said the closing order violated constitutional guarantees against seizure of property without due process of law.

JAP BUSINESS PAPER URGES PACT WITH U. S.

TOKIO, May 2 (AP).—Chugai, a Tokio industrial paper with a circulation mainly among an influential class, today repeated its advocacy that Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka pay a visit to the United States. It said "there is no reason for a Japan-United States war."

Pointing out that a pact was reached with Russia altho there were many complicating factors in their relations, including Manchukuo, the paper said there should not be much difficulty in adjusting relations with America.

An eight foot banner demanding a "stronger policy dealing with the United States" appeared today at a busy downtown street corner. The banner was hung from a building by the Kokusui Taishuto, described by the Japanese news agency, Domei, as a "minor political organization."

Lith Statesman Visits Stritch

Mrs. Smetona (center), wife of the Lituanian president, was a guest at a luncheon given by women from her homeland. With her are Mrs. Justin Mackiewich (left) and Mrs. Peter Dauzvardis.

NAZIS ABSORBING RUSSIA, ASSERTS LITH PRESIDENT

Stalin Afraid, Smetona Tells Chicagoans.

The Nazis are gradually taking control of Russia in the same manner they won a hold over Italy, President Antanas Smetona of Lithuania asserted here yesterday. He said that reports of a strong Soviet army are myths and that Dictator Josef Stalin is afraid to oppose Hitler.

Mr. Smetona, who was forced to flee from Lithuania when the Russians annexed the little Baltic republic last summer, arrived here yesterday from Cleveland, O. He was greeted by a delegation of Chicagoans of Lithuanian descent. During the morning he visited Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch.

Guest at Reception.

Later he was the guest of honor at a reception by Mayor Kelly in the Palmer House. Others attending included Peter Dauzvardis, Lithuanian consul in Chicago; Justin Mackiewich, chairman of the city's Lithuanian committee, and Judge Harry M. Fisher of the Circuit court, who was born in Lithuania.

"Hitler's agents are seizing control of the Caucasian oil fields and the steel industry thruout Russia," Mr. Smetona said. "Soon the Nazis will dominate Russia as they dominate Italy today. Stalin is afraid to do anything; he knows his army has little power."

Mr. Smetona said he could not venture to predict who would win the European war.

"However, I hope that some day Lithuania will be free again," he said. "I don't believe the United States will take an active, physical part in the war, but this country will be a great factor in the reconstruction of Europe afterward and will assert itself at the peace conference table."

Mayor Kelly, in welcoming Mr. Smetona, said Chicago was always proud of its Lithuanian element and was certain that the little nation would rise again.

Lays Wreath on Monument.

Late in the afternoon Mr. Smetona participated in wreath laying ceremonies at the Darius-Girenas monument at California avenue and Marquette road in Marquette park. The monument was erected in memory of Stephen Darius and Stanley Girenas, Chicago Lithuanian aviators who perished in 1934 while on a trans-Atlantic flight to their fatherland.

Today Mr. Smetona, his wife, and others in his party will be guests at a luncheon given by Lieut. Gov. Hugh W. Cross in the Leland hotel in Springfield. Mr. Smetona will place a wreath on the tomb of Abraham Lincoln in the afternoon. Tomorrow morning he will attend high mass in St. George's church, 33d street and Lituanica avenue, and will dine with the pastor, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael L. Kruszas, in the rectory. In the evening he will attend a banquet for 1,000 persons in the Palmer House. His address at the banquet will be broadcast nationally.

AMERICAN RELIEF SHIP REACHES FRANCE WITH 8,000 TONS OF FLOUR

MARSEILLES, France, May 2 (AP).—Marseilles learned only today of the unheralded arrival yesterday of the relief ship Leopold L. D. with a cargo of 8,000 tons of flour and 102 tons of milk products to be distributed in the unoccupied zone by the American Red Cross.

No official reception was arranged for the ship and no announcement was made of its arrival. Because of the May day holiday, there were no dock workers on the pier.

[The Ile de Re, carrying a similar cargo, sailed with the Leopold L. D. from New York for unoccupied France April 17. The vessels, French owned and sailing under their own flag, were permitted to sail by arrangement with the United States and British governments.]

The flour will be distributed in the form of free bread, despite the Vichy government offer to buy the cargo.

SPAIN IS MASTER OF OWN DESTINY, SUNER ASSERTS

Declares Nation Will Fight to Defend Its Liberty.

MADRID, May 2 (AP).—Foreign Minister Ramon Serrano Suner, second only to Generalissimo Franco in Spain's government, declared today that "Spain alone is master of her destiny" and would defend her liberty "within the European order."

Ramon Serrano Suner

Serrano Suner spoke in the village of Mota del Cuervo, whose inhabitants in 1808 were the first to rise against Napoleon's domination for the "reconquest" of Spain by Spaniards.

It also was in this village that Jose Antonio Primo de Rivera founded the Falangist movement which Serrano Suner now heads. Today was marked by Spaniards as the 133d anniversary of the reconquest.

Says Spain Denied Everything.

Serrano Suner lashed out against the "plutocratic democratic" state which he said "has denied everything to Spain" and now "appears again with the fantastic pretext of saving us."

He blamed this unnamed state [presumably his remarks were aimed at Britain] for spreading "rumors and tendentious news to alarm and disturb our Spanish people or justify God knows what intentions. Toward this end they say we are signing what we are not signing, or that we are changing one way and then the other."

Spain's foreign policy, he declared, was dictated by her own free will in her own national interests.

EARLY MOVES SEEN

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, May 2.—Francois Pietri, French ambassador to Madrid, who had been called back to Vichy for consultations, today had a long interview with Vice Premier Admiral Jean Darlan.

It is believed events in Spain will come quickly to a head. No announcement was made about Pietri's talks with Darlan, but reliable sources said he reassured the Vichy government with regard to French Morocco in pending Mediterranean operations.

In the expected German move against Gibraltar it was said that Portugal and Spanish Morocco probably would be the theater of activities. With Portugal and Spanish Morocco German controled, Gibraltar, according to French military authorities, would almost automatically become useless.

Portuguese at Vatican Worried.

ROME, May 2.—Portuguese circles at the Vatican are showing concern over the immediate future of their country. This is associated with the persistent reports of German offers to help protect Portugal against the United States and Britain.

GIBRALTAR CAN BEAT ANY GERMAN ATTACK, GEN. LIDDELL BOASTS

GIBRALTAR, May 2 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Clive Liddell, departing governor of Gibraltar, broadcast defiantly from tunnelled battle headquarters in the heart of the "Rock" tonight that Gibraltar is ready to destroy German attackers, whether they come by air, sea, or land.

Liddell, who is being succeeded by Viscount Gort and who will become inspector general of the British home forces, said:

"I do not intend to give an opinion on the impregnability of the rock. Let Hitler send his marauders and bandits and find that out. Ninety per cent of the people of Spain do not wish to be dragged into war, but Hitler has managed to find a certain number of Quislings in that country. That is why we have carried out most extensive work of preparation at Gibraltar for insuring that if the gangster's bands attack the rock from air, sea, or land, we shall be ready to destroy them."

BRITONS TO LOSE SUGAR FOR TEA, COFFEE IN CAFES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 2.—No more sugar for tea and coffee drinkers in restaurants after June 1, a 20 per cent increase in doctors' fees, and the prospect of another increase in railway fares were among today's items bringing the war increasingly home to the common people.

The ministry of food, however, promised that altho no sugar for hot beverages will be supplied by catering establishments, they still will receive allocations of sugar for cooking.

The council of the British Medical association approved a proposal recommending that general practitioners increase their private fees "by no less than 20 per cent."

The ministry of food is said to be considering substituting a glass of black currant juice for orange juice as a summer drink for thousands of children.

It has been suggested that increased railway fares might discourage the "still far too much unnecessary railway travel," especially on Sundays.

BOOST SHIPPING SPACE FOR U. S. FROM E. INDIES

BATAVIA, Dutch East Indies, May 2 (AP).—Shipping space allotted to trade with the United States will be increased, it was officially announced today.

Some Dutch vessels at present touching the east coast of the United States will be transferred to the Pacific, and the Persian gulf route will be discontinued, freeing numerous ships. Shipping priority henceforth will be given the west coast of the United States instead of the east coast.

Underwriters reported that Lloyd's has discontinued insurance on all ships flying the Japanese flag in far eastern waters.

U. S. PILOTS FLY WITH BRITISH AS WAR OBSERVERS

Go Across Atlantic and Over Germany.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 2—The war department today announced that some junior air corps officers are flying across the Atlantic on fighting planes the British have secured from America as part of the army's program to gather experience from the European war.

It was emphasized that the American pilots are not flying the British craft but are making the crossing in the rôle of observers to study the performance of British and American aircraft. Some weeks ago it was disclosed the army would send observers with British planes on raids into Germany.

"As part of their training, some officers are crossing the Atlantic on British planes being flown to England," the war department announcement said. "Most of the officers are going by commercial ships and air lines."

Part of Training for Combat.

The army is sending junior officers abroad to study tactics and equipment, because the younger officers are the ones who will fly planes in air battles and bombing raids if this country goes to war.

Some of the officers are being flown in fighting planes going to Britain because the army wants the performance of these craft on long flights studied as well as the performance of these craft and British made planes in the war zone.

It was said that the war department is interested in obtaining the "advice and reactions" of its younger men.

In accompanying British pilots on raids into Germany, it was explained that the American officers will not engage in combat but will study the performance of American long range bombers and other craft in actual operation.

Neutrality Not Discussed.

The war department did not discuss the neutrality questions involved in the flying of American pilots in British planes. These aerial missions are without precedent in modern war altho it has not been unusual in the past for observers to plunge into the thick of battles.

In the early months of the war American observers in England confined their observations to tours of British airports and airplane plants and gathered information of combat secondhand from British pilots.

In the last few weeks the number has been increasing greatly. So great has been the flow that commercial air lines could not book their passage and it was decided to fly them in British planes.

Germans Claim Large Losses.

Nazi sources boast that two out of every five planes being flown to Britain are being brought down by their flyers. German long range bombers wait along the air route from the United States and shoot down the unprotected fighting planes being flown to Britain as easily as a hunter brings down ducks, according to Nazi boasts.

The Nazi claims of destruction of fighting planes being delivered to Britain by air have been dismissed by British sources as purely imaginative. The British say the planes are being flown without difficulty.

Chinese Court Official and Her Family Kidnaped

SHANGHAI, May 2 (AP).—Mrs. Chow Zing-tsan, secretary of the Chungking controled Chinese court in the international settlement; her husband, their 18 month old child, and a servant, were kidnaped from their home today. Authorities said they were investigating reports that agents of the Japanese sponsored Nanking régime had seized them.

Veloz and Yolanda, famous dancing team, stopped in Chicago a few hours yesterday to pick up a toy for their infant son and to make final arrangements for their concert engagement in Orchestra hall on May 10. It was their first visit to Chicago in nearly two years. They arrived on the Rock Island from Davenport, Ia.

DIES AFTER FALL.

Charles Norton, 79 years old, 914 South State street, died in County hospital last night of injuries suffered when he fell on Dec. 22 at 8th and State streets.

BAND LEADERS EXEMPTED FROM SECURITY TAXES

Judge Charles E. Woodward of the federal District court issued an opinion yesterday holding that leaders of dance orchestras are not employers under the internal revenue laws and are not required to pay social security taxes for members of their bands.

Judge Woodward's ruling was made in a test case brought by Griff Williams, band leader, who sued the government for a refund of $536 which he had paid in social security taxes in 1938. "Taxes assessed against the plaintiff were erroneously and illegally assessed," Judge Woodward said in his opinion. "Judgment should be entered for the plaintiff in the sum of $536.04, with interest."

Williams' attorneys, Charles O. Rundall and Samuel Ansell, counsel for the American Federation of Musicians, had contended that hotels and ballrooms hiring the band were the legal employers of the bandsmen. Government attorneys said they would appeal Judge Woodward's opinion.

CLAIM DE GAULLE JAILS 'LOYALISTS' IN FRENCH AFRICA

VICHY, France, May 2 (AP).—French fugitives from French Equatorial Africa today asserted that 600 of the 5,000 white residents there had been placed in concentration camps by the "Free French" administration. The remaining whites were said to have been assigned to "enforced residence." The fugitives, 17 in all, declared they had "escaped from De Gaullist prisons." They said "loyalist" forces fought an unsuccessful two month battle to hold Gabon against the "Free French" and that 10 per cent of the defenders were killed and 25 per cent wounded.

LEADERS OF TWO PARTIES DEMAND FIGHT FOR PEACE

Landon and Clark Rouse Kansas City Throng.

BY THOMAS MORROW.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kansas City, Mo., May 2.—A Democratic United States senator and a former Republican Presidential nominee joined tonight in a plea for tolerance and peace as more than 2,000 persons cheered their stand against United States involvment in the European conflict.

The audience gave noisy approval as Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] warned that the present campaign to keep America out of war also is a last ditch fight for democracy in the United States.

The listeners were equally enthusiastic in their applause when former Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, G. O. P. nominee for President in 1936, declared that those who oppose war should be free of administration smears and sneers.

As the two leaders of opposition parties made their plea for peace, the Liberty memorial, built at a cost of more than $4,000,000, cast its shadow over Scottish Rite cathedral in which they spoke. This memorial, as Senator Clark noted, was built to commemorate world war dead and assure the blotting out of brutality in the world.

Defends Right to Criticize.

"There is now, and there always has been, a plain attempt by this administration to discourage discussion of its management of the country's affairs," Landon said in introducing Senator Clark. "Americans cannot even be as critical of British management as the British themselves, without being accused of being disloyal to our country."

"For a year and a half the slogan has been drummed into our ears that to defend America we must defend England. If 150 years following our declaration of independence we are still dependent on Great Britain for our survival, we are certainly in a bad way.' What a comfort that slogan must be to the bloody, barbarian Nazis."

Landon told the audience that the American form of government can survive only if the people preserve their freedom to carry on enlightened discussion. Then he introduced Senator Clark as a man "who fought on the field of battle and who has fought on the equally heart breaking field of free discussion in the face of bitter and unjust attack."

Thankful for Free Speech.

"By the grace of the Almighty we still have the right as American citizens to discuss the tragic issue of peace or war,' Senator Clark told his audience. "A few days or a few weeks hence, when armed clashes may have occurred in the Red Sea or when convoys have been ordered in the Atlantic and American warships have been sunk or have engaged in battle, then it will be too late for discussion, for we will be at war and free discussion will be barred.

"Fortunately, no censorship bill has yet passed the congress or been imposed by the executive, altho the egregious Secretary Knox has sought by his own imperial will to blanket facts easily ascertainable by millions of Americans and certainly known to any foreign government which might be interested."

[Senator Clark referred to efforts of Secretary Knox to withhold news of the arrival of the British warship Malaya at New York for repairs. The Malaya steamed into New York harbor in broad daylight within the easy view of millions.]

Denounces War Propaganda.

"The last desperate stand which we are now making for peace," Clark continued, "for the prevention of the entrance of our country into the bloody chaos of the European cataclysm, important as that is, has yet more momentous implications.

"In all likelihood when we speak for peace tonight against the mechanized panzer divisions of power and propaganda, which are seeking to subdue the great 90 per cent of the American people opposed to war and to commit them to the shambles against their will, we are also making a last stand for democracy in the United States."

He declared that civil liberty, religious freedom, and the democratic way of life are the things which do not belong to the people to give away. These rights, he said, are to be held as a sacred trust for posterity.

Points to Our Heritage.

"That we might enjoy these privileges," Clark said, "long before any of us were born, wise men have conceived, brave men have fought, martyrs have died and gone to their deaths as gayly as to a festival, with words of victory upon their dying lips.

"We owe an obligation to those heroic men and women whose wisdom and sacrifice make us free today. We owe an obligation to our children and to generations yet unborn. We are but the life tenants of rights and privileges which we enjoy as a free inheritance from the wisdom and toil and sweat of those who have gone on before. We have no right to alienate or diminish in any way their rich estate."

A totalitarian government, Clark said, is probably the best form of government for conducting a foreign war. Then he expressed the fear that if the United States enters the present war, the country might acquiesce to a complete dictatorship.

J. E. MacMURRAY GIVES COLLEGE 2½ MILLION FUND

Jacksonville, Ill., May 2 (AP).—A gift of $2,500,000 to the endowment fund of MacMurray college has been made by James E. MacMurray of South Pasadena, Cal., it was announced today by Dr. Clarence P. McClelland, president of the college.

J. E. MacMurray.

Dr. McClelland said the gift brought to $4,191,303 the amount which MacMurray has given for buildings and endowment to the college for women, which bears his name. MacMurray formerly was president of the Acme Steel corporation and a former member of the Illinois state senate.

The announcement of the $2,500,000 gift said that the annual income from the fund will be available to the college for current use beginning January, 1942. From the remainder the college will pay annuities to two daughters of MacMurray, with the full income to go to the college upon expiration of the annuities.

The school, formerly the Illinois College for Women, was renamed MacMurray college several years ago in honor of its chief benefactor.

ARMORED UNITS TO PERFORM FOR ILLINOIS TROOPS

Camp Forrest, Tenn., May 2 (AP).—Lieut. Gen. Ben S. Lear, commander of the second army, will make his third visit to Camp Forrest to witness an exhibition of armored troop tactics by a detachment from Fort Benning, Ga., on Monday and Tuesday. Units of the 33d Illinois division will view the demonstration.

The detachment of motorized troops, consisting of two officers and 27 enlisted men, will give demonstrations with a medium tank, a light tank, trucks, scout cars, and motorcycles. The two tanks will be the first brought to Camp Forrest.

Gov. Dwight Green of Illinois, accompanied by three members of each house from the state legislature, will make an official visit to Camp Forrest May 19 and 20, Gen. Lawton announced.

COLLEGE VOTES 10 TO 1 AGAINST ENTERING WAR

Detroit, Mich., May 2 [Special].—Students of Highland Park junior college voted 10 to 1 today against United States participation in the European war, in a poll conducted by the student council.

The poll covered 300 of the college's 450 students, who include graduates of more than 75 high schools.

On a qualified question, "If the defeat of Great Britain seems imminent, do you believe the United States should enter the conflict?" 64 per cent of the students voted no and 36 per cent yes. On the question "aid to Britain at the risk of war," 58 per cent voted no and 42 per cent yes. On the use of convoys, the poll was 76 per cent no and 24 per cent yes.

15,011 AIDED BY INFANT WELFARE SOCIETY IN 1940

Mary Crane station, 820 Cabrini street, is one of the 20 stations maintained by the Chicago Infant Welfare society for the care of children and expectant mothers. As a feature of National Baby week, which the Chicago society originated in 1914 as a local event, the public is being informed of this work which is supported by voluntary contributions. Last year 15,011 children and expectant mothers received supervision from a physician and nurse, health education, and assistance from a visiting nurse. The society attempts to reach expectant mothers, and the children receive care until they are 6 years old.

CHURCHMEN ASK FOR SUPPORT OF NO WAR CRUSADE

Ask 95,000 Clergymen to Fight Drift from Peace.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The nation-wide Ministers' No War committee today will virtually complete a mailing of 95,000 appeals to clergymen of 37 denominations requesting action at once against the country's drift toward war. The letters, being mailed from the committee's office, 740 Rush street, assert it to be "inconceivable that our government would take us into war with 83 per cent of the citizens opposed."

Dr. Charles F. Boss Jr., secretary of the committee, announced that the committee is now composed of more than 1,200 clergymen of many faiths who are actively opposing further steps toward involving the country in war. From this group 140 leaders of various areas and denominations form a key committee, with their names attached to the letter.

Chicago Committee Members.

Chicago members of the key subcommittee include Dr. Harold L. Bowman, First Presbyterian church; Dr. Albert B. Coe, First Congregational church, Oak Park; Dr. Stanley B. Crosland, Rogers Park Congregational church; Dr. Fred Eastman, Chicago Theological seminary; the Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard, Christ Episcopal church, Winnetka; Dr. Ernest F. Tittle, First Methodist church, Evanston, and Dr. Albert W. Palmer, president of Chicago Theological seminary. Dr. Palmer is the chairman of the No War committee.

Calling for what it called a fellowship of those who share the view that "bitterness, hatred, and destruction cannot be the foundations for a genuine peace," the letter calls for a vigorous program for pastors to follow:

1. Speak out against steps toward war like the sending of naval convoys into the war zone. Write letters or telegrams to congressmen and senators urging them to support the Tobey resolution prohibiting convoys.

Referendum Is Supported.

2. Support concurrent resolution No. 7, which provides for an advisory referendum on war and peace to precede the authorization or appropriation of money for the use of land, naval, or air forces outside the western hemisphere.

3. Attend and promote "parlor meetings" and big mass meetings at which these issues may be discussed.

4. Contribute to the creation of an attitude and will for a just peace, discussing from pulpits the principles of justice and coöperation.

The letter includes copies of the resolution against convoys presented to the senate by Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.], and concurrent resolution No. 7, which cites Republican and Democratic peace planks of 1940 and quotes President Roosevelt's peace pledges during the campaign.

SCOUTS HERALD SALE OF DEFENSE STAMPS, BONDS

The Chicago council of the Boy Scouts of America said yesterday that its 24,965 members are distributing more than 50,000 official posters announcing the sale of United States saving bonds and stamps for defense, now available in postoffices and banks. James H. Douglas Jr., head of the council, said the distribution was in response to a call by President Roosevelt, who is honorary president of the Boy Scouts in this country. Douglas urged stores and public buildings to coöperate by displaying the posters.

Four baby robins, their mouths wide open most of the time, are putting on a continuous show for the Lawrence Nelsons, 2852 Fitch avenue, and their neighbors. Mrs. Nelson watched a pair of robins build a nest on the window sill of her second story bedroom. The babies were born five days ago. Since then, Mrs. Nelson has allowed her friends to watch the mother and father robins take turns carrying food to the babies.

CALL FOR TELEGRAMS BACKING AMENDMENT TO PROHIBIT CONVOYS

The America First committee last night called on its more than 700 chapters thruout the country for a flood of telegrams and letters to senators in Washington, urging them to support the Tobey anticonvoy measure. The resolution, drawn by Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.] will be presented as an amendment to the administration bill authorizing seizure and transfer to Britain of axis and other foreign ships in our ports.

R. Douglas Stuart Jr., national director of America First, dispatched a bulletin to the chapters, calling for immediate action.

"Every one knows that convoys mean a shooting war—the President has said as much himself," Stuart declared. "Therefore, every man and woman who is opposed to war can do his or her part by writing the senators and telling them how they stand on convoys and war. The letters and telegrams must reach the senators by Wednesday at the latest."

URGES CENTRAL CONTROL OF ALL STATE PUBLIC AID

Centralized control of all state public assistance would work for greater economy and efficiency, in the opinion of Walter S. Gregory, who headed the late Gov. Horner's council on public assistance and employment in 1938 and 1939.

Gregory appeared yesterday as a witness before the joint legislative committee on relief and public assistance meeting in the county building. The committee, which has held three downstate meetings, will hold a final session today before submitting its report, according to Senator T. Mac Downing [R., Macomb], chairman, and Rrepresentative Robert M. Woodward [R., Chicago], vice chairman.

Olaf K. Jorgenson, supervisor of Berwyn township, asserted that the responsibility of relief administration should be left to the supervisors, who have been deprived of much of their authority by the IERC.

Col. James White, a member of the City club's welfare committee, proposed the creation of an independent group to weed out all undeserving reliefers.

Forty foot concrete pavement on Pratt avenue from McCormick boulevard to California avenue in Lincolnwood, $110,000.

Forty foot concrete pavement on 5,400 feet of Des Plaines avenue from 26th street northward to Forest Park, $104,500.

Installation of gates and automatic flashing light signals on East River road at the North Western railroad crossing one mile north of Des Plaines, $6,710; at the Milwaukee railroad crossing on Dundee road in Northbrook, $1,725; and at the 87th street crossing of the Baltimore and Ohio and Big Four railroads, in Chicago, $3,080.

THE ROAD TO WAR.

When Mr. Roosevelt demanded the enactment of the new neutrality law on the outbreak of the war in Europe he emphasized the protective features of the substitute for the law he said he was sorry he'd signed. One protection was in the cash and carry provisions. Title to goods bound into war zones would be acquired by the purchasers before loading and the carriers would not be American. Thus one of the primary causes of America's entry into the world war in 1917 would be avoided.

No American ships, no American goods, and no American lives would be lost on the sea and America could preserve its peace. That peace would not be endangered in this war as it was in the other.

The law which was repealed prohibited the sale of munitions to belligerents and applied to all. That was not neutrality according to Mr. Roosevelt. It actually deprived one side of materials it could get because it controled the sea. It was a great advantage to the other side which couldn't reach our markets and had made none of its military calculations upon the expectation of purchases abroad.

The opposition to Mr. Roosevelt then was based upon the conviction that he was not seeking to preserve the neutrality of the United States but was taking his first step toward later intervention as a belligerent. This was hotly denied. It was asserted that the only safe and neutral position for the United States to take was to carry on its trade with cash purchases and remain entirely out of the war zones.

Mr. Roosevelt established the neutrality patrol in coöperation with other nations in this hemisphere, ostensibly to keep the war out of these waters. His campaign for the third term was filled with assurances that no American soldiers were going abroad to fight—that the army, the navy, and the air force would not be used in any foreign wars.

Now let's see how far we have come since September, 1939. The neutrality patrol is admitted to be the beginning of a convoy of ships carrying American supplies, and the carriers soon may be American ships. The cash and carry has disappeared into the lease and lend formula which does not pretend to conceal the fact that the United States is giving munitions to Great Britain.

British warships are repaired in American yards. American warships are put in British service without any trade equivalent.

Steps to keep out of war became steps short of war and now are steps into war. Mr. Roosevelt is about to seize foreign owned ships and give them to the British. Mrs. Roosevelt says there is no promise to keep American troops out of the war.

Every pledge Mr. Roosevelt made has been nullified. Each has served its purpose to deceive. Historical study of the period in which an American government pretended to be keeping out of war while going into it will reveal a classical example of governmental manipulation of events and emotions to accomplish a concealed purpose. It will be a study of the art, or trick, of carrying a reluctant nation to a predetermined destination.

A STRANGE INCONSISTENCY.

The Supreme court last Monday sustained an order of the Madden-Smith régime in the National Labor Relations board, holding that the federation of flat glas. workers was the appropriate bargaining agency for all the employés of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company, even tho the employés of one of the plants wanted another union to bargain for them. The Supreme court divided 5 to 3, with all of the pre-New Deal judges dissenting. It is a fair assumption that if the case had come before the court before the Roosevelt appointees had attained a majority, the decision would have been the other way.

The record shows that Commissioner Leiserson had dissented from the Madden-Smith order. The old NLRB had been continuously under fire, and at length public opinion had forced the President to shelve Madden when his term had expired. Madden was replaced by Prof. H. A. Millis of the University of Chicago, a man long experienced in industrial relations, and respected by both employers and employés. Commissioner Leiserson, who could not agree with the discredited Madden, has been regularly joining in decisions and in administrative orders with Dr. Millis, now chairman of the board. It is a fair assumption therefore that if the Pittsburgh Plate Glass matter was now before the board, Commissioner Leiserson's view would be that of the majority.

Thus, the present majority of the Supreme court, taking the position that it must support the NLRB, has declined to be pragmatic and take official notice that the board is not what it used to be because the membership and the economic philosophy of the board have been changed.

The New Deal majority on the Supreme court has believed that precedent should not stand in the way of making practical adaptations to a changed social philosophy. Justice Frankfurter, key New Dealer of the court, wrote a concurring opinion right after he went on the bench in which he referred to the "reconstruction of the membership of the court," and the shift in doctrine that must naturally follow. And in his opinion in Helvering vs. Halleck, Justice Frankfurter announced the "willingness of the court to reëxamine established principles and to overrule all precedents which do not seem to it justified on a purely pragmatic basis by present needs."

The reconstitution of the NLRB was as complete as the reconstitution of the Supreme court. If the court wished to be pragmatic about its support of the NLRB it would have rejected the order of the dislodged and discredited majority, and approved the position taken by the new majority as represented in the dissent of Commissioner Leiserson. Precedents in the board's rulings indicate its power to alter its rulings. The NLRB as it was when the Pittsburgh Plate Glass decision was handed down is dead. The court majority was unwilling to apply to the NLRB the reconstructed membership doctrine by which it has justified modification of stare decisis.

LOST: A MILLION TONS OF STEEL.

With demands upon industry for the greatest volume of product of all times, bituminous coal mines were shut down thruout the month of April.

Coal is the source of the energy which turns the wheels of the American industrial machine. In the manufacture of iron and steel the No. 1 war material, coal is not only used for fuel but is an important ingredient.

On the last day of March contracts expired between the coal miners and the coal mine operators. This meant that unless action was taken fuel would stop flowing from the mines to industry. It meant that for want of coal the production of iron and steel must decline and that some industries would not receive the steel required to turn out goods ordered by the government.

March 31 passed without a new labor contract being signed and without action being taken by the government to prevent the mines from closing down. Thereafter, negotiations for the settlement of the controversy were reported to be proceeding in New York. Miss Perkins had one of her representatives keep in touch with the negotiators so that he could have his picture taken along with John L. Lewis of the miners' union whenever a news story appeared about the conferences.

Here was the most crippling strike the country has seen in a long time. It was in a vitally important defense industry. It threatened to delay the output of many defense materials. A defense mediation board had been created for the very purpose of preventing strikes and settling them. But Secretary Perkins for more than three weeks refused to permit the defense mediation organization to step in. And there is the silly requirement that the defense mediators cannot act until she gives the word.

When Madam Perkins finally did give the right of way to the defense mediators feelings had become too hot for them to be effective. Finally the President intervened. On April 28 it was announced that he had persuaded parties to resume operations generally pending the negotiation of a new contract.

The results of this unnecessary strike were disastrous. By the end of last week 20 blast furnaces had ceased operations due to a shortage of coke caused by the coal strike. The reduction in pig iron production was 15,000 tons daily. The steel trade papers state that even if full operations are resumed at once it will be several weeks before coke ovens can get a replenished supply of coke. It has been estimated that the steel available for defense purposes has been reduced by 1,000,000 tons by the strike.

Other Presidents have intervened before to settle coal strikes when clearly no national emergency existed. The fact that nothing was effectively done to prevent the strike or to end it promptly indicates either that the administration is incompetent beyond all belief or that the Roosevelt cry of "Wolf, wolf," should not be taken too seriously.

WHICH IS IT?

Corporation Counsel Hodes, in a brief objecting to reopening of the hoodlum owned Klever-Shampay cleaning and dyeing plant, lists the following law violations at the plant:

Openings have been made in firewalls and fire-doors have been removed without permission of the city.

A second floor, declared to be unsafe, was added to one of the buildings without a city permit.

Another building in which cleaning was done was added in violation of city ordinances.

Electrical wiring is defective.

Fire extinguishers, exit signs, and exit lights are not provided as required by law.

Mr. Hodes seems to have enough evidence there to justify padlocking a church, let alone an establishment engaged in a dangerous business and run as an adjunct of the Nitti gang. However, the disclosure of these violations at this particular time raises a couple of interesting questions.

Are the city health and building departments as lax in their inspections and law enforcement everywhere as they seem to have been at the Klever-Shampay plant?

AT HIS WORST.

[Detroit Free Press.]

Mr. Roosevelt appears at his worst when, from the vantage of his powerful position, he stoops to attack a private citizen personally and with invective. Such an attack upon Senator Wheeler some months ago recoiled against him. In singling out Col. Lindbergh as a special target of abuse in his press conference Friday, he took away some of the dignity and luster of his great office. Invective and billingsgate are the usual thing from Ickes and his ilk, but not from a President of the United States.

Col. Lindbergh may be as wrong about England's chances as a man can be—and it is not difficult to believe that he hopes that he is—but whatever his secret wishes he has cleaved to the line of warning his countrymen of the situation abfoad as he sees it.

This has required courage of the strongest sort. That is more than can be said of his high positioned opponents who pretended that administration policies were keeping the United States out of war, until now, when the pretense has worn so thin that it can no longer be kept up.

MR. PEPYS TAKES A WALK.

3d May—The other night did dine with Master Elmer Kenyon, the traveling Shakespearean scholar who can explain why Helen Hayes wears pants in "Twelfth Night," and after our repast said to him, "Come now and stretch your legs, and I will show you something." So we crossed the bridge and fared north on the avenue, where he wondered at the quaintness of the Italian court. Then we turned off into Rush street and I pointed out an old mansion, now a café, where there is a basin in which Edward of Windsor once washed his face, like any plain mortal, when he was prince of Wales.

Past the old houses and the new night clubs we fared, and Master Kenyon said, "Has this district got a name?" So I told him I called it Towertown, but the name was not generally accepted and people merely said, "The near north side." He thought it mighty quaint and more worth looking at than similar districts in eastern cities. So I told him this and that, and we went on until we turned off into Astor street, where Master Kenyon, who has journeyed much abroad, marveled at the houses with their doorways in all kinds of styles. It is a narrow street, and dark, and no one seems to walk there, yet here on either side were homes of old families, and Master Kenyon was reminded, now of London, now of Paris. One massive mansion, standing alone like a dark fortress with a great arch for the carriage portal, he pronounced to be like some ancient palace in Florence.

So we went on until we came to the park, and Master Kenyon had seen a part of Chicago he never dreamed of, and was much impressed. Now he goes about, asking every Chicagoan he meets if they have ever walked down Astor street at night and, oddly enough, none of them has done so.

A Torchlight Procession, May 2, 1865.

Seventy-six years ago last night a great crowd assembled at the courthouse square. The Sherman house was draped in purple and black. The Lamar building on the northeast corner of Washington and Clark was draped in black. In this building Lincoln, five years before, had argued one of the famous sandbar cases in the United States District court. Business houses everywhere were draped in mourning.

Forty thousand people had taken a last look upon the face of the Great Emancipator within the past 24 hours. But still they came. They protested when the doors of the council chamber were closed.

At 8:45 p. m. the doors at the Washington street entrance to the courthouse were opened. A waiting hearse which cost $5,000, drawn by four horses, received all that was mortal of Abraham Lincoln. He rested in a walnut coffin costing $1,000. Thousands lined the sidewalks. In the block on La Salle to Monroe 2,000 men were assembled. At a given signal they lit torches, and as the band started playing "The Lincoln Dirge" they swung into line to light the way. The march was west on Washington street to Market, south on Market to Madison, west on Madison over the old swing bridge to Canal, thence south on Canal to the old C. & A. station. At 9:30 the train slowly moved out of the station. The courthouse bells and all church bells tolled a last farewell.

PROMPT ACTION IN CHILDHOOD EMERGENCIES.

THE care of children requires great alertness on the part of physicians. Young boys and girls, altho truthful, may not be able to describe their "pains" accurately. Furthermore, babies are obliged to express themselves thru squirming and crying. Then, too, illness may be accompanied by symptoms so violent as to be out of proportion to the severity of the disease. As we know full well, "strep" germs growing in the throat may produce about as much poison in a youngster as in an adult.

We must recall also that a given ailment in a grownup, as a rule, offers plenty of opportunity for study and treatment. In a small patient the same condition may prove puzzling. Take appendicitis, for example. A tot may be seized suddenly with vomiting and periodic pains in the abdomen which, after a time, become steady and persistent. The temperature may not exceed 101 degrees Fahrenheit but the abdomen feels rigid and the mother will relate that constipation has been present for a day or two. It is always wise to make a count of the white blood cells as, in some cases, pneumonia will exhibit similar manifestations. Many a victim of this latter malady has been rushed to the hospital with a mistaken diagnosis of an acute appendix.

Another urgent episode is obstruction of the bowel, and infants are quite susceptible. A loop of the intestine may slip within a neighboring segment [like the lining of a sleeve]. This effectually prevents the passage of food materials. This disorder usually attacks those between 6 months and 1 year of age. The onset is sudden, vomiting is marked, and loose stools are characteristic. After a time, only blood mixed with mucus will seep thru the rectum. In contrast with appendicitis, the abdomen is not firm but soft, flaccid, and relaxed. Occasionally a mass at the point of stoppage can be felt.

Children are prone to swallow or inhale small articles. If the object in question travels safely to the stomach, there is little need for concern—even tho it be an open safety pin. It goes without saying, however, that the doctor should be notified. On the other hand, should it lodge somewhere between the throat and the gastric pouch, or enter the trachea or a bronchial tube—prompt action may be necessary to save life. Fortunately, we have specialists trained in the use of electrically lighted instruments which can pass down the trachea or the esophagus, and by means of which the obstacle can be extracted.

The old fashioned method of upending the youngster may provoke a sufficiently powerful fit of coughing to release the plug. We should look to foreign bodies to explain hoarse breathing or fits of choking, as well as to disease, such as diphtheria.

Convulsions are always alarming. They may occur because the nervous system cannot stand a high temperature. The skin is cold and clammy. The best remedy is a quick plunge into a warm bath that contains one-half teacupful of ground mustard. This will restore the circulation to the skin. The thermometer may record 104 degrees or even higher. Quick measures must be used to lower the fever and one of the best plans is to irrigate the colon with cool [not iced] water.

Poisoning calls for expert aid at the earliest possible moment. We can reduce such accidents to the minimum by keeping toxic substances out of reach of our little ones. We must recall that solutions, powders, and sprays—strong enough to kill insects—may prove dangerous.

TRUMPET TROUBLE.

F. G. writes: My ears clog up when I play the trumpet. What causes this?

REPLY.

Too much pressure on the hearing mechanism within the middle ear. We must recall that these important spaces are connected directly with the upper portion of the pharynx, by means of the Eustachian channels. If you don't believe it, close the nostrils and the mouth and blow gently. If the tubes are open you can feel the drums "pop."

CRY BABY.

Miss L. writes: When my baby sister was born she had tears in her eyes. The nurses at the hospital said this was unusual. What is this a sign of?

REPLY.

It must have been a sad event—or were they tears of joy? There really is nothing abnormal about the incident.

BUT MILLIONS ARE STILL IDLE.

Oconto, Wis., April 30.—Surely there has been no political party in history as lucky as the New Deal Democratic party. Thruout a period of eight years an army of 10 million remained unemployed. Along came the war scare and the unemployed were absorbed when for eight years the New Deal had failed to accomplish the job.

Then for eight years billions of dollars of taxpayers' money was wasted. Again war came to the rescue. The New Dealers are spot-lighting defense costs and taxing everything but the kitchen sink. The gullible public is forgetting about all those billions which were poured down millions of rat holes by the New Deal crackpots. That, of course, is the main reason for this wholesale taxation; but this defense business covers the whole thing up nicely. The financial muddle created by eight years of the New Deal, the unemployment problem they failed to solve for eight years, is all covered up by a war smoke screen. A READER.

OIL WILL WIN THE WAR.

Glen Ellyn, Ill., May 1.—Leaving out the worthiness or unworthiness of either side of the present war, the struggle will be won by the side that controls enough gasoline and oil to run all the machinery that will be brought into action. Without lubrication it will be worth less than nothing. Take for granted that Germany started with large supplies, is it enough to carry thru beyond the present situation or can they get more to replace it? All we hear of European supplies is Rumania, Iraq, and Iran. Can these sources be segregated so the axis will not get to them?

There is oil in east Texas right now, not to mention Kansas, Oklahoma, central Texas, even Michigan and Illinois, Louisiana, Arkansas, to keep the allies until the war is won if we can get it to them. That is our greatest part after supplying them with airplanes, bombers, warships, patrol boats, etc.

There is so much underground in this country that for years we have been going on the assumption that it was cheaper to keep it underground than to bring it up and pay for storage.

Don't forget all this when doing your thinking. Petroleum will win the war.

IN DEFENSE OF FIREWORKS.

Chicago, April 29.—Yesterday I read an editorial in your paper about a bill to prohibit the retail sale of fireworks in Illinois. You painted a gruesome picture, deploring eyes blown out by the dozen and fingers being lost. I am sure that if such a bill is passed the number of people hurt by the bill would by far exceed the number of injuries if the present fireworks laws are maintained.

There are seven fireworks concerns in the Chicago area alone that would be put out of business by a state-wide ban on fireworks. Hundreds of employés of these concerns would be out of a job, and many of these workers are aged and would not be able to find employment anywhere else. Beside that, there are millions who enjoy the wholesome, patriotic entertainment afforded by fireworks they shoot off themselves every July 4.

There are the hundreds who operate fireworks stands and depend on that income to pay their taxes, finance a car, or other things. AN AMERICAN BOY.

THE REFUGEE DOCTORS.

Chicago, May 1.—This is a reply to the "Apothecary" who out of "pure compassion" advises the refugee doctors to volunteer their services for Britain after their "headlong flight from England."

To my knowledge these refugee physicians did neither come nor flee from England. They all came as legal immigrants to America under the quota of their respective countries. Like other aliens of draft age they are subject to the selective service act. They have not the slightest intention of evading the draft by departing for England. Any alien who refuses to give his military services to the United States will lose forever his right to become an American citizen.

"Apothecary" would be surprised to learn how many of these refugee doctors are already in the armed forces of the U. S. A.—many of them as volunteers. Refugee physicians outside America have volunteered in overwhelming numbers for the British army.

Incidentally many of these refugee physicians are well known scientists, and specialists, and admittedly a credit to America. Many volunteered their services for the local draft boards as examining physicians—these services are given, as known, without any compensation.

No unfair and un-American insinuations will make these "refugee" doctors waver in their firm determination to be loyal, law abiding American citizens. They will fight and die for only one flag—the Star Spangled Banner. A REFUGEE DOCTOR.

HISTORY IN PICTORIAL FORM.

Chicago, April 29.—Thanks editor, for your page of flags. The more we have about the good history of this country in a quick reading pictorial form the better for those who do not and cannot take much time for reading and those who of late boast of every other country but the U. S. A.

Also I admire your stand about Col. Lindbergh and your willingness to print the truth about this administration. I am a citizen by birth and since the 16th century, when my ancestor came here looking for freedom. I hope we don't lose it. P. M. G.

THE CYCLIST'S LAMENT.

Chicago, April 30.—"Ride your bikes carefully!"

Ha, ha, isn't that a hot one? When we ride on the streets the motorists yell at us. When we ride on the sidewalks the pedestrians yell at us. When we ride in the park the policemen make us take the air out of our tires.

Where the heck are we going to ride? In our back yards? SCOTTEE.

Chicago, April 29.—What this country needs is a constitutional amendment prohibiting press conferences. M. D.

IN LAND OF MAKE-BELIEVE.

Mason City, Ia., April 30.—Melvyn Douglas, the movie actor, is shouting for war. Melvyn Douglas is a young man and wealthy. Why doesn't he board a Clipper plane for Britain and join the shooting? Perhaps Melvyn prefers the rôle of vocal warrior, à la Douglas Fairbanks Jr.

Contrast these two with Actor James Stewart. The top performer of last year now gives a top performance in the United States army. James Stewart was no war agitator and he accepts the discipline, drudgery, and $21 a month in the same willing spirit as Joe Doakes of Yourtown.

The crying need of the land of make-believe [Hollywood] is more Jimmy Stewarts and fewer Melvyn Douglases.

TITLE TO PROPERTY.

Chicago, April 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My mother and father own [1] jointly an undivided half of a piece of real estate and my wife and I own the other half. I am the only son.

2. If my mother and father both die would their undivided half pass automatically to me?

Would there be any government taxes that I would have to pay to have title to their undivided half in the event of their deaths?

4. Would a will properly executed make a transfer any easier? M. L.

1. If the deed expressly provides for "joint tenancy" as distinguished from "tenancy in common," then on death of one of the tenants the title will go to the survivor without necessity for probate and to the exclusion of the heirs or devisees of the one who dies first [33 C. J. 908, 915]. The half that thus passes by survivorship is subject to inheritance tax.

If title is already in one of the parties, the creation of the joint tenancy involves an intermediate conveyance to a third party, who will then reconvey to the intended joint tenants, using a joint tenancy obtainable from a stationer. Make sure that the third party is not subject to judgment liens.

As to personal property, the Illinois statute says that the "will or other instrument in writing" must express "an intention [presumably that of the previous owner] to create a joint tenancy . . . with the right of survivorship." The mere fact that money is deposited to the account of "A and B" or of "A or B," or that A and B have joint access to a safety box containing bearer bonds, would not be enough. 3. C. J. 908, 915; 19 C. J. 473.

2. Yes, assuming that you are the only heir and that no other provision is made by will.

3. Not unless the value exceeds $20,000.

4. It wouldn't make much difference, but if the title was placed in joint tenancy with you such action would remove the necessity for probate.

STATE & ADAMS — STATE 2500

Reconciliations Disclosed in 229 Inactive Cases.

Circuit Judge Cornelius J. Harrington learned yesterday that 229 of 389 couples with divorce proceedings inactive on the court docket for more than a year had become reconciled and consented to dismissal of their cases.

In 88 more cases, attorneys for the litigants informed the judge that the divorce action had been abandoned and that, altho they were unable to determine definitely that there had been reconciliations, they believed this to be the case.

Only 45 of the 389 litigants reported that the divorce action in Circuit court had not been pressed because decrees had been obtained elsewhere, and only 27 persuaded the court to reinstate their cases on the ground that they had not been notified of the call.

Some Cases 10 Years Old.

Judge Harrington sent out inquiries after holding a recent call of 600 divorce cases in which there had been no action for at least a year, and in some instances for 10 years. Attorneys for 211 litigants gave reasons acceptable to the court for nondismissal, but the 389 cases in which there was no response were dismissed.

Judge Harrington said that the high proportion of reconciliations—59 per cent of the 389 cases, and, possibly, 81 per cent if those not completely verified were counted—was a surprise to him.

The judge is one of a group sponsoring a bill to create a conciliation court, in which divorce litigants would appear prior to a divorce hearing, and, with the assistance of doctors, pastors, and social service workers, see if there was a possibility of a reconciliation. He said the figures on reconciliation indicated the merit of the plan for such a court.

Plan Would Save Court Costs.

"The responses support a long prevalent belief that many divorce cases are filed in haste or in the heat of passion, and that after a period of time repentance comes and the person filing has a chance to get a calmer view and becomes convinced of the merit of reconciliation," Judge Harrington said. "The reconciliation court would function in such cases and would obviate the necessity of filing divorce action. This would save the litigants court costs and the courts valuable time."

Critics of the conciliation court plan have pointed out that the Court of Domestic Relations, a branch of the Municipal court, now offers substantially the same services as the contemplated conciliation court.

OZARK STUDENT GROUP SEES CITY SIGHTS IN A DAY

Eighty-seven young Missourians from the foothills of the Ozarks had to be shown yesterday that Chicago is all that it claims.

Graduating high school students of Excelsior Springs, they traveled 1,000 miles and sat up two nights in a chair car on the Rock Island railroad to do it. They arrived at the La Salle street station at 9:30 a. m. and departed at 8:30 p. m., having visited the Board of Trade building, Aquarium, Field museum, Planetarium, Marshall Field's store, International House at the University of Chicago and Chinatown.

"It sure was an interesting day," said one of the visitors. "But Chicago is too big. Bet it would take a whole week to really see it."

The class had saved $1,000 for the trip thruout the year, selling candy and peanuts between basketball games, holding rummage sales and sponsoring a carnival.

FALSE ALARM COLLISION KILLS WOMAN; 2 HURT

Search for the person or persons responsible for turning in false alarms on the south side was redoubled yesterday when a woman motorist was killed and two firemen were injured in a collision between an automobile and a fire truck speeding to answer a false alarm. It was the 66th false alarm since Jan. 1 on the south side.

Emil Oravec, 59, of 1240 North Keeler avenue, a handy man, died in St. Anne's hospital shortly after he was knocked down by a car driven by Russell Lipari, 21, of 4912 Iowa street, in front of 4545 Augusta boulevard.

Leroy Smith, 2, colored was fatally injured when a truck driven by Henry Evans, 17, colored, 3522 Rhodes avenue, ran over him back of his home at 3142 Cottage Grove avenue.

Mrs. Callie Wilson, 25 years old, colored, 6145 Indiana avenue, was the woman killed. The accident occurred at 55th street and Park avenue while fire engine company 61 was on the way to answer an alarm turned in from 57th street and University avenue. The injured firemen were Walter Reilly, 32, of 3538 Emerald avenue, and Edmund Mack, 37, of 2130 North Kedzie avenue.

August Peters, 89 years old, of 2720 Melrose street, died in Martha Washington hospital early today of injuries received Friday when he was struck by an automobile at California avenue and Melrose street. The driver was Bernard Fiegenholtz, 40, of 1424 South Ridgeway avenue.

Andrew Washington, 13, colored, of 3753 South Park way, was injured fatally last night at 37th street and South Park way when struck by a taxicab driven by Theodore George, 33, also colored, 635 East 49th street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 277 persons had been killed by automobiles since Jan. 1. Of these 211 were killed in Chicago, where 7,218 were injured in the same period.

JUDGE SUSPENDS LICENSE OF 1 ARM DRIVER FOR YEAR

County Judge Olney C. Allen in Geneva yesterday suspended for one year the driving license of Frank Cain, 29 years old, who was charged with driving while intoxicated. Cain, a former justice of the peace in Bristol, Kendall county, was arrested Dec. 27 when his car, traveling at a high rate of speed, sidewiped another car, then crashed into a tree near Aurora. Cain has only one arm and one leg. Judge Allen suspended a six months' state prison farm sentence on Cain's plea that he had previously driven 500,000 miles without an accident.

ARMED FORCES TO FIGHT IT OUT WITH ANSWERS

W-G-N to Introduce Quiz Show at Camps.

A new radio quiz in which men of the military and naval forces are to compete will be offered over W-G-N for the first time from 7 to 7:30 tonight. The quiz, titled Play Ask-It-Ball, will be aired tonight from the Great Lakes Naval Training station before 1,500 men in the drill hall.

Other Broadcasts Planned.

Subsequent broadcasts will come in order from Fort Sheridan, Camp Grant, Rockford; Camp Forrest, Tullahoma, Tenn.; Naval Reserve Aviation Training base, Glenview, and the Naval Reserve Midshipmen's school, Northwestern university. On each program the men will compete for cash prizes. W-G-N will award a silver trophy to the champion of the "league."

Ask It Ball follows the principle of baseball. A team of five is chosen from the audience. On stage is a large diagram of a diamond. Contestants are pitched questions. These relate to 15 subjects, among them movies, baseball, football, music, notables, historical dates, and state capitals.

How They Score.

The first man up selects a subject and the questioning continues on that subject for an inning. The questions may be one base [easy], two base [harder], three base [still harder], with the toughest reserved for home runs. These pay from one to four dollars in order, if answered correctly.

A correct answer to a No. 1 question puts a "runner" on first in the diagram. Then it's up to his teammates to bring in as many runs as possible. A missed question counts as a strikeout.

After two swings around the entire league of teams, taking 12 weeks, scores will be tallied and the champion team crowned on the basis of total runs.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 2.—Director of Public Works Walter A. Rosenfield this afternoon ordered analysis of 13,000 gallons of paint stored in highway department garages since Gov. Dwight Green was inaugurated last January. The supply was bought during the 100 day administration of former Gov. John Stelle, whose purchasing agent was George Edward Day, Springfield paint merchant.

Rosenfield issued his order after receiving reports from his highway engineers that stripes marking "no passing zones" were fading prematurely from state pavements. He was also told that these stripes were in a variety of colors, ranging from red to yellow, altho there was only one specification.

The director indicated that he might want to return some of this 13,000 gallons to the vendors, but he said he anticipated difficulty in doing so. The state checks for the purchases were issued before Gov. Green took office. The price, according to highway engineers, was $1.42 a gallon, as compared with $1.22 and $1.23 paid for previous purchases in much smaller quantities.

QUILICI SHIFTED TO CIVIL BRANCH OF CITY COURT

Chief Justice Edward S. Scheffler of the Municipal court announced yesterday the new monthly assignments of judges for the various branches of the court. The assignments were the first made by Judge Scheffler since he was elected temporary chief justice a week ago to fill the vacancy left by the death of Judge John J. Sonsteby.

Judge George L. Quilici, who two week ago refused a request of the state's attorney's office to reassign a case in the criminal jury branch involving charges of rioting against two CIO workers, was transferred from that court to the civil branch. The defendants were dismissed by Judge Quilici, who represented the CIO while he was practicing law. Judge Scheffler said Quilici's transfer was routine and had nothing to do with the case. Judge Michael Tremko will take the criminal jury assignment.

Other assignments were: Judge Thomas A. Green to the Town Hall, Racine avenue, and Chicago avenue courts; Judge Jay A. Schiller, Felony court; Judge Oscar S. Caplan, Safety court; Judge Joseph H. McGarry, Domestic Relations court; Judge Leon Edelman, Stock Yards and Wabash avenue courts, and Judge Justin F. McCarthy, Shakespeare avenue, Fillmore street, and Des Plaines Street court.

HEALTH MENACE ARGUED IN LAKE DIVERSION PLEA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 2.—In arguing for a temporary increase in the diversion of water from Lake Michigan into Chicago sewage channels, Assistant Attorney General Albert J. Meserow of Illinois today told the Supreme court of the United States that "equitable principles" should guide the court's decision.

"On the one side, the side of Illinois, you have a menace to the health of residents living near the waterways," he said. "On the other side, the side of the Great Lakes states, you have the possible deprivation of property rights in the lowering of lake levels."

Illinois has requested a temporary increase in diversion averaging 2,000 cubic feet a second in 1941 and 1,250 cubic feet in 1942. It contends the added lake water is necessary to eliminate nauseating odors from stagnant waters which are particularly offensive to the Joliet-Lockport area.

A special master appointed by the Supreme court, Monte M. Lemann of New Orleans, recommended that the increase be denied.

CHICAGO ALUMNI TO LAUNCH DRIVE FOR BLACKBURN

Chicago alumni of Blackburn college, Carlinville, Ill., will hold their annual meeting tonight in the Central Y. M. C. A. as the college prepares to launch a campaign to raise $500,000 in new endowment. The center of the campaign will be in Chicago, where offices will be opened Monday in the Harris Trust building.

President William M. Hudson will be the principal speaker at the alumni dinner meeting, and will describe advances made in the 10 years since the Chicago alumni group was formed. Blackburn's endowment now stands at about 1 million dollars, and the college has $500,000 in new fireproof buildings. Additional funds are needed to enable the college to accept more of the 3,000 applicants each year. At present 185 freshmen yearly is the limit.

Blackburn lays claim to being one of America's most "exclusive" colleges, since only carefully selected young people who cannot afford a college education elsewhere are permitted to attend. Each student works 15 hours a week for the college.

On June 9 Gov. Dwight Green will give the commencement address, and George Herbert Jones, Chicago philanthropist, will break ground for a new building made possible thru his gifts to the Blackburn.

Edgar Uihlein and Lucia Ellis to Wed Today

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE thousands who have gone to Louisville, Ky., for the running of the Derby, and the other thousands who are looking forward to an early spring week-end in the country, aren't the only ones hoping for sunny skies today. There are several weddings taking place, some of them out of town, to which a shining sun will contribute a final touch of perfection.

One of the prettiest will be the ceremony in which Miss Lucia Long Ellis will become the bride of Edgar J. Uihlein Jr., son of Mr. Uihlein of Chicago and Lake Bluff. It will take place this afternoon in the chapel of Long View Farm, the Lee's Summit, Mo., home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pryor Combs.

Miss Ellis, daughter of Rear Admiral and Mrs. Hayne Ellis of Washington, D. C., is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Long of Kansas City. She will be given in marriage by her father, who will be wearing the full dress uniform of the navy. The Rev. George Hamilton Combs will read the service, and the chapel will be filled with white lilacs, white roses, and ferns from the conservatory on the farm.

Bride to Wear Mother's Handsome Wedding Gown.

Miss Ellis will wear her mother's handsome wedding gown of rare duchess lace and satin. Her veil will be held on with white lilacs, and she will carry a bouquet of these fragrant blossoms. The feminine attendants will be in hyacinth and pink, and will carry large hats filled with lavendar lilacs. They are Miss Jean Heiberg of Washington, D. C., who will be maid of honor; Mrs. Thomas E. Wells [Carolyn Chapman], of Lake Forest; Miss Janet Tschudy and Miss Carol Hagerman of Kansas City.

The bridegroom's father will be his best man. Ushering will be a cousin of the bridegroom, Edwin A. Seipp Jr., John Haubers of Everett, Wash., and Long Ellis of Washington, D. C. A reception will follow at the farm house.

Mr. and Mrs. Seipp Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Eugene du Pont III., and Mrs. Albert Trostel of Milwaukee are some of those who have gone to the wedding. Mr. Uihlein and his bride will go to Bermuda on their wedding trip and will make their home in Chicago.

James Fitzmorris Being Married in Missouri Today.

Another Missouri wedding this afternoon in that of Miss Theodosia Stark and James Fitzmorris, who are being married in the rose garden of the Louisiana, Mo., home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stark. Their house is situated high on a hill, and just now it is surrounded with apple blossoms.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Fitzmorris, Charles Jr., who is to be best man, and Mrs. John W. Brittingham [Grace Fitzmorris], are in Louisiana. Miss Helen Stark will be her sister's maid of honor, and their little cousins, the son and daughter of Gov. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Stark, will be ringbearer and flower girl. Mr. Fitzmorris and his bride will make their home in Kenilworth.

Many Chicagoans Going to Louisville for Derby.

Among the many Chicagoans at Churchill Downs in Louisville today for the running of the 67th Kentucky Derby will be the David A. Crawfords, who had no intention of going until Thursday when Mr. Crawford wired Mrs. Crawford from Washington that Col. Matt Winn had sent him two tickets, so for her to pack her bag and meet him in Louisville this morning. They are starting for home tonight so their stay will be short, but sweet, they hope.

The senior and junior Charles Y. Freemans and the young Cyrus H. Adamses will be occupying one of Stuyvesant Peabody's finish line boxes. Mr. Peabody and fourteen friends are flying down this morning. Among Mr. Peabody's guests are Harold Stuart, Charles S. Schweppe, Howard Vincent O'Brien, Foster Hannaford, Chauncey Borland, George Mitchell, Otto Gressens, C. S. Ellis, George W. Reed, Gerald Cudahy, and John F. Gilchrist. The young Robert F. Carrs, the Woolsey McA. Pollocks, Mr. and Mrs. John MacLeish, and the Edwin S. Fords will be others in the huge throngs at the track. The Fords are guests of the Warren Wrights at their Calumet Farms.

French Lick Springs Filled with Race Fans.

French Lick Springs, which is only a little more than 50 miles from Louisville, is filled this week-end and most of the guests will be going to the Derby. Celebrities of all sorts are there, including Joe E. Brown, Charles S. Howard, and Gov. Dwight H. Green. Mrs. George E. Van Hagen and her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Van Hagen, who seldom misses an afternoon at Arlington during the season, for their home is in Barrington, not far from the Arlington track, are at French Lick and will be going on to Louisville.

Among others staying at the spa are the Abner Stilwells, the Paul Walkers, the Gordon Cannings, and the Charles Bidwills.

Some of those who will be enjoying their Kentucky Derby at home will hear the race in the International club at the Drake. The Bert L. Atwaters, the Benjamin Marshalls, the Arthur Bamfords, Mrs. Howard Ellis, Carleton Elmes, and the Frank Folsoms are among those who have made reservations for the Derby party. John Hoysradt, the satirist, will act as master of ceremonies.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, May 2.—"Birth of the Blues," the new Bing Crosby-Mary Martin-Brian Donlevy picture, concerns New Orleans when it was the cradle of swing . . . the home, for instance, of Nick La Rocca's Dixieland jazz band. It is being directed by one Victor Schertzinger, who has been quite busy making movies for 26 years. We may have forgotten, as Schertzinger almost has, that he was a musician himself once and that he wrote a number of hits. They weren't Dixieland stuff, he admits, but more on the gentle side. Remember "Marcheta?"

I remember "Marcheta," because it cost me a lot of money. There was a restaurant in Paris 15 years ago which had a gigolo violinist and this fellow would slither up to the table and ask the ladies what they'd like to have him play, and the lady who married me would always say, "Marcheta." This always called for a tip of 10 to 50 francs, depending on how well organized your correspondent was.

Schertzinger remembers "Marcheta," too. It brought him thousands of letters. Women would write in and say, "I have just had a daughter and I have named her Marcheta. Please tell me the story of the song."

Well, there wasn't any story. Schertzinger just wrote it and that was that. But the letters piled up, and one day Vic told the late Don Marquis about them. "You've got to have a story," said Don. "Those letters must be answered. Give me a little time and I'll fix up a story."

So Marquis wrote a lovely tale about a convent in an old Mexican city where a certain rose bush would produce wonderfully beautiful flowers only on a certain saint's day, and this bush was called the Marcheta. This became the official story about the song and everybody believed it, altho it was pure Don Marquis fancy.

Schertzinger enjoys "Birth of the Blues" because it's about the time when there were real songs. There aren't many real ones any more because there aren't many real melody writers. There are plenty of smart idea men who put out trick stuff, and there are many who reorchestrate the classics. Tschaikowsky has at least three of the year's top 10 hits, but there are precious few who create tunes. Jerome Kern and Irving Berlin, of course; they've been doing it for years. Dick Rodgers . . . yes, but he doesn't write enough. Vincent Youmans, there, if he hadn't fallen ill, might be the top man of them all.

To follow "Birth of the Blues" Schertzinger is preparing a picture with the delightful title, "Swing Me a Love Song"—and it's to be about adapting, or swiping, melodies from the classics and making them popular hits. As he envisions it, the finale will be an interesting three-in-one affair—a montage. The band of the moment will be playing the hit of the moment. Somewhere a symphony orchestra will be playing the classic the tune was stolen from. And on the street a hurdy-gurdy will be playing the original folk melody from which the symphony was stolen.

Herbert Anderson, who suddenly took the place of Eddie Albert in "Navy Blues," took his 86 year old grandmother, Frederica Anderson, on the set the other day, and Jack Oakie gave her the works. The works, from Oakie, is quite a production, for Jack is a guy whose energy is equaled only by his amiability. He topped his performance off with a respectful kiss and went his way. When he got out of earshot Mrs. Anderson said to her grandson, "Herbert, who could that be?"

The Kentucky Derby has cut into more shooting schedules than the recent rains. Anybody who has a dollar and can steal the time is headed for Churchill Downs. Howard Hawks turned over the last day's shooting of "Sergeant York" to an assistant so that he might make the races. . . . The Warners have bought the S. J. Perelmans' play, "The Night Before Christmas," for Edward G. Robinson.

Faintly pious thought, from a 20th-Fox publicity release: "Betty Grable's midriff is going to become as famous as Marlene Dietrich's legs or Lana Turner's sweaters."

Veterans of Santiago to Mark Anniversary

The 43d annual reunion of the Illinois branch, Society of the Army of Santiago de Cuba, will be held this evening in the Edgewater Beach hotel. Señor A. Montane Laredo, acting consul for Cuba, will present 148 citations and medals, which have just been brought from Cuba, to the various members of the society. The members served in the 5th corps, United States army, during the Spanish-American war.

Red Cross Workers Set 540,000 Relief Garments as Quota

The Volunteer Production corps of the Chicago chapter, American Red Cross, set itself a goal of 540,000 war relief garments to be made by the end of the year at a meeting yesterday in the Blackstone hotel. Present were 200 leaders of neighborhood and suburban units.

Mrs. Grace B. Pettengill, director of the chapter's production service, outlined the program and announced the quota of 15,000 women's sweaters, 37,000 children's sweaters, 17,000 layettes, 10,000 women's shawls, 41,000 pairs of boys' trousers, and 55,0000 woolen dresses for girls. A large quota of hospital garments also was set.

A half million surgical dressings for the United States army have been completed since last December, it was announced. The corps expects to make 3,000,000 before the year is ended.

Good Morning!

The tragic romance of Lord Nelson, England's greatest naval hero, and the lovely Lady Emma Hamilton, finds sympathetic interpretation in this picture which also propagandizes for England, likening the wars of the Nelson era to present day conflicts and referring to the ways of dictators and the manner in which they should be treated.

[Was the word—"dictator"—in use at the time? Know alls please answer.]

If Laurence Olivier isn't your idea—and mine—of Lord Nelson, we must still agree that he probes the man sincerely, seeking to show both the patriot and the lover in an honest light.

The same may be said of Miss Leigh, tho I do think her performance tops Olivier's. You know as well as I the chameleon like nature of her genius. She invariably takes on the color of the character she portrays. Fault with her can usually be laid to direction.

"There is no now. And there is no future. Only the past. . . ."

The tired voice of the wreck of Lady Hamilton whom you meet in the first scenes thus puts a finish to the picture which has been an illustration of the story started by the voice in the opening episode.

You meet Emma Harte when she appears at the British embassy in Naples. She has been sent there by her patron, Sir Charles Neville, to his uncle, Sir William Hamilton, ambassador, in exchange for the cancelation of Neville's many debts. . . . Emma, is seen as unwitting of the plan—and heartbroken when she discovers Neville had never intended to marry her. . . . But she is young and ambitious. She concentrates on Hamilton, becomes his wife and a great success in Naples. . . . When Lord Nelson calls at Naples after his successful Battle of the Nile, she is shown rendering him valuable assistance in obtaining needed aid from the king. . . . The two fall in love and Nelson tarries until ordered away. . . . Scandal rears its head.

But Fate brings the lovers together again. . . . Then war separates them—and death, which claims Nelson at the Battle of Trafalgar, makes the separation final.

A tremendously moving scene, that in which Capt. Hardy, Nelson's loyal aid, tells Lady Hamilton that her lover is no more; and in that scene Henry Wilcoxon does a notable bit of acting.

The film has been skillfully—tho a bit heavily—directed and supporting players are excellent, according special mention to Sara Allgood and Alan Mowbray. Settings and photography are just what they should be.

See you tomorrow.

As Bach Himself Might Have Heard It.

When Chicago's newest orchestra, the Illinois Symphonic ensemble, makes its debut at Kimball hall Monday night with Leo Kopp as conductor, the program will feature one of the oldest of musical instruments. Mr. Kopp is presenting Bach's Brandenburg concerto just as it was originally written for violin, two recorders and strings. The recorder, a member of the flute family, will be played by Mr. and Mrs. David Dushkin of Winnetka. The recorder was not only a drawing room favorite among the Elizabethan gentry, but, according to Mr. Dushkin, it was practically standard equipment in sixteenth century English barber shops where patrons amused themselves by performing on it while waiting for service.

A writer of the period describes the recorder as ". . . a very commodious instrument, always to be carried about by you, and, altho soft, yet loud enough to be heard in concert among 20 instruments; besides, never out of tune; nor can you well step out of tune, and all your divisions are clean and pleasing to the ear, and never grating on the high notes. . . ."

Shakespeare has Hamlet say that playing the recorder is "as easy as lying," but Mrs. Dushkin says that is not quite true.

Tailor.

A tailor in the Willoughby tower announces, by way of the lettering on his door, that he is a "Civil and Sporting Tailor." Civil to his customers and sporting about his bills, a new customer says he hopes.

Art and History Note.

Recent dispatches from the Balkan war front told of the fall of the Greek city of Missolonghi. One of the paintings in the current French show at the Art institute commemorates the fall of that city more than a century ago. It is Delacroix's Greece Expiring on the Ruins of Missolonghi. The town fell to the Turks in 1846 after a two year siege. But it rose again, and history has a habit of repeating itself.

Byron died at Missolonghi in 1824, where he had gone to help Greece in her fight for her liberation. His heart lies buried there altho his body was sent to England. All of which brings to mind a comment made by Author Dmitri Vaka, the Greek born Mrs. Kenneth Brown of Chicago, who has been speaking in behalf of Greek war relief. She said that Byron's name was a talisman to Greeks fighting in the first world war, and that he was one of the reasons why the Greeks love the British.

Cuff Notes.

Lauritz Melchior flew into Chicago from Atlanta, Ga., Thursday accompanied by "Kleinchen," his wife, and as usual spent most of the night playing the Danish card game, "l-hombre," with Fellow Danes Roger Chaveau, A. K. Mose, and Thirben Klems at the Kungsholm restaurant. . . . Anita Blair brought from Mexico a copy of "Amor," a popular Mexican song she liked, and gave it to Ramon Ramos at Camellia House, who is completing his own orchestration of it. . . . William Powell and his wife, Diana Lewis, were in Chicago the other day vacation bound. His famous mustache, which he had to shave off when he was making Love Crazy with Myrna Loy, because he does a female impersonation in the picture, is just beginning to grow back. "Thanks for recognizing it," Powell told a friend who commented on its reappearance. . . . Veloz and Yolanda—Yolanda wearing dark blue with a dark blue turban—were in town yesterday, shopping for a crib for the new baby, Frank, and departed by plane for the coast, whence they will return for their concert appearance next week. . . . Coleman Clark, table tennis expert at the College Inn, has figured out the official weight of a table tennis ball so that the layman can understand it. It weighs 40 grains, which is eight aspirin pills, or four headaches or two hangovers. . . . Nancy Shores, former Line poet, is back in town after some years in the orient and is completing a book, Philippine Primer.

Shoppers Find It's Really Fun Buying Clothes

BY REA SEEGER.

The fun starts now. Shoppers no longer choose clothes and costume accessories with the seriousness they expend on costly silks and tweeds and fine wools introduced at the exciting beginning of a season. Every one around the shops and stores is selecting late spring and early summer wardrobes with springtime gayety. Clever spring suits of darkish seersucker and the vividly colored country and garden clothes go out as fast as they can be wrapped and tied.

Casual clothes are off to a fine start of shopping popularity. Teaming dresses with coats is one of the most engrossing shopping stunts, for print dresses are bright and colorful, and the new coats that top them are even brighter.

There is one supershowing of such costumes. Yellow casual coats, straight and simple, are presented with a dozen or more dress possibilities, print, stripe and plain color in either contrast or blending color schemes. So are the many shades of green, raspberry cerise or flaming yellow red.

They've even featured purple and violet colored top coats ready to slide over the right shade of violet purple or lavender dresses. This is the promotion where shirtwaist dresses, spectator sports dresses and the swankly tailored dresses are as plentiful as the afternoon or more dress-parade models. Separate skirts and blouses or the smart skirt and sweater teams are also available. But the entire collection is dedicated to summer color. Accessories are easily assembled along with the dresses and coats. This is one of the most unusual color assembling promotions ever devised for the assistance of the busy shopper.

Two Weddings on North Shore Are of Interest

Two north shore weddings are of special interest today, those of Miss Alicia Wilson Barber and Dr. E. Robbins Kimball Jr. in Evanston, and of Miss Mary Louise McKisson and Haines Rennyson Merritt Jr. in Winnetka. Mrs. Charles Smith Barber is bringing a garden indoors for the home reception following the ceremony at 4:30 o'clock in St. Mark's church in which her daughter will become Mrs. Kimball.

The Rt. Rev. Frank Arthur McElwain, assisted by the Rev. Harold L. Bowen, will read the service. Bishop McElwain is the father of Mrs. Henry P. C. W. Barber, who will attend her sister-in-law along with Miss Louise Kimball, the bridegroom's sister. Harry Taylor of Akron, O., will serve as best man. Dr. Marshall Field and Bradford Tobey will usher.

Here for the ceremony are the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kimball of Franklin, N. H.; Mr. and Mrs. George W. H. Thomas of Summit, N. J.; Miss Washington Perine of Baltimore, Md.; the bride's cousins, Miss Mabel Whiteley and Mrs. Edwin Nash Broyles of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Cable G. Ball of Lafayette, Ind.; Thomas Powers of Cleveland, O.; and the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. John Mullin of Atlanta.

After a southern trip Dr. Kimball and his bride will be at home in Evanston.

Bridesmaids in orchid and yellow will precede Miss McKisson to the altar of the Winnetka Congregational church chapel at 4:30 o'clock. Spring flowers are the motif for the ceremony, with white iris and valley lilies in the bride's bouquet and pansies in the bridesmaids'. Miss McKisson will wear an heirloom diamond bracelet given to her by Mrs. Louise K. Wentz of Indianapolis, Ind., for whom she was named.

Miss Nancy McKisson is at home from Duke university to be her sister's maid of honor. Miss Jane Darrow, Miss Miriam Bartlett, Miss Barbara Reed, and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Jane Merritt of East Aurora, N. Y., are bridesmaids. Everett Woodman of Boston is to be best man.

Here for the wedding and reception following in the Winnetka home of the Robert W. McKissons, parents of the bride, are Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Sr. of East Aurora; the bride's grandmother, Mrs. John C. McKisson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. McKisson, John McKisson, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hiett and their daughter, Dorothy, all of Toledo, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Hendrickson of Indianapolis, Miss Mary Reisinger of New York, and several of the bridegroom's friends from Buffalo and East Aurora. The young Merritts will be at home after June 1 at Old North farm, East Aurora.

In a quiet ceremony at 4 o'clock this afternoon Miss Martha Ann Mitchell, daughter of the Ernest L. Mitchells of Lewiston, Mo., will become the bride of John E. Turner, youngest son of the Tracy L. Turners. The wedding will take place in the John Timothy Stone chapel of the Fourth Presbyterian church, the Rev. Harrison Ray Anderson officiating. Only the families will be present.

Mr. Turner Jr. will be his brother's best man, and another brother, Foster

Scout Leaders Told Confusion Bars Progress

Dr. H. H. Giles of Ohio State university, a leader in the Progressive Education society, yesterday told Girl Scout leaders that confusion, not money, materials or Hitler, is the greatest enemy to development. He spoke in the Stevens hotel at the 17th annual conference of Girl Scout leaders in the Great Lakes region.

"Young people," he explained, "who are told that they should learn to work hard and are unable to find a job are necessarily confused. We have denied young people the most important right of all—the right to responsible participation."

Adults will have to clarify their own thinking, he added, in order to help young people to clarify theirs.

"It is time for every adult and every social agency," he said, "to find out how youth can be aided to work and to learn about community services, the conduct of schools, the development of home and family life, and the development of the arts from painting to human relationships."

Dr. Giles last summer conducted a workshop on secondary education at the University of Chicago. The Scout leaders are meeting to adapt their program to the needs of the day, with emphasis on national defense.

Regional officers were reëlected at the business session preceding Dr. Giles' talk, with the exception of Miss Clementine Miller of Columbus, Ind., recording secretary, who resigned. Her duties were turned over to Mrs. Howard K. Jackson, 1039 Hollywood avenue, former corresponding secretary, who will fill both positions.

Mrs. Jabez H. Pratt, Oak Park, is regional chairman; Mrs. E. Sterling Pearce, Indianapolis, Ind., first vice chairman; Mrs. Walter Trego, Hoopeston, Ill., second vice chairman, and Mrs. Wellwood M. Nesbit, Madison, Wis., third vice chairman.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

From the notebook:

You couldn't find a more delightful gift for your fussy friends who are settling in new houses than a potpourri bowl. You would be doing right well by yourself to snag one for your very own, too.

In one shop there are some particularly lovely ones, gay and colorful and fragrant as an old fashioned garden. The bowls are wooden, in maple finish—good candy or nut bowls when their current career is ended, which won't be for a long time. They're filled with the dried blossoms of more than thirty flowers, with the blossoms arranged to give the best color effects. And the best effects are something to charm you.

The final blending of the fragrance of dried violets, delphinium, pansies, orange blossoms, and roses is enchanting. A bowl gives a beautiful clean perfume to living rooms or closets and is in itself such a thing of beauty any housewife would be proud to show it off.

In the same little shop within a shop, which is chock-full of herb things, there are some attractive and excellent pomander balls to hang in closets. These have a pungent, spicy scent and dangle from gayly colored ribbons. Their scent prevents mustiness and adds a touch of extra, gracious charm to clothes closet or linen cupboard. These too make handsome, different little gifts—and even better possessions. ELEANOR NANGLE.

'No' Habit Is Too Prevalent Disciplinarian

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright, 1941, By News Syndicate, Inc.]

Do you find yourself saying "No" much more often than you say "Yes" to your children? It's so easy to allow yourself to get into this habit, but it's a very unsatisfactory one, indeed.

I've been purposely "listening-in" on mothers and watching the reaction of children in this particular, and I've found that very often, altho not always, an affirmative, instead of a negative, answer could have been given in most instances with far better results all around.

So many grownups think that a child's request isn't important and, therefore, needn't be taken seriously, but it often is important to the child and worthy of thoughtful consideration.

Some children protest aloud their sense of frustration at the constant no-no-no of their adults, while others resent it inwardly and their dispositions suffer in consequence. If you can't think of any good reason why you shouldn't grant a child's request, then give your cheerful permission. You'll find that, in nine cases out of ten, you can say "Yes" instead of the everlasting "No," to the complete satisfaction of all concerned.

I know from experience how busy most mothers are with their household duties and the care of their children. It doesn't take much practice to slip into the habit of saying "No," but it certainly is a step in the right direction to determine, whenever possible, to make it a point to say "Yes" instead. If your children know that, within reason, their requests will be granted, they'll really be coöperative.

Augustana Synod Votes for Full Time President

Monmouth, Ill., May 2 [Special].—The Illinois conference of the Evangelical Lutheran Augustana synod today reversed its decision to have a part time president to administer its affairs and adopted a constitutional amendment to elect a full time president. The Rev. Dr. Oscar Benson, pastor of Salem church, Calumet avenue and 74th street, who was elected conference president a year ago on a part time basis, continuing his pastorate, was reëlected for a one year term. The conference will close Sunday afternoon with an address by the Rev. Dr. Ralph H. Long, head of the American Lutheran council.

Hard Case

By Luke Short

[Copyright: 1941: By Luke Short.]

SYNOPSIS.

A letter, whose address shows that Dave Coyle, notorious outlaw, is expected in Yellow Jacket, turns the town into an armed force, headed by Sheriff Beal and Deputy Ernie See. But Dave cleverly evades the forces, gets his letter, and goes to a room in the hotel to read it. The letter is from Carol McFee, and Carol follows Dave to the hotel to explain why she has written him. Her father is about to lose his ranch because Wallace has forged a deed and claims McFee sold the ranch to him. He is bringing Sholto to the trial to testify as witness to the sale. When Carol leaves, Dave's enemy, Will Usher, calls on Dave and proposes a truce and a partnership in kidnaping Sholto, making Wallace pay ransom. Thinking it will help Carol, Dave agrees, kidnaps Sholto, and when he turns him over to Usher he finds that Usher has double-crossed him and he escapes just in time to save his life, but leaves Sholto with Usher. Sheriff Beal finds the envelope Carol addressed to Dave and arrests McFee for kidnaping and possible murder. Wallace, knowing this refuses to pay ransom for Sholto, realizing if Sholto is murdered McFee will hang. Dave daringly walks into jail, gives himself up and plans to escape with McFee.

INSTALMENT XVIII.

FAKE FIGHT.

A little after 9 o'clock, Carol, wearing a dark maroon dress, and Senator Maitland were shown into the cell block. Ernie See led the way and he was carrying two chairs. He set them down in the corridor, motioned Carol and Maitland toward them and said, "Nobody gets in that cell. Also, I'm goin' to watch you from the end of that corridor."

Carol sat down, glancing swiftly at Dave, who was sleeping. Then she asked her father how he was, and they began to talk. Presently, Dave raised up on his cot and the talk ceased. All three of them looked at him.

Dave's face was cross. "You got the whole outdoors to jabber in," he said sourly. "I got a six by six cell. I'm tryin' to sleep. Shut up, will you?"

McFee said automatically, sternly, "Nobody talks to my daughter that way!"

"I did, didn't I?" Dave said truculently. He sat up and said to Carol, "Shut up, I said! I want to sleep." He looked at McFee. "How do you like that?"

McFee was genuinely angry. He had forgotten Dave's instructions, and that made it all the more convincing. He came over to the adjoining bars and said, "When I get out of here, I'll kick your pants clear up into your throat."

"Listen to grandpa," Dave jeered.

Carol rose and said indignantly, "Stop that, Dave Coyle!"

Senator Maitland said gently, "Here, here!"

Dave said jeerlingly to McFee, "You couldn't kick a mushroom over, grandpa. Don't brag."

"Step over here and see if I can't!" McFee cried.

Dave stepped over to him, and grabbed his nose and twisted it. McFee yelled, and lashed out at him thru the bars. Dave ducked, and came up and put his hand thru the bars, the flat of his palm against McFee's face. He pushed. McFee backed across the cell and sat down. Carol screamed. McFee growled in his throat and rushed at Dave, who hit him. McFee kicked him, and then grabbed Dave's shirt and ripped it. Dave slugged him in the stomach, and McFee clouted Dave alongside the ear.

All that happened before Ernie See arrived. He shoved Carol out of the way, unlocked the door, grabbed McFee by the collar of his shirt and yanked him away from Dave.

"Boys, boys," Ernie said mockingly. He was enjoying this, Dave could tell.

"Take him away from me," Dave said coldly. "I'll unscrew his head."

Carol said hotly to Dave, "You—you bully, you beast!"

Dave looked at her. "Shut up, sister, or I'll spank you."

Carol was so mad she couldn't speak. Senator Maitland's kindly face was distressed. "Please," he pled. "Let's act like human beings and not dogs."

Ernie See let go of McFee's shirt, and said, "Keep away from him."

"Take him out of there," Dave repeated. "I don't want him around me."

"That's just too bad," Ernie drawled ominously. "We always aim to please our customers, but I'm a little deaf. But I got a nice draughty cell over there by the window that's empty. One more ruckus like this and you'll go over there, mister."

Dave only sneered at him and went back to his cot. Ernie See said to Carol, "You better go, Miss. I may have to work him over to show him some sense."

"I hope you do!" Carol said indignantly, her eyes flashing. "He's—he's insufferable!"

She and Senator Maitland went out, and Ernie stood there in the cell block, watching Dave. "Tell me, sonny," he drawled. "You still goin' to break jail?"

"I'll break jail and your head and McFee's head," Dave said arrogantly. He turned over on his cot, his back to Ernie. Ernie laughed, and went out.

When he was gone, Dave sat up. McFee was rubbing his nose, and his eyes were angry. "You didn't have to insult Carol," he said.

"It looked good, didn't it?" Dave challenged, grinning.

"Yes," McFee said reluctantly. "I still don't see what you aim to do, tho."

Dave didn't say anything. He turned to his cot, a canvas covered one on a wooden frame. He jumped on one side with both feet, and the frame broke. He pulled the canvas away, took the broken frame and twisted it free of the end. What he held in his hand was a wooden club some three feet long and two inches thick. He hefted it, judged its weight and then looked at McFee.

"I think we better stick together when we get out of here," he said quietly. "You'd get caught if we split up and met."

McFee looked curiously at him. "But we aren't out."

"When we get out," Dave went on patiently, "I want you to stick with me. Understand?"

McFee, baffled, only nodded.

Dave gave him the club in his hand. "When I give the word we'll start yellin' and cussin'. That will bring Ernie and maybe Sheriff Beal in here. When they come in, I'll be lyin' on the floor, my nose bleedin', and I'll be unconscious. They'll ask you what happened. Tell them we got to fighting and that I broke the cot, grabbed a club, and started after you thru the bars. Tell them you took the club away from me and let me have it alongside the head. Ask 'em if I'm dead, and cuss me out. Make it look good. You got that?"

McFee nodded slowly, a scowl on his face. "But I don't understand—" Dave cut in on him. "Hit me in the nose."

"What?"

"Hit me in the nose."

McFee fisted his hands, looked down at them, then up at Dave and smiled. "I couldn't do that, not when—"

Dave drove a blow into McFee's face. The older man's head snapped back, and for one second there was a look of astonishment on his face, and then he lashed out at Dave thru the bars. When it was done, Dave had a bloody nose. His eyes were watering with the pain. He stood there a moment, letting the blood drip on his shirt. He said, "Muss your hair. Tear your shirt."

While McFee was doing it, Dave went over and jumped on the cot and it collapsed with a crash. Then Dave began to curse aloud, motioning McFee to join in. McFee did, and they yelled a torrent of abuse at each other.

In approximately a quarter of a minute, the first corridor door swung open, and then Dave heard the pounding of feet in the corridor.

He lay down on the floor, sprawled on his face, and looked up at McFee. McFee nodded grimly, and then Dave closed his eyes.

He heard the boots close now, and then Ernie See's hard voice, "Put that thing down, McFee!"

Dave heard a clatter of wood on the floor, and McFee, panting, said, "Dam right I will! I'm thru with it!"

"What happened?"

McFee said grimly. "Take a look at him! He started to argue with me, and then slugged me, and then he broke the cot, hauled out a hunk of wood and hit me!"

"But you got it now," Sheriff Beal's voice said.

"Pull your gun, Ernie. Let's take a look at Coyle," Beal said.

There was the sound of the door unlocking, and then they stood over Dave. Beal rolled him over roughly and looked at him. He shuttered up his eyelid, and Dave lay limp as a rag.

"Where'd you hit him?" Beal asked McFee.

"The head, I told you! I hope to hell it killed him!"

"So do I," Ernie said. He knelt by Dave and felt his skull and said, "Well, he ain't got a cracked head."

Aprons play a major rôle in every housewife's life, no matter whether her household consists of a one-room spinster apartment or a large house to accommodate a family. The two styles offered in these patterns will meet with universal approval. One is a full-fledged dress, while the other is an apron to cover one's frock and protect it.

Style No. 2689 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inch bust measurements.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

The player whose bridge philosophy can be summed up in the old saw "a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush" never will go very far at bridge. Very often it is logical to jeopardize one trick as a gilt-edged investment for two tricks. That was the case in today's hand.

West, dealer.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	Pass	2 hearts	3 diam.
3 spades	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
Pass	5 diam.	Pass	Pass
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the ace and king of hearts, then shifted to the king of spades. When the queen dropped from declarer he continued with the spade ace. Declarer ruffed with the queen and led a low trump to dummy's jack, ruffed another spade, led to the trump nine, and ruffed the fourth spade. A low club now was led to dummy's ace and a club returned. East, on lead with the king, had nothing but a heart to return. This, of course, allowed declarer to discard a club from one hand while ruffing in the other, thus saving a club loser.

East was not conscious of having helped the enemy, but he had done so nevertheless. A very simple and quite logical play would have increased the penalty by 200 points. All East had to do was play the club king on the ace. As a matter of fact, this play would have risked very little. The contract already was safely defeated. If declarer had the queen and jack of clubs the unblock of the king would, it is true, cost a trick, but surely this was a remote possibility. The course of play had revealed the distribution of all hands and West had been shown to have started with five clubs. If these included the queen and ten the unblocking play would gain a trick. Even if declarer had the queen and West the jack nothing would be lost by the unblock. The defenders still would win the only club trick available to them.

As I have stated repeatedly, a large proportion of all elimination and throw-in plays owe their success to the coöperation of a defender who hates to part with big cards.

Saturday, May 3.

The tide is now swinging toward the ebb flow; tighten up today and over the week-end; don't take risks, in business, romance or on the highway. Evening today warns against taking things for granted between the sexes, or man and boss.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead from today your birthday looks financially opportune; build reputation, prestige, Dec.-Apr., too. Your past debts, errors, must be cleaned up this year, new goals chosen. Danger: Jan. 18-Feb. 5.

Tomorrow.

Take it all calmly; better be a bit late than never arrive.

Spring song in the kitchen: Tender beet greens mixed into the salad, fresh rhubarb juice, new potatoes for old, Italian squashes, more fresh pineapple and strawberry shortcake.

Apples are very plentiful for this time of year. There are Rome Beauties and Willow Twigs for baking and pies, Delicious, Starks, Winesaps for eating out of hand and for salads.

"Waldorf" salad is better than ever with oranges in it. Use a lemon mayonnaise with this combination.

ORANGE WALDORF SALAD.

[Serves four.]

1½ cups diced, unpeeled apple
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Sprinkling of sugar
1 cup orange sections
½ cup diced celery
3 tablespoons chopped walnuts
Mayonnaise

Sprinkle apples with lemon juice and sugar. Combine with other ingredients and serve well chilled on lettuce or other greens.

White mulberry blossom honey from Guatemala is making its appearance in a number of Chicago stores. Butterscotch colored, it has a flavor all its own. Guatemala is abloom the year around, so there's no unemployment among its colonies of bees. Some of the bees make white mulberry blossom honey, others seek the blooms of banana, avocado, and coffee trees, but they never mix the flavors. Coffee blossom and banana blossom honeys from this Central American country are available, too.

One of the most attractive cookbooks in a long time is an amateur product. Compiled by the Evanston Infant Welfare Juniors from the favorite recipes of its members, all carefully tested over a year's time, it will make its first appearance before the public on Tuesday. Recipes are in neat, readable style; there are clever illustrations by one of the members of the group, Mrs. Joseph L. Corcoran, and the cover is a brilliant red.

Universal day—Excitement in the air. Speculative ideas in the news.

May—The month of May for the world in general is the kind of period which keeps every one in a state of jitters wondering which way events will shape up. The news will add to this nervous tension. There will be a lack of practical, down-to-earth reasoning but some of the inspirational thinking can be very heartening coming in the midst of the death struggle for power. There will be a great deal of talk about self-sacrifice, of service to others, and of coöperation as a means of gaining ultimate victory. There will be some worry and vacillation in the minds of the people.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox gathered behind the 0 year old Ted Lyons yesterday and went pell mell thru the ranks of the Yankees, late world champions, into second place. The venerable Lyons spun a five hitter in recording his second 1941 triumph and meanwhile his mates turned loose such a withering fire against Charles Ruffing, another mound patriarch, that the New Yorkers swooned, 8 to 1, before a Comiskey park ladies' day crowd of 16,009.

Ruffing, who will be 37 tomorrow, didn't give up until after he had put up a fight that, while it lasted, matched the doggedness of his elderly opponent. The big sorrel top surrendered only one hit in five innings and Lyons did the same. But Ruffing lingered too long. In the sixth the Sox gave him the works, wrecked him with four hits and sent him on his way, leaving his job to Rookie Steve Peek. The assault netted five runs. Then another freshman pitcher, Charles Stanceu, took a hand and he was knocked out of shape by a three run seventh.

Kuhel Is the Big Gun.

Both Ruffing and Stanceu had reason to regret meeting up with Joe Kuhel, who harvested two of the Sox' seven hits. Kuhel pulverized Big Red with a two bagger in the sixth, driving in the first two of the five runs, an assault in which Lyons, Dario Lodigiani and Mike Kreevich also participated with singles. In the seventh Kuhel doubled again to add to the sufferings of Stanceu who, being unaware of the location of the plate, had more trouble than he could handle.

Myril Hoag, purchased from the Browns, made his debut as James Dykes' left fielder and while he didn't experience the joy of swinging a mean bat against the team with which he spent seven seasons, he had his fun in another way. He made a sensational, diving, somersault catch of Ruffing's low liner to keep Lyons' first four innings hitless, and he put on a shoestring reach in the eighth to keep the peerless Joe DiMaggio from breaking in with a hit.

Teddy Sets Off Blast.

Lyons singled to center to launch the home sixth and the panic was on. Knickerbocker sacrificed, Appling walked, and Kuhel smacked his two bagger into Joe DiMaggio's precinct, Lyons and Appling loping home. Hoag fanned but Lodigiani revived the attack by singling to center, Kuhel counting. Rosenthal did his bit with a pass. Kreevich whistled a single past Rizzuto, Lodigiani scoring and Rosenthal going to third. Peek was dragged in to end the inning. He did it by throwing to Rizzuto to nip Kreevich in an attempted steal but Rosenthal skipped across the plate before the third out was recorded.

Keller's triple, singles by Dickey and Priddy, not to mention a pass to Pinch Man Tom Henrich, gave the Yankees their seventh inning run and also put a little extra pressure on Lyons but this was nothing compared to what the Sox subjected Stanceu to in the same inning. The rookie walked Tresh, who was bunted along by Lyons. Knickerbocker singled. A wild pitch let Tresh score while Appling was arranging a pass for himself. Kuhel exploded his second double, Knickerbocker counting. Then Hoag and Lodigiani drew passes, forcing Appling to score the last run.

Barnhill Is Appointed to Succeed Maj. Neyland

Knoxville, Tenn., May 2 (AP).—John Barnhill was named head football coach of the University of Tennessee today to succeed Maj. Robert R. Neyland, who will resume his army career on May 26.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 2.—Apparently everybody who is anybody will be among the 100,000 watching the 67th running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs tomorrow. . . . Col. M. J. Winn, whose patience, enterprise, and vision have lifted the event from just another horse race to the greatest spectacle in American sport, admits he never has seen anything like the demand for tickets. . . . The throng will include the governors of Illinois, Tennessee, Michigan, Kentucky, Maryland, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Georgia, and if the United States senate wishes to conduct an executive session between the fourth and fifth races, Col. Winn is certain there will be a quorum. . . . The 79 year old director of the turf's most famous contest said last year's crowd exceeded 80,000. . . . There are 70,000 people employed in government projects within two hours' ride of Louisville and the colonel expects that 25 per cent of them, most of whom were without work a year ago, will attend the Derby. . . . The mutuel handle yesterday was 40 per cent higher than on the corresponding day in 1940 and there were indications a similar increase would be recorded today. . . . Chicago is by far the stoutest supporter of the famous classic, as they say in What Cheer, Ia. . . . Col. Winn estimates there will be more than 15,000 from the Windy City. . . . Even Louisville doesn't turn out that many customers. . . .

Matt J. Winn.

The success of the Derby is attributable in no small measure to Col. Winn's determination to keep it an event for the masses. . . . Its admission prices range from 50 cents for a seat in the bleachers in the back stretch to $125 for a box on the finish line. . . . The 15,000 who will populate the 50 cent section can buy mutuel tickets for $1. . . . You can get a lunch in the infield for 25 cents or shell out a dollar for a mint julep in the clubhouse. . . . Thousands will watch the race from the infield terraces where the facilities are comparable to the grandstand except for seats. . . . Louisville hotels are unable, of course, to handle the influx of visitors, most of whom spend Derby eve in smaller towns within two hours' motor drive of Churchill Downs. . . . When Col. Winn took charge of the Derby in 1903 its annual attendance rarely exceeded 5,000. . . . The value of the purse was less than $5,000. . . . Its development as the country's outstanding sports event didn't just happen. . . . It is the result of careful planning, extraordinary attention to the customers' convenience and, above all, hard work. . . .

A victory for Porter's Cap tomorrow would bring another one of Charles S. Howard's horses into the big money winning class. . . . This colt, which Howard bought for $1,300, already has earned $97,705. . . . If he should lead the way home in the Derby, the winner's share of approximately $70,000 would boost his total to at least $165,705, and he is still just a youngster. . . . If Mrs. Warren Wright goes down to the paddock to see her Whirlaway saddled for the Derby, she'll just peek at him over some one's shoulder. . . . She never lets him see her before a big race, because he wants to come right to her for sugar. . . . Besides, she says, she often gets so nervous on such occasions that she is afraid she might make Whirlaway nervous, too. . . . Harry Richman, who is headlining the show at an outlying night spot, had some unexpected talent on his program last night. . . . Charles Butterworth, Robert Young, and Don Ameche brought along a group of Negro lads, equipped with spoons and dishpans, to entertain them while Richman was trying to get along with his performance. . . .

The Wood Memorial often is considered a preview of the Kentucky Derby, yet only three horses—Gallant Fox, Twenty Grand, and Johnstown—have followed up a victory in the Wood with a successful effort in the Derby. . . . Last year's Wood winner, Dit, ran third to Gallahadion, which may or may not be a tip as to where Market Wise, the 1941 Wood winner, will be tomorrow. . . . Jockey Irving Anderson, who will ride Market Wise, should be trying particularly hard. . . . Louis Tufano, owner of the horse, is so anxious to win a Derby that he has promised Anderson 20 per cent, instead of the usual 10 per cent of the purse, if he brings him in. . . . Edward J. Hughes, Illinois secretary of state, was Col. Winn's guest at today's card. . . . There will be a lot said to jockeys just before the Derby, but here is what Ben Jones, trainer for the Calumet farms, thinks about the matter: "I can tell them very little. There aren't five jockeys in the United States who can ride to orders." . . . Jones considers Eddie Arcaro, who will handle Mrs. Wright's Whirlaway tomorrow, one of those five. . . . Hal Price Headley, veteran Lexington horseman who is president of Keeneland, has another slant on the subject. . . . "When I use an old jockey it's got so I ask him how he's going to ride my horse."

Trainer Max Hirsch says not to worry too much about Dispose's bad performance in the Experimental handicap at Jamaica. . . . "I could have tied up one of his legs and let him hop on the other three and he would have done better. So forget about it. He'll be in there running on four legs on Derby day." . . . Louisville is having advanced time this spring, but the Derby will be moved back about an hour, which means it will be run about 5:45 p. m., Chicago daylight savings time. . . . Joe E. Brown and Andy Devine joined the Hollywood delegation at the Downs this afternoon. . . . Grantland Rice, who has been covering Kentucky Derbies since long before any of the jockeys in tomorrow's race were born, is having a very profitable week-end. . . . Last year he lost two hats, but so far this time only one has vanished. . . . The weather is the best Louisville has given Derby week visitors in years. . . . It has been about 80 degrees in the shade every afternoon and nary a drop of rain, altho scattered showers have been predicted daily.

The Derby finish? . . . Just to show how mint juleps influence one's sanity we're giving you Whirlaway, Blue Pair, and Our Boots in that order, or should we say disorder?

Card Index.

When Judy laughs, I like the way
She wrinkles up her nose,
And Connie's candy is the kind
For which a fella goes.
Patricia dances with the ease
Of one who treads on air,
While Doris fascinates me with
The luster of her hair.

Clarissa's eyes remind me of
The blue of springtime flowers,
And Betty has—but what's the use,
I might go on for hours.
My heart has filed each charm away
To guide its choice aright,
A card index complete, but still
It doesn't help a mite.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 2.—Bill Myers and Dom Dallessandro walked and scored on two singles in the first inning of the Cubs' opening engagement with the able Dodgers this afternoon. Clyde McCullough walked in the second and, without aid of a subsequent base hit, scored by stealing home.

Even with shoddy infield support it looked for a time as tho these three runs might be adequate for Bill Lee to attain his first victory of the season. But, alas, many things happened in the last half of the game, and in the end the Dodgers had scored an easy victory, 7 to 3.

The Cubs catapulted another of their ferocious four hit attacks at the enemy. Whit Wyatt, who lost three times to the Cubs last year, was the victim of this terrific pounding as he registered his fourth victory of the year.

They Can Do Better.

The Cubs remained consistent in the whiff department. They accomplished eight strikeouts—not quite up to their quota, but they were hampered by the good background in Ebbets field. If there had been white shirts in center today it is estimated there might have been as many as 15 or 16 strikeouts.

Lee, as in his first two starts, fought valiantly, and the inadequate defense didn't get him down until the fifth inning, when the infield abandoned him, as it had threatened to do in earlier innings.

Cookie Lavagetto was the villain who made Lee the losing pitcher. In the seventh, with the score tied, he scored Pee Wee Reese from second with a single to give the Dodgers the lead they never relinquished. Reese had opened the inning with a single and advanced on Pete Reiser's sacrifice bunt. Bill finally gave up in the eighth and took some pounding not directly chargeable to the inadequacy of his playing companions. A three run surge in the eighth included Dolph Camilli's seventh home run of the season.

Scorer Is Kind to Cubs.

After a hilarious first inning in which the Dodgers got two singles thru the kindly nature of a scorer who refused to give Stan Hack or Billy Myers errors, Lee was able, for the most part, to keep the Dodgers from hitting the ball on the ground in the second, third and fourth innings. Hack did have a fumble with two out in the second but Lee followed up by striking out Wyatt.

The Big Moment Draws Near at Churchill Downs

Our Boots, Royce G. Martin's colt, rules as a slight favorite in the overnight field of 11 thorobreds which will start in the 67th running of the Kentucky Derby today. Clear weather and a fast track is promised for the renewal of the $83,300 race for 3 year olds. A crowd of 100,000 is expected to pack the stands at Louisville's famous Churchill Downs.

Two jockeys whose names are as familiar to turf followers as their mounts for the Derby are Leon Haas (left) and Eddie Arcaro. Haas will be up on Porter's Cap, and Arcaro on Warren Wright's Whirlaway.

Only slightly less regarded in the pre-Derby betting is Charles S. Howard's Porter's Cap, an outstanding racer on a muddy track, but which can run in any sort of footing. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

Starter Ruby White will bring the crowd to its feet with the roar, "They're off" as he sends the field away this afternoon.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., May 2.—Late tomorrow afternoon a momentary hush will fall upon one of the most uproarious crowds to be found in the entire realm of sport—the 100,000 spectators who will gather for the 67th running of the Kentucky Derby.

That silence will begin when the opening notes of "My Old Kentucky Home" go drifting across historic Churchill Downs. It will continue as the horses come prancing out from the paddock thru the rain or into the sunshine. There will be applause for the handsome Our Boots, carrying the blue and white colors of Royce G. Martin—for the sturdy Porter's Cap, under the familiar scarlet and white of Charles S. Howard—and for all the others in the field of 11 named in the overnight entries.

That applause will sound fluttery, however, over the vast reaches of the Downs. It will be up to Starter Ruby White to break the shell and bring out the full throated roar that will rise when he sends the field away on the run of a mile and a quarter with $83,300 and permanent fame at stake.

A Race Worthy of Its History.

This 67th Derby shapes up as a race worthy of taking its place among the great races of the past put on by Matt J. Winn, director of Churchill Downs, and his predecessors. There are favorites of established class and staying power such as Our Boots and Porter's Cap; there are contenders such as Whirlaway capable of turning on speed that may be decisive in the stretch; there are consistently high class performers such as Blue Pair; there are dark horses such as Robert Morris and Market Wise which have earned consideration by surprise victories in recent stake events; there are campaigners such as Dispose and Little Beans which have shown great running ability in the past and may unleash it again tomorrow; there are long shots such as Staretor, Swain, and Valdina Paul which would precipitate pandemonium if they came home in the lead.

Rain or shine, it shapes up as a closely contended race because mud will scare none of the contenders. The weather was threatening again this morning, but it cleared in the afternoon. The prediction was that sunshine would prevail over Louisville tomorrow, with scattered showers in other parts of the state. If no rain falls between now and post time the track will be fast.

Outside Chance for Record.

There is an outside chance that the Derby record may be broken if Our Boots, Porter's Cap, and Whirlaway start running at one another in that last quarter mile, but the racing strip has never been quite as fast as it was that Derby day in 1931 when Charley Kurtzinger drove Twenty Grand over the finish line in 2:01 4-5.

Our Boots is expected to go to the post with a slight edge over Porter's Cap in the betting if the track remains dry. The New York and Kentucky fans are expected to back the former heavily because of the impressive display of ability he gave them in winning the Belmont Fu-

GOLD MESH WINS FEATURE EVENT AT SPORTSMAN'S

Favorites and outsiders shared the honors yesterday afternoon at Sportsman's Park as the Cicero oval wound up its first six days of racing.

In the feature event of the pleasant afternoon—the Columbus Park—a six and one-half furlong gallop, Earl Kelley's Gold Mesh, an 8 year old chestnut mare, making her first Chicago start, overhauled the Johnny Oros trained Ten Blow in the stretch to win by a neck. The winner, the heavy favorite, was rated well for the first half mile, and had plenty of speed when called on. Andy Loturco, the Peck's Bad Boy of local racing, was returned to favor yesterday morning and made his initial appearance at the meeting aboard Ten Blow, a 5 to 1 shot. Imperial Jones finished ahead of Valdina to show.

Barbara S., a 3 to 5 shot and the shortest priced winner of the meeting, had little trouble capturing the first race of the afternoon to form the anchor for the daily double. Folks thought it was going to be the smallest coupling of the meet until the long shot Blonde Baby came home in front in the second race to pay its backers $51.60 for a $2 straight ticket and make the double worth $772, the biggest payoff to date out Cicero way.

Sketches of Horses in the Derby Field

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

1941	6	3	1	1	62,375

Porter's Cap, which was purchased by Charles S. Howard for $1,300 at the Saratoga sales of 1939, first attained prominence by winning the Washington Park Futurity last August. Subsequently he ran third in the Eastern Shore handicap at Havre de Grace. Those were his only stake achievements as a juvenile. He went on to become the leading 3 year old of the Santa Anita meeting, winning the $50,000 Santa Anita Derby. He then ran tenth to Bay View in the Santa Anita Handicap. His only start since then was his victory in the Chesapeake Stakes at Havre de Grace April 19. He led all the way without urging and finished two and a half lengths ahead of Little Beans. Since coming to Churchill Downs he worked the mile and a quarter in 2:04 4/5.

OUR BOOTS.

Bay colt by Bull Dog-Maid of Arches; owner, Boyce G. Martin; trainer, Steve Judge.

1940	6	3	1	2	$72,551
1941	2	2	0	0	11,106

Our Boots was the winner of the 1940 Belmont Futurity, traditionally the most important event for juveniles on the American turf. Later he ran third to Whirlaway and Blue Pair in the Breeders' Futurity at Keeneland and was second to Bold Irishman in the Pimlico Futurity. He has started twice as a 3 year old, winning a six furlong allowance race at Keeneland and then beating Whirlaway by six lengths in the Blue Grass stakes.

WHIRLAWAY.

1940	16	7	2	4	$77,275
1941	7	3	2	2	6,776

Whirlaway was the leading money winning juvenile of 1940. His most important victory as a 2 year old was in the Hopeful stakes at Saratoga. He also won the Saratoga Special, the Breeders' Futurity at Keeneland, and the Walden stakes at Pimlico. He was second in the Grand Union and the United States Hotel stakes, both at Saratoga. He was third in the Arlington Futurity, the Belmont Futurity, and the Pimlico Futurity. During his winter campaign in Florida he was hampered by a minor leg ailment but managed to win two overnight allowance events and finish third in two others. Since the start of the spring season in Kentucky he beat Blue Pair in a six furlong handicap, ran second in the Blue Grass stakes six lengths behind Our Boots, and finished second in the Derby Trial stakes three-quarters of a length behind Blue Pair. On the latter occasion he reverted to a habit of running out on the turns. He is a noted stretch runner with one strong burst of speed.

BLUE PAIR.

1940	13	7	4	2	$24,903
1941	3	1	1	1	2,520

Blue Pair has never been out of the money in 16 starts of his career. His most recent achievement was his victory over Whirlaway in the Derby Trial stakes at a mile. Earlier this spring he was beaten by Whirlaway by a neck in a six furlong dash, and he ran third in a field of older horses in a mile and a sixteenth handicap.

DISPOSE.

Bay colt by Discovery-Swiftply; owner, Robert Kleberg Jr.; trainer, Max Hirsch.

1941	3	2	0	0	25,540

Dispose was the 3 year old champion of the Florida season. He made only two starts at Hialeah, but those were in the two most important events for horses of his age, and he won both. In the Bahamas handicap at seven furlongs he finished two lengths ahead of Curious Coin, setting a new track record of 1:22 2/5. He followed up this performance by winning the mile and an eighth Flamingo stakes. Again he led all the way but this time beat Curious Coin by the margin of only a head. In his only start since then he disappointed his followers with a bad performance, finishing sixth and last in the Experimental handicap at Jamaica.

ROBERT MORRIS.

1941	2	2	0	0	9,575

Robert Morris did so little racing that he received no serious Derby consideration until he beat a field of experienced older horses in the mile and a sixteenth $10,000 Excelsior handicap at Jamaica on April 19. Among his victims on that occasion were the veterans Hash, Corydon, and Fenelon. He hasn't been to the post since that race. In his only previous start this season he won a mile and 70 yard allowance race at Jamaica.

MARKET WISE.

1940	9	2	0	0	$1,475
1941	9	4	0	3	20,130

Market Wise made his first bid for serious Derby consideration when he won the Wood Memorial last Saturday at Jamaica. Market Wise won three overnight allowance events during the Florida season. He ran in two stake events at Hialeah, finishing third to Zacatine in the Hialeah Stakes at six furlongs and fifth to Dispose in the Bahamas handicap at seven furlongs. As a 2 year old he did not figure in important races.

LITTLE BEANS.

Bay colt by Mirafel-Florhi; owner, Mrs. Louise Palladino; trainer, Rocco Palladino.

1940	3	5	0	1	$14,755
1941	3	1	2	0	3,650

Little Beans won two stakes as a juvenile, the Maplewood at Rockingham and the Eastern Shore handicap at Havre de Grace. During the winter season he beat Whirlaway and others in a six furlong allowance event at Tropical Park. Moving up to Maryland, he ran second to Porter's Cap in the Chesapeake stakes. Tho he was unable to threaten the winner at any stage, he ran well in the stretch and was beaten by a length and a half.

SWAIN.

1940	18	3	4	1	$39,845
1941	7	1	0	0	950

Swain's claim to distinction rests on his victory in the Arlington Futurity last summer. In the other juvenile specials he was unsuccessful. Previous to his Arlington victory he had run second to Blue Delight in the Joliet stakes at Lincoln Fields. Subsequently he finished fourth to Bushwhacker in the New England Futurity at Narragansett, third to Monday Lunch in the Champagne stakes at Belmont, and fourth to Bryan Station in the Spalding Lowe Jenkins stakes at Laurel. He earned a starting place in the Derby by winning a mile and 70 yard allowance event at Havre de Grace on April 24.

VALDINA PAUL.

Black colt by Sortie-Belle Weidel; owner, Emerson F. Woodward; trainer, J. J. Flanigan.

1940	9	0	4	1	$850
1941	3	2	0	1	4,333

Valdina Paul has only two victories to his credit, both of which he scored during the Santa Anita meeting. Both were in overnight allowance events, one at six furlongs and the other at a mile and a sixteenth. Since coming to Kentucky he raced twice, finishing fourth in a mile and a sixteenth allowance event and third to Our Boots and Whirlaway in the Blue Grass stakes. In the latter event he was badly outclassed, coming in fifteen lengths behind Whirlaway and 21 lengths behind Our Boots.

STARETOR.

Chestnut gelding by Messenger-Fair Star; owner, Hugh S. Nesbitt; trainer, George Strate.

	Starts.	1st.	2d.	3d.	Winnings.
1940	4	0	0	0	----
1941	8	2	2	1	$5,360

Staretor's most promising performance occurred in the $10,000 Allied Charities handicap at Santa Anita, in which he ran second to Painted Veil, being beaten by a head. He had taken the lead in the stretch in this mile and a sixteenth race but his rival outfinished him in a prolonged neck and neck duel. That race was on March 10 and he hasn't started since. In his last long workout for the Derby, he went a mile and a quarter in 2:12, but the time is misleading because he was distracted by a lead pony and went wide.

Porter's Cap has demonstrated that he hasn't gone off form since winning the $50,000 Santa Anita Derby during the winter season. He followed up his victory in the recent Chesapeake stakes with the fastest Derby workout any one can recall—the mile and a quarter in 2:04 4-5.

Then There's Whirlaway.

Even with two such high class horses as Our Boots and Porter's Cap heading the field, there are weighty elements of uncertainty in the race. Some of the most highly dramatic moments in the history of this event may develop on the last turn. The entire outcome may depend on what Warren Wright's Whirlaway does in that furlong on the bend between the three-eighths pole and the quarter pole. If Jockey Eddie Arcaro holds him within striking distance of the leaders but still keeps him under control so that he makes the swing into the stretch without loss of ground, the Derby crowd is likely to see a tremendous drive toward the finish.

In the Derby Trial stakes last Tuesday one of the clockers caught Whirlaway in a furlong in eleven seconds on that last turn as he was moving up from fifth to first. He never made it, but went right for the outer rail.

He's Not Like Andy K.

Whirlaway's tactics in running wide cannot be compared with those which Andy K. made famous in other seasons. Andy K. went wide because he wouldn't follow a line even when he was once straightened out. He had a confirmed habit of drifting. Whirlaway, on the other hand will run straight. He just doesn't make the turns sharply enough. Whether it's because he gets going too fast to control himself or whether he just has a natural inaptitude for making them, is a matter that hasn't been settled. But at any rate, he's not a drifter. If he turns it on once Arcaro straightens him up in the stretch he may deliver one of those more sensational finishes of which he is capable.

Lou Tufano, owner of Market Wise, said tonight he would scratch his horse if it did not rain before the race. The Long Island paving contractor said: "The track is altogether too hard," and "I will not take a chance of hurting my horse."

If all 11 horses go to the post, the race will carry a gross value of $83,300. The net to the winner will be $61,275. For each horse scratched the gross purse and the net to winner will be reduced by the amount of the $500 starting fee.

The threat of a strike by grooms who are dissatisfied with working conditions hung over the Derby tonight, but track officials said they expected to iron out all difficulties tomorrow morning. The grooms were reported threatening to call a strike two hours before post time tomorrow for the first race if demands were not met.

Wherein Little Lawson Little Learns Golf in China, Manila and Washington State

[This is the second of a series of articles on golf by Lawson Little, National Open champion, who, before becoming a professional, was the only man in history ever to win the British and American amateur championships twice in consecutive years.]

MY family left San Antonio, scene of my first golfing endeavors, about the time of my 10th birthday, sailing from San Francisco for Fort McKinley, Manila, on July 3, 1920. I recall the date quite well, because I was bound to celebrate the Fourth of July even tho it might be on a boat. Before sailing I had visited Chinatown and acquired

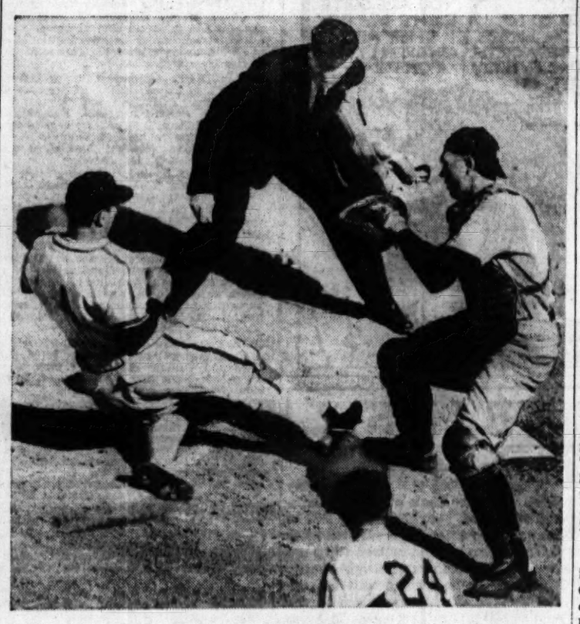
You're Wrong! Luke Was Safe



The uncertainties of camera angles make it appear that Luke Appling preparing to slide across the plate in the sixth inning of yesterday's game with the Yankees in Comiskey park is about to be tagged by Catcher Bill Dickey. He was safe, however, with the score of five runs scored in the inning. The umpire is Joe Rue and No. 24 is Myril Hoag, who made his debut as a White Sox in the game. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

RICE WINS 2 MILE RACE AT BELOIT; SCHWARZKOPF 2D

Grinnell Takes Team Title; Six Meet Records Fall.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Beloit, Wis., May 2.—Greg Rice ran two miles tonight in 9 minutes 3 seconds—only seven seconds slower than the outdoor world record—to pace the fifth and most successful Beloit college relay carnival. The former Notre Dame star, who ran two miles in the Chicago indoor relays last March in 8:51.1, defeated Ralph Schwarzkopf, one-time Michigan Big Ten two mile champion, by 75 yards. Schwarzkopf whipped Mel Trutt, formerly of Indiana, in the stretch. Ray Mahanna, formerly of Drake, was an indifferent fourth.

Six Meet Records Fall.

Under the best weather conditions in the history of the games, a field of more than 400 athletes from 31 colleges collaborated in breaking six meet records. Another automatically was written in the distance medley, contested for the first time this year, and West High school of Madison, Wis., also turned in a record breaking performance in the half mile relay for members of Wisconsin's Big Eight high school conference.

Records were broken in the shot put, discus throw, high jump, freshmen sprint medley and the two mile relays, and in the mile run.

Wins Mile by 150 Yards.

Gil Dodds of Ashland, O., college made a show of the field in the mile. His mark of 4:13.7 was one of the best outdoors this season and would have been a creditable performance in the Western conference. Dodds won by 150 yards from Webb Kitti of Michigan Tech.

DODGERS' WYATT IS TOO GOOD FOR OUR PUNY CUBS

Lou Novikoff batted for Myers at the start of the eighth and was thrown out on a nice play by Coscarart. Dallessandro was safe on Coscarart's fumble, paused while Nicholson flied to Reiser and took second as Galan reached first on Lavagetto's fumble, but died there.

The Dodgers, tho they obviously had no thought that the Cubs could catch up the requisite run for a tie with only one inning to go, nevertheless cut loose in their eighth, knocking out Lee on Medwick's infield single, Camilli's homer, Coscarart's single and a double by Wyatt. Vance Page went in with two out and Wyatt on second. Vance walked Reese and made Reiser fly to Galan.

Claude Passeau, thwarted in two tries for his second victory of the season, tho not charged with a defeat, will pitch for the Cubs in the final with the Dodgers tomorrow. Passeau may be opposed by Kirby Higbe. It is Luke Hamlin's turn, but Manager Durocher talked of the switch.

Brooklyn is having a touch of cool weather—after the warmest April in the history of the weather bureau. But everybody is hot on the Dodgers. Today was Ladies' day — and very shrill, indeed.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The Chicagoland hour tonight will salute Virginia. This special tribute to the "Mother of Presidents," to be broadcast from W-G-N studios over the entire Mutual network from 9 to 10 p. m., will include the presentation of a Mount Vernon suite made up of songs and dance music of colonial times; an address on "Colonial Virginia" by Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and a musical-dramatic production, "Ode to Virginia."

Music Revives Colonial Days.

The Mount Vernon airs, especially arranged by Adolph Hoffman of W-G-N's staff, will include authentic music of Washington's time. Attilio Baggiore will sing "See Down Maria's Blushing Cheek" and Ruth Slater, contralto, will offer "Give Me Thy Heart."

"Ode to Virginia" will present in dramatic fashion highlights from the lives of members of the Lee family of that state. A special musical score stressing the Dixie theme has been arranged by Henry Weber, conductor of the W-G-N orchestra and chorus, and Kenneth Churchill. Ray Charles will sing "Nellie Bly."

W-G-N Players in Cast.

Members of the W-G-N Players will enact the dramatic rôles in the "Ode." John Weigel will be the narrator. Willard Waterman is to portray Richard Henry Lee and Bret Morrison will double in the rôles of Light Horse Harry Lee and Robert E. Lee. William A. Bacher is the producer.

One hundred members of the W-G-N club, all of whom have W. G. N. as their initials, will be among the studio guests. A group of them will be interviewed on the air at 10:07 p. m. following the reading of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE.

INDICT ESQUIRE PUBLISHER ON RIGGING CHARGE

Smart, 11 Others Are Named in SEC Bill.

David A. Smart, president of Esquire, Inc., and 11 other defendants, including a group of New York brokers, were indicted yesterday by the federal grand jury on a charge of rigging the market in stock of Esquire-Coronet, Inc., the former name of the corporation which publishes the magazines, Esquire and Coronet.

David A. Smart.

The indictment, returned before Judge Philip L. Sullivan, charges conspiracy to violate the Securities and Exchange commission antifraud law. By artificially raising the market price of the stock, according to United States Attorney J. Albert Woll, the group induced the public to buy 153,000 shares, resulting in a known profit of $1,075,000 for Smart and his brother, Alfred, secretary-treasurer of Esquire, Inc.

Price Raised $5 a Share.

The indictment covered the period from May, 1938, thru yesterday, but specifically stated that the bulk of the transactions occurred between May and September of 1938 when the market price was raised from $7 a share to $12. Yesterday Esquire, Inc., stock was quoted on the New York curb exchange at $2.62½.

The indictment named David Smart and his brother, Alfred; A. D. Elden, a brother-in-law of the Smarts and former employé of Esquire-Coronet, Inc., and Arthur Greene, Chicago capitalist, said to be the financial adviser of the Smarts.

Other defendants are Alfred R. Pastel, eastern advertising manager of Esquire, Inc., and former vice president of Esquire-Coronet, Inc.; Mrs. Jeanette Kilmnick, Greene's secretary; Walter Lyon and Walter Stein, owners of Walter Lyon & Co., Inc., New York investment brokers; David Nat. Alstyne and J. J. Hindon Hyde, partners in Van Alstyne, Noel & Co., New York brokers; Walter Winfield, a trader at Van Alstyne, Noel & Co., and Leo G. Seisfelt, a free lance New York securities dealer.

Editor Defends Transactions.

The purchase and sale of Esquire-Coronet stock, said a prepared statement issued by Arnold Gingrich, editor of Esquire, "were actual transactions carried out in good faith and without the intention of enhancing the market price of the stock. The case will be vigorously defended by Arthur Greene, David Smart, and Alfred Smart, who are advised by counsel that not even a technical violation of the SEC act is involved. Esquire, Inc., as a corporation, was in no way involved in the transaction."

In the indictment, the defendants are accused of conspiring, by means of the mails and other instrumentalities of interstate commerce, to effect a series of transactions in the stock which "created an active and apparent trading, resulting in raising the price of the stock."

The Smarts, according to Woll, owned most of the 500,000 shares originally issued when the corporation was formed. Wishing to dispose of 200,000 shares in 1938, the indictment stated, they optioned this amount to Greene to dispose of at $7 a share.

Stock Reoptioned, Bill Charges.

Greene, the indictment continued, then reoptioned the stock to Lyon & Co. and other dealers to sell over the counter at $8. By September, it was alleged, the stock had thus been artificially raised to $12.25, when the Smart transactions ceased. Most of the stock had been sold at $10.

Woll said many buyers were promised a guarantee against loss and brokers were promised fixed commissions. As an example he said that if the market closed at $8.25 the brokers would persuade a buyer to take a block of stock at $9, promising that the next day the price would be up to $10. One of those who purchased Esquire-Coronet stock in the period, it was disclosed, was President Roosevelt's eldest son, James, a close friend of Greene, who took 500 shares.

Conviction on the conspiracy charge carries a maximum punishment of two years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Bond of $5,000 was set for each defendant, and the case was assigned to Judge John P. Barnes for trial.

JOHNSON RIFLE FIRM DISCLOSES BIG FOREIGN SALE

Washington, D. C., May 2 (AP).—Johnson Automatics, Inc., New York, has sold $3,000,000 worth of semi-automatic rifles, light machine guns and parts to an unnamed foreign government, it was disclosed today.

Melvin M. Johnson Jr., president, said that he was "specifically prohibited" by the contract from revealing the identity of the buyer.

The company advised the Securities and Exchange commission of the sale in filing a registration statement covering a proposed issue of 99,309 shares of common stock.

The statement included a contract giving exclusive sales rights to Miranda Bros., Inc., New York, in 32 countries, including all of Latin America.

The company proposes to offer 49,309 shares to underwriters for resale to the public at $6.25 a share. The remaining 50,000 shares are owned by Johnson and John B. Howard, treasurer, and will be optioned to the underwriters for sale after the shares owned by the company are sold.

OPM RESTRICTS DELIVERIES OF NICKEL STEELS

Washington, D. C., May 2 (AP).—The priorities division of the Office of Production Management directed today that no deliveries of nickel steel be made after May 15 to consumers who have not filed a complete inventory of their holdings with the government.

The action was the first taken under a new plan of inventory control of metals instituted yesterday.

In addition, the regulations applying to nickel steel were broadened to cover converters as well as producers and distributors. Converters were defined as "those who purchase nickel bearing steel, further process such steel by rolling or drawing and deliver such steel in rolled or drawn form to distributors and consumers."

POUR OUT ARMS DAY AND NIGHT, PRESIDENT ASKS

Wants All Machines to Run Full Time.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 2.—President Roosevelt today called for a 24 hour day and seven day week for every machine and machine tool in the United States in order to speed the delivery of war supplies to Britain and for the American rearmament program.

Mr. Roosevelt expressed himself confident that sufficient skilled workers can be found for continuous operation of the machines and tools without increasing working hours for labor, altho he recognized a search will have to be made for additional trained men.

This conviction is not shared by the army, navy, and industry. At the war and navy departments officers said that the critical need of the nation is for skilled labor.

Orders Federal Survey.

As the President made his pronouncement the Office of Production Management was studying a report on production possibilities from the National Association of Manufacturers. Mr. Roosevelt described this survey as helpful, but ordered a federal survey covering the same ground.

The association reported there are 18,000 small plants in the nation, 40 per cent of which could be put into arms production. However, the association found, there is not enough skilled labor to man these plants.

The President called for an increase in production in a letter to William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman, defense coördinators. He offered the following three point program.

1. Polling of every useful machine or tool for use in the armament program.

2. Utilizing of machines or tools where they are or transporting them where they are needed.

3. Recanvassing of the entire nation for skilled labor for continuous operation of the machines.

Calls Situation Critical.

In the letter to the defense coördinators, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"The ever increasing demands for munitions, planes, and ships, caused by the critical situation which confronts our nation, requires that they be produced in even larger quantities and ahead of the schedules assigned to them. It is essential that industry continue to increase the number of vital machines manufactured and that every single critical machine in the United States be used the maximum number of hours each week.

"Every effort should be made to utilize to the very limit those critical machines; if they be in defense plants, by increased hours of operation on the work at hand; if in other plants, by finding defense items or parts for them to make, or, as a last resort, by moving the tools to defense plants where they may be urgently needed.

Wants All Machines Busy.

"Our problem is to see to it that there is no idle critical machine in the United States. The goal should be to work these machines 24 hours a day and seven days a week, relieving the machines only for such time as is required for overhauling and repair.

"The country should be further combed for men who have had experience on these machines. We should ask them to transfer their efforts to this operation which is so essential to our defense. No effort or justifiable expense should be spared in speeding this program in order to obtain the objective which our national interests require."

APRIL MILITARY SPENDING TOPS ¾ BILLION DOLLARS

Washington, D. C., May 2 (AP).—Armament program spending reached a new high of $761,001,888 in April.

The treasury, announcing this today, said total spending during the month was $1,316,451,744. Monthly totals have been rising steadily and some government statisticians now expect expenditures to average $2,000,000,000 monthly in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Total spending for the first 10 months of the fiscal year was $10,087,080,696, more than has ever been spent in a full peacetime year. The total included $4,403,814,039 of arms program costs.

U. S. Considers Freezing of All Foreign Funds

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 2.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull admitted today that the United States is considering a general order freezing all foreign assets in the United States, involving about 12 billion dollars. This would be a move aimed primarily at Germany and Italy.

Altho Hull said no decision has been reached, the fact that he admitted its consideration was viewed as a partial victory for Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., who has pressed for such an order against the axis.

Hull until now has resisted Morgenthau's enthusiasm for the plan, taking the calmer view that Americans interests stand to lose more than the Germans or Italians if funds are impounded and the axis retailiates by seizing American investments abroad.

German Assets 107 Millions.

German assets in the United States total about 107 million dollars, but American investments in Germany reach approximately 432 million dollars. Similarly, Italian interests here amount to about 52 million dollars, but American assets in Italy total about 145 million dollars.

British assets in the United States would also be involved in a general freezing order, but in this case it would be a friendly arrangement and merely call for issuance of treasury licenses for withdrawals, which would be granted readily. The treasury estimated United Kingdom dollar assets at about 2.2 billion dollars at the beginning of this year.

Foreign funds in this country total approximately 11 billion, 673 million dollars, according to latest available data. This includes 5 billion, 927 million dollars in long term investments, 3 billion 836 million in short term assets, and 1 billion, 910 millions in earmarked gold. The total covers 4½ billion dollars in frozen assets of 14 nations which the United States has impounded to date.

Transactions Under License.

Hull said that the United States would not necessarily prevent the spending of frozen funds but would be able to keep a check on how the money is spent, because the transactions must take place under license.

Hull was also asked whether the administration was considering the possibility of restricting shipments of oil and gasoline to Japan. He compared the oil question with the freezing of funds, indicating that restraints of essential war products would be made under a similar general policy.

UAW, GENERAL MOTORS AGREE TO MEET AGAIN

Washington, D. C., May 2 [Special].—The national defense mediation board today persuaded spokesman for General Motors corporation and the United Automobile Workers of America [CIO] to resume negotiations on the dispute which threatens a strike affecting 165,000 employés in 61 General Motors plants.

The board's panel heard the presentation of the respective viewpoints of both sides earlier in the day. Mediators then expressed the belief that direct negotiations might settle the dispute without further intervention. The joint conference which broke off several days ago in Detroit was resumed late today.

The main union demands cover the union shop, a 10 cents an hour wage increase, installation of the shop steward system, broadening the authority of the umpire, seniority and vacations with pay.

CHICAGO PORT, WATERWAY SET TRAFFIC PEAKS

Arms Work Called Big Factor.

Freight volume for the Illinois waterway and the port of Chicago established all-time high records last year despite a complete cessation of inbound overseas traffic and a slump in outbound shipments on foreign boats, Col. Charles Keller, United States district engineer, reported yesterday.

Col. Charles Keller.

Col. Keller, in releasing the annual report on waterborne traffic, disclosed that increased shipments of several types of goods needed for the armament program counted heavily in the year's showing.

Barge Efficiency Improved.

Progress by the various boat and barge operators in increasing the efficiency of their facilities was reported by Col. Keller. He said several new towboats were put into service and that the companies pushed ahead with their effort to standardize barges.

One of the records established in 1940 was the tonnage for the entire Illinois waterway. The new mark, 5,729,356 tons, compared with the former record of 5,500,595 tons established in 1939.

Another record was set by the 4,668,712 tons of freight on the waterway carried into, out of or past Chicago. The old record, established in 1939, was 4,383,733 tons.

Total Traffic a Record.

A new high mark also was set for total traffic for the port of Chicago last year, including Illinois waterway shipments and lake traffic. The 1940 total was 19,894,060 tons, compared with 16,751,760 tons in 1939. Big factors in the increase were pronounced gains in the lake movement of iron ore, coal, grain and limestone. Steel mills, busy producing ingots for the armament makers, accounted for the upturn in limestone shipments.

Bearing chiefly seeds, animal hair and feathers to outlets overseas, foreign vessels departed from Chicago harbor last year with a total of 2,046 tons of goods, and took 111 tons from Calumet harbor. [The engineer's office defines Chicago harbor as the area from Oak street to Grant park, including the Chicago river up to the Michigan avenue bridge.]

These exports via the lakes, totaling 2,157 tons for the two ports, were but a fraction of the total for 1939, when the volume was 32,000 tons.

No Foreign Vessels Arrive.

The boats which used to bring goods to Chicago from Norway, France, Germany, England, Holland, and other foreign countries made no calls at the port of Chicago in 1940 with cargoes. In the preceding year, foreign boats, chiefly Norwegian brought in 34,000 tons, including 984 tons of cod liver oil.

Chicago received via the lakes 12,585,516 tons of freight compared with 9,740,000 in 1939, and shipped by lake 1,278,428 tons against 1,178,000 in the preceding year.

Of the 4,668,712 tons moving into, out of or past Chicago, on the Illinois waterway, 1,754,951 was coal, the leading item. Coal movement in 1939 was 1,583,000 tons. Other comparisons were [all in tons]:

NEW SECURITIES OFFERINGS RISE TO 47 MILLIONS

New York, May 2 (AP).—The new security market revived a bit this week after a dull fortnight. Public offerings during the week ended yesterday totaled $47,178,640, compared with $17,336,800 in the preceding week. Standard & Poor's corporation reported today.

Public utilities and railroads took about $12,000,000 of new capital. The rest of the total was accounted for by municipal offerings. Comparisons follow:

Jones Asserts Nazis Can Give U. S. 'Trouble'

Washington, D. C., May 2 (AP).—Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones said today: "I don't know how long England can take the punishment it is taking now."

He made the statement to several hundred retailers who met to discuss the effects of the armament program on prices, supplies, and quality of the goods they handle.

Jones said he did not fear an invasion of the United States, but said the axis powers "can give us a lot of trouble," adding that "Nazi stooges are infiltrating Latin America not by the thousands but by the hundreds of thousands."

Raps at "Slave Labor."

"They [the axis powers] can reduce our living standards," he continued in his speculation on the consequences of a British defeat. "We cannot compete with slave labor."

Leon Henderson, price administrator, told the conference that "nothing can be more destructive to sound operation of business enterprises than rapidly rising prices."

He said such increases cause "dislocating effects on the upside and ruinous losses when the collapse comes."

Henderson admitted regulation of consumer prices would be difficult, but added, "We are not afraid of the task."

Miss Harriet Elliott, consumer representative in the armament program, said there had been a widespread substitution of inferior materials to conceal price increases.

Hits Lowering of Quality.

Because the government is appealing to industry to keep prices down, Miss Elliott said, some manufacturers have cheapened products to sell them at old prices.

"If we allow the quality of our consumers' goods to depreciate to a point where they must be replaced after a comparatively short time in use," she added, "we will have wasted not only materials and purchasing power, but labor and machines."

Donald M. Nelson, purchasing director of the Office of Production Management said that "business as usual is out" as long as a "life and death emergency exists. We have got to see that what we have done so far in building a defense program is not nearly enough. Every part of our national life has to be readjusted if we are to have a life worth living when the emergency is over."

ILLINOIS' COAL PARLEY FAILS TO END DEADLOCK

The Illinois Coal Operators' association and the United Mine Workers of America [CIO] failed again yesterday after the second day of negotiations to reach a temporary agreement for the reopening of bituminous coal mines in the state. Leaders for both sides reported "very little progress."

A subcommittee of three from the union and three from the operators' association adjourned until 9:30 o'clock this morning, still deadlocked on two main points. The mines have been closed since the national work stoppage began April 1.

George F. Campbell, president of the operators' association, said the miners are refusing to give the state operators the same temporary agreement as that under which operations were resumed in the northern Appalachian area.

Ray Edmundson, state president of the union, said that the two main demands at issue may be increased to half a dozen if the operators "continue their attitude" and are not "reasonable." These two points were not made public.

OPM SUGGESTS BONUS INSTEAD OF VACATIONS

Washington, D. C., May 2 (AP).—William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman recommended to armament industries today that bonuses be paid workers who voluntarily forego vacations this year.

The Office of Production Management directors said that policy had been suggested as a means of obtaining maximum production this summer. It would apply, officials said, only to private employers having vacation systems.

The OPM said that workers in plants making munitions or essential war materials should receive as a bonus the equivalent amount of money they received during the customary vacation period.

Belmont Radio Increases Pay of 500 by 10 Per Cent

The Belmont Radio corporation, 5921 West Dickens avenue, has granted 500 of its hourly workers a 10 per cent wage increase effective Monday, Harold C. Mattes, vice president, announced yesterday. The raise will amount to about $100,000 annually.

PLAN BIG BOOST IN BUICK PLANE ENGINE OUTPUT

May Seek to Make 1,000 Monthly.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Production capacity of the big airplane engine plant which the Buick division of General Motors is building at Melrose Park will be doubled, it was reported yesterday in Washington.

Last January it was announced the Buick plant—to be one of the world's largest factories—would produce 500 Pratt & Whitney 1,200 horsepower airplane engines a month. New proposals provide for the building of possibly 1,000 such engines a month, it was reported.

Washington sources disclosed that Buick and government officials are engaged in negotiations for expanding the operations of the plant. It is expected that the size of the Melrose Park factory may be increased over the original plans but even so a substantial amount of the additional work may have to be handled at Buick's home in Flint, Mich.

Revising Original Plans.

The desperate air war abroad, it was said, is impelling the government to revise its original airplane plans. President Roosevelt at his press conference yesterday indicated that the bomber production by the automobile and aircraft industries may be expanded, altho he gave no detailed figures.

It was said that in any possible American operations and in the British effort the big four engined bomber is of the highest importance. Bombers sent Britain under the lend-lease act must be of the long range type because of the long distances they must fly to reach their objectives.

With this type of bomber coming to the fore, it is expected that there will be a stepping up of engine making capacity at other aviation engine factories being erected under the government's arms program.

125 Million Operation.

The Buick plant at Melrose Park under the original program was to involve an expenditure of about $31,000,000 in plant and equipment. The engine contract made it a $125,000,000 operation for the Chicago region. Only last March the site of the plant was just a field at the northeast corner of North avenue and La Grange road. Now the plant is rapidly taking form, altho it will be late summer or early autumn before it is completed.

The original plan provided for the employment of about 10,000 persons. Doubling the engine production would greatly increase this number.

Largest Chicago Arms Activity.

The Buick operation will be the largest of Chicago's arms activities. The Studebaker corporation is building a large plant at Archer and Cicero avenues to cost a total of about $16,590,000 for building and equipment. It will produce precision parts for the Wright Aeronautical "2600" type aviation engine developing 1,700 to 1,800 horse power.

Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company also has extensive contracts for building parts of military aircraft and other items.

STEEL COMPANY EXEMPTED FROM PRICE 'CEILING'

Washington, D. C., May 2 (AP).—Leon Henderson, price administrator, granted permission today to the Phoenix Iron company, Phoenixville, Pa., to charge higher prices than those in the April 17 order fixing a ceiling on iron and steel.

Officials said that the company had been charging "more than the industry generally" prior to the order and Henderson's action merely authorized it to continue this practice.

STOCKS MANAGE TO RETAIN MOST OF EARLY GAINS

Transfer Pace Is Slower as Rally Wanes.

New York, May 2 (AP).—Stocks advanced on a broad front in today's market, attracting bidders for steels, rails, oils, and assorted specialties.

Activity and prices were best in the first hour, however. Selling then began to dribble in and early gains of fractions to more than a point were reduced or canceled in many instances at the close.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues retained a net advance of .1 of a point at 39.3. Transfers of 400,390 shares compared with 310,040 yesterday.

List Believed "Oversold."

Rails were aided by thoughts of heavy ocean traffic being diverted to carriers as ships are taken over for sending goods to England.

Stocks finishing higher included United States Steel, Bethlehem, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Southern Pacific, Sperry, American Car & Foundry preferred, Eastman Kodak, American Telephone, Allied Chemical, and Westinghouse Electric.

General Motors and Chrysler shifted ⅛ either way. Lower were Anaconda, American Can, Radio corporation, and Air Reduction.

CHICAGO'S LIST UNEVEN.

Irregularity again marked the trading on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday at 16,000 shares changed hands. Consolidated Oil was the volume leader on transfers of 2,100 shares, closing at 5⅝, up ¼. General Motors was the only dually listed stock which recorded a change from the New York close during the trading from 2 to 2:30 o'clock. It was off ⅛ at 37½.

BOOSTS IN CROP LOANS VOTED BY SENATE GROUP

Plan Assures Farmers of Higher Prices.

Washington, D. C., May 2 (AP).—Despite indications that the administration favors a lower figure, the senate agricultural committee voted unanimously today for government loans at 85 per cent of parity prices on cotton, wheat, corn, rice, and tobacco.

The "parity" price of a farm product is a price computed to give it the same purchasing power it had in some previous period, usually the prewar years of 1909-'13.

With present benefit payments, members said, this would assure farmers complying with control programs a return of about 16 cents a pound for cotton, $1.15 a bushel for wheat and 87 cents a bushel for corn. Tobacco would vary according to grade.

Present Returns to Farmers.

Under the existing farm program, farmers have been getting returns of about 12 cents for cotton, 83 cents for wheat, and 75 cents for corn. These represent average market prices plus benefit payments.

Senator John H. Bankhead [D., Ala.] said the 85 per cent loan level would require loans of 13.49 cents for cotton, 96.6 cents for wheat, and 69.9 cents for corn.

Other congressional leaders of farm legislation said agriculture department officials had indicated support for the bill passed by the house this week calling for loans of 11.9 cents on cotton, 85 cents on wheat, and 61.6 cents on corn.

May Figure in "Trading."

The loan legislation is expected to figure in senate-house "horse trading" over the annual farm appropriation. The senate voted $1,340,000,000, or some $450,000,000 more than voted by the house.

Leon Henderson, price administrator, has advised Representative Clarence Cannon [D., Mo.] that the office of price administration "can play no favorites" but "to date we have taken no steps to establish ceiling prices on farm commodities."

"Our policy," said Henderson, "here parallels that which has been followed by the government in minimizing the risk of industrial plant expansion for armament purposes." He explained "the guaranteed prices are minimum prices and no maximum prices have been agreed upon."

CIRCUIT COURT REJECTS GEN. MOTORS APPEAL

'South Bend Decision' Held Justified.

The General Motors corporation and three subsidiaries yesterday lost their appeal of the "South Bend decision" in which they were convicted of conspiracy to restrain interstate trade and of violation of the Sherman antitrust act in the financing of new car sales. The United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Chicago district sustained the conviction of the motor group in the United States District court at South Bend in November, 1939.

Judge Walter C. Lindley in the South Bend court had imposed fines of $5,000 each on the General Motors corporation, the General Motors Sales

Officers Found Not Guilty.

The opinion given yesterday was written by Judge Otto Kerner and concurred in by Judges Evan A. Evans and Will M. Sparks.

"As the matter now stands," the opinion said, "some 15,000 automobile dealers are graciously allowed to continue their business of purchasing and selling General Motors cars in return for their slavish obedience to the command of the appellant to use the General Motors Acceptance corporation finance service."

Upholds Coercion Charge.

Continuing, the opinion said: "It is even plainer that the jury finding of coercion is supported by the evidence. The coercive practices were many and varied and directly aimed to compel dealer-purchasers to use GMAC in financing the wholesale purchase and retail sale of General Motors cars."

The appeals court ruled that the dismissal of the individual defendants had no effect on the conviction of the four corporations.

The General Motors group in the defense denied that it had used coercion but admitted that it had exerted its right of attempting to get dealers to use the GMAC service.

WASHINGTON TOO SMALL; SOME U.S. OFFICES TO MOVE

President Opposes Shift to Chicago.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 2.—President Roosevelt admitted today that some of the vast overgrown government agencies must be moved out of crowded Washington, but he opposed removal to Chicago or other strategic cities in the middle west, as has been urged.

Mr. Roosevelt said that Federal Works Administrator John M. Carmody has been studying the problem of housing some of the New Deal bureaus elsewhere but the President indicated he believed the government should remain centralized in Washington and nearby urban areas.

Sabath Urges Removal.

It has been widely suggested that such agencies as the Interstate Commerce commission, the Social Security board, and the department of agriculture should be moved to the strategic centers of the country, both for protection and for proximity to the matters they are handling. Representative Adolph J. Sabath [D., Ill.], ardent New Dealer, made such an appeal in the house today.

"We should transfer some departments to localities where they can be cared for," he said, mentioning the agriculture and interior departments, the Social Security board, and Veterans' administration.

"In Chicago," Sabath added, "we have plenty of rooms and buildings to house these people and provide suitable quarters for all of them."

Capital Overcrowded.

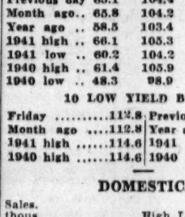
He described District of Columbia housing conditions as "deplorable," declaring members of congress cannot find proper quarters in which to reside, "to say nothing about the thousands of employés and visitors who come here and are obliged to sleep in their automobiles or find rooms away out in the country."

Telling his press conference that the problem of finding sufficient housing facilities in the district is well known, Mr. Roosevelt said the inquiry being conducted by Carmody is concerned only with transfer of some bureau to a nearby point.

He declined to identify any of the agencies which might be affected or to name any area to which they might be transferred.

J. J. RICE, CHICAGO, NAMED DEPUTY U. S. LOAN ADMINISTRATOR

Joseph J. Rice of Chicago, former Illinois state director of finance, has been appointed deputy federal loan administrator by Jesse Jones, administrator. Rice will handle special assignments in connection with the loan agency's activities in the rearmament program.



Joseph J. Rice.

Before becoming director of finance under the late Gov. Henry Horner in 1933, Rice had been a vice president of S. W. Straus & Co. After leaving Straus & Co. in 1925 he joined Lawrence Stern & Co., of which he was vice president in charge of the buying department for 10 years.

MILK PRODUCERS ASK EQUALITY IN ARMING PROGRAM

Resent Federal Curbs on Rising Prices.

A statement of policy condemning the administration's treatment of farmers in the armament program and calling for a restoration of equality among agriculture, industry, and labor was adopted yesterday at the closing session of an emergency meeting of the National Coöperative Milk Producers' federation in the Congress hotel. The 300 delegates also demanded cessation of strikes and lockouts in arms industries.

The ire of the farm leaders was particularly directed against the federal commodity policy designed to prevent the prices of agricultural products from rising materially. During the two day meeting several spokesmen declared the so-called price "floor" placed under farm products was actually a "ceiling."

Demand Equal Treatment.

"In the last world war," the statement said, "the organized farmers of this nation united and demanded an equal economic position and an equal share in the conduct of the war. In our present defense effort, we again demand such rights. Instead of this recognition, agriculture and its cause are literally being 'pushed around' in the nation's capital."

The statement also urged:

1. The President and congress should eliminate from the department of agriculture all functions and all individuals antagonistic to farm interests.

Seek Adequate Prices.

2. As industry has received cost plus guarantees in armament production and farm groups called on to increase production have not received such guarantees, farmers should immediately have prices to compensate for current production and increased capital outlay.

3. The draft act should be revised with a view to protecting agricultural production, in all matters involving legitimate deferment for draftees.

4. Government propaganda designed to mislead the public into believing that farm prices are satisfactory and remunerative should be discontinued.

EASTERN UTILITY ORDERED BY SEC TO CHANGE STOCK

Washington, D. C., May 2 [Special].—The Securities and Exchange commission today ordered the New England Public Service company, a registered holding company, to change its present capitalization within one year to one class of common stock or to liquidate and distribute its assets to its security holders.

The commission said it had found the corporate structure of the company "unduly and unnecessarily complicates" the structure of the system and "unduly and inequitably distributes voting power" among the system's security holders.

Saying that the common stock constitutes only 24 per cent of total capital stock and surplus, and that the books of the company show no equity, the SEC pointed out that this common stock controls 74 per cent of the voting power.

NET EARNINGS OF BRILL CORP. RISE THIS YEAR

Charles J. Hardy, president of the Brill corporation, yesterday told stockholders at their annual meeting that net income of the company's three operating units totaled $561,027 in the first three months of this year, compared with $207,207 in the corresponding 1940 period. The backlog of orders as of March 31 amounted to $14,000,000, against $8,500,000 a year earlier.

Unfilled orders of the Hall-Scott Motor Car company, one of the company's units, alone totaled $6,600,000, compared with $3,700,000 on March 31, 1940, he said. First quarter operations of the company's two other operating units, Hardy said, had been hampered by strikes. Incoming business is exceeding that of a year ago.

Judge Threatens to Kill Railway Fee Requests

Attorneys and others asking fees and allowances in connection with the reorganization of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railway were directed yesterday by Federal Judge John P. Barnes to appear before him on May 19 to show cause why their petitions should not be dismissed for want of prosecution. Amounts requested in the petitions total $210,000. Judge Barnes said that the petitions are the principal obstacle to the closing of the proceedings.

Ford Rushes Production; Week's Auto Output Soars

Detroit, Mich., May 2 (AP).—Ward's Reports, Inc., today estimated this week's output of automobiles and trucks at 130,610, compared with 108,165 last week and 99,305 at this time last year. It attributed the upsurge to the resumption of full operations by the Ford plants, which have been placed on a six day basis to make up time lost in the April strike.

BUTTER PRICES REACH 11 YEAR PEAK IN MAY

Wholesale butter prices in Chicago yesterday advanced ¼ to ½ cent a pound to the highest level this year and an eleven year peak for May. Ninety-two score quality was quoted at 33¾ cents, 7¼ cents above a year ago.

The high wholesale levels, reached despite record production and heavy receipts at the market, were attributed to strong consumer demand coincident with higher incomes and government operations in other manufactured dairy products in an effort to provision Great Britain and other foreign countries.

November butter futures, however, were slow and closed 0.05 cent lower at 34.95 cents a pound on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. November cheeese was supported by the wholesale butter prices and advanced 0.20 cent a pound to the recently established peak of 21 cents. October egg futures declined 0.10 cent a dozen to 24.15 cents.

Most Corporate Bonds Follow Upturn by Rails

New York, May 2 (AP).—Domestic bonds rose today under leadership of the rail group. Trading expanded to $8,334,900, face value, from $5,952,700 yesterday. In government bonds the trend was lower on the stock exchange but prices strengthened over the counter dealings.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Wholesale markets for fresh pork soared 50 cents to $1 a hundred pounds yesterday on top of Thursday's 50 cent advance, but the market for live hogs dragged on a steady to 10 cents lower price basis. Top light loins rose to $18.50, the highest May price in three years.

Top grades of wool lambs rose to the highest levels in almost a year on yesterday's session. Eastern order buyers paid the $11.65 a hundredweight top price, the highest sale since June of last year. Medium and heavy lambs was slow and weak to 25 cents lower.

Steers and yearlings met fair demand at barely steady prices yesterday. No strictly choice kinds were offered. Steady prices were paid for beef cows, heifers, and calves.

FEDERAL PROBE OF MACHINE TOOL INDUSTRY BEGINS

Inquiry Will Follow Food Industry Quiz.

A federal investigation of the machine tool industry in the middle west, to determine whether existing defense bottlenecks are caused by collusion to regulate production speed and keep prices up, has been started by the antitrust division of the attorney general's office.

This was disclosed yesterday by sources in the United States courthouse. It was indicated that the evidence would be presented to a federal grand jury as soon as that body completes an extensive examination of the meat packing and other food industries. The food inquiry will get into full swing when a new grand jury is impaneled on Monday.

Study Company Records.

Assistant attorneys general and attachés of the United States attorney's office would not talk about the machine tool inquiry, but it is known that investigators have quietly been studying production and price records of companies in Milwaukee and Rockford as well as in Chicago. It was hinted that the investigation has been, or soon will be, extended nationally.

Many persons in Washington explain the small production so far of defense materials and war goods destined for Britain as the result of the slow process of turning out machine tools—"tools with which to make tools." They have contended that the output of assembly lines will be tremendous when the tooling up has been completed.

It is expected that the grand jury may have to stay in session until July to hear the evidence that is being gathered.

Call 100 in Food Inquiry.

Daniel B. Britt, special assistant attorney general in charge of the food investigation, said that more than 100 witnesses had already been subpenaed and that the large packing plants would be among the corporations investigated.

Among the subjects considered will be market practices of packers, order buyers, and commission men in the stockyards in the handling of cattle, hogs, and sheep, according to Britt.

He said that at present processors and distributors receive on the average about 60 per cent of the sale price to the consumer, the rest going to primary growers of foodstuffs [farmers]. This proportion, he said, was between 40 and 50 per cent in the 1913-1920 period.

Industries which produce bread, fish, milk, cheese, canned fruits and vegetables, and fresh vegetables will be among those whose practices will be considered by the grand jurors.

PLANES FOR VENEZUELA.

Airplanes and parts to cost approximately $500,000 will be built for Venezuela under a contract with the Stearman division of Boeing aircraft company. Last year an order for approximately $250,000 worth of Stearmans was filled for the Venezuelan government.

AMERICAN VISCOSE.

If the banking syndicate, which purchased control of the American Viscose corporation from the British government, offers the stock to the public, would the British government be subject under the securities act of 1933 to liabilities as an underwriter? —F. B.

Answer: The Securities and Exchange commission has issued a rule which exempts a foreign government from liability under the securities act of 1933 when it acquires for war purposes securities of American companies to be distributed later to the American public.

In arriving at this rule, the SEC found that under international law a "foreign friendly government is immune from suits brought, without its consent, to enforce claims against either it or its property."

"The securities act of 1933," the SEC said, "contains no express language subjecting foreign governments to civil liability as underwriters.

"In fact, it can be argued that an intent to exclude foreign governments from civil liability under the act affirmatively appears from section 6 [a] of the act, which provides that a registration statement relating to a security issued by a foreign government or a political subdivision thereof need not be signed by the issuing government."

The SEC, therefore, concluded that in the American Viscose case the British government will not be liable as an underwriter if the banking group offers the stock to the public.

NONCUMULATIVE PFD.

What is the status of noncumulative preferred stock as to dividends? —H. K.

Answer: A holder of noncumulative preferred stock generally is entitled to dividends only when they are declared by the board of directors. Thus, he loses his right to a dividend in any year in which the directors decide to omit payment.

This interpretation has been upheld by the Supreme court in an opinion that "in the case of noncumulative stock entitled only to a dividend if declared out of annual profits, if those profits are justifiably applied to capital improvements, and no dividend is declared within that year, the claim for that year is gone and cannot be asserted at a later date."

However, an exception to this general view has been taken in the construction of the New Jersey corporation statute, which has been interpreted as holding that noncumulative preferred dividends, if earned but unpaid, accumulate to the extent earned and must be paid before any common stock dividend.
